Walker for Carter announcement today

by STEVE BROWN

Gov. Daniel Walker will end his neutral role in the Democratic Presidential nomination race today by endorsing ex-Georgia Gov. Jimmy Carter at a pair of California press conferences.

Walker's endorsement plans were closely guarded by Walker aides in Illinois and Carter campaign officials on the West Coast.

In addition to the California appearances, Walker is expected to campaign for Carter in other states holding primary elections next week, including Ohio.

Walker was reared in San Diego. A number of California observers said the governor is highly respected in the state primarily for his maverick political style and his fights with Mayor Richard J. Daley's political organization.

JOHN ROBERTS, Carter's Northern California coordinator, said Walker will hold press conferences in Los Angeles and San Francisco to announce his support for Carter who is facing a tough fight in the June 8 primary there.

The Herald reported Tuesday Walker and several key aides were in California for a number of speaking engagements and newspaper interviews.

Walker aides in Illinois were evasive when questioned about the governor's unannounced trip. Mark Clark, a Walker press aide, said the governor had a speaking engagement and a reunion with old friends.

"We asked them to be vague because we wanted to make the announcement a surprise," Roberts said. He was unsure how much campaigning Walker will do for Carter before the primary there or in other states.

Walker offered no hint of his Carter announcement during several

Ford wins 2 elections; Reagan keeps pace

by United Press International

President Ford scored an upset in Kentucky, won in Oregon, and neared victory in Tennessee Tuesday in his drive for the GOP nomination. But Ronald Reagan kept pace by sweeping Arkansas, Nevada and Idaho in a record-setting six primaries.

Jimmy Carter's campaign for the Democratic nomination suffered a jolt when he was shut out in Nevada, Oregon and Idaho. He won in Arkansas, Tennessee and Kentucky but faced no serious opposition in those three states.

Frank Church, who added home-state Idaho and Oregon to an earlier win in Nebraska, kept alive the unblemished record of his late-starting campaign. Gov. Edmund G. Brown of California trounced Carter in Nevada for his second primary win.

Carter also won more than half the 54 delegates selected in Missouri Tuesday.

At the Herald press time here's how it shaped up:

• Oregon — with 33 per cent counted, Ford won, and had 54 per cent. Reagan 46. Church was in the lead with 41 to Carter's 30, while Brown was running third with 13.

• Nevada — Reagan beat Ford, and was polling 67 to 28 per cent with 44 per cent of the precincts reporting. Brown won the Democratic primary, and was polling 52, Carter 24 and Church 10.

• Idaho — with 59 of the precincts counted, Reagan had beaten Ford and was running ahead 73 to 26 per cent. Church had a 81-12 per cent lead over Carter.

• Tennessee — Ford was leading Reagan 59-49 per cent with 93 per cent of the precincts voting. Carter polled 77 per cent of the vote.

• Arkansas — With 71 per cent of the precincts in, Reagan had won the election, holding a 64-35 per cent lead over Ford. Carter swept the field with 62 per cent.

• Kentucky — Ford and Carter won. With 99 per cent of the precincts counted, Ford led Reagan 51 to 47 per cent. Carter won in

Elizabeth Ray was my mistress: Hays

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. Wayne Hays confessed to a hushed House of Representatives Tuesday that he did have a mistress on the Congressional payroll and tried to cover up the affair to protect "the woman I love" — his bride of a few weeks.

"I have committed the grievous error of not telling all the facts," the 65-year-old Ohio Democrat, his voice catching with emotion, told some 300 stunned and silent colleagues only hours after he had branded his accuser — Elizabeth Ray — a liar.

Hays admitted he had an affair with Miss Ray, but he also said: "I stand by my previous denial of Miss Ray's allegation she was hired to be my mistress."

Before his speech, 28 House members asked the House Ethics Committee to investigate Miss Ray's claims that Hays got her a $14,000 a year Congressional staff job last year where, until April, her only duties were to have dinner and sex with him about once a week.

At the start of the day, Hays also demanded the Ethics panel "clear my name" and said, "her lies must be laid bare." Hours later, Wayne Hays — one of the toughest and most powerful men in Congress — went before the House to explain and apologize.

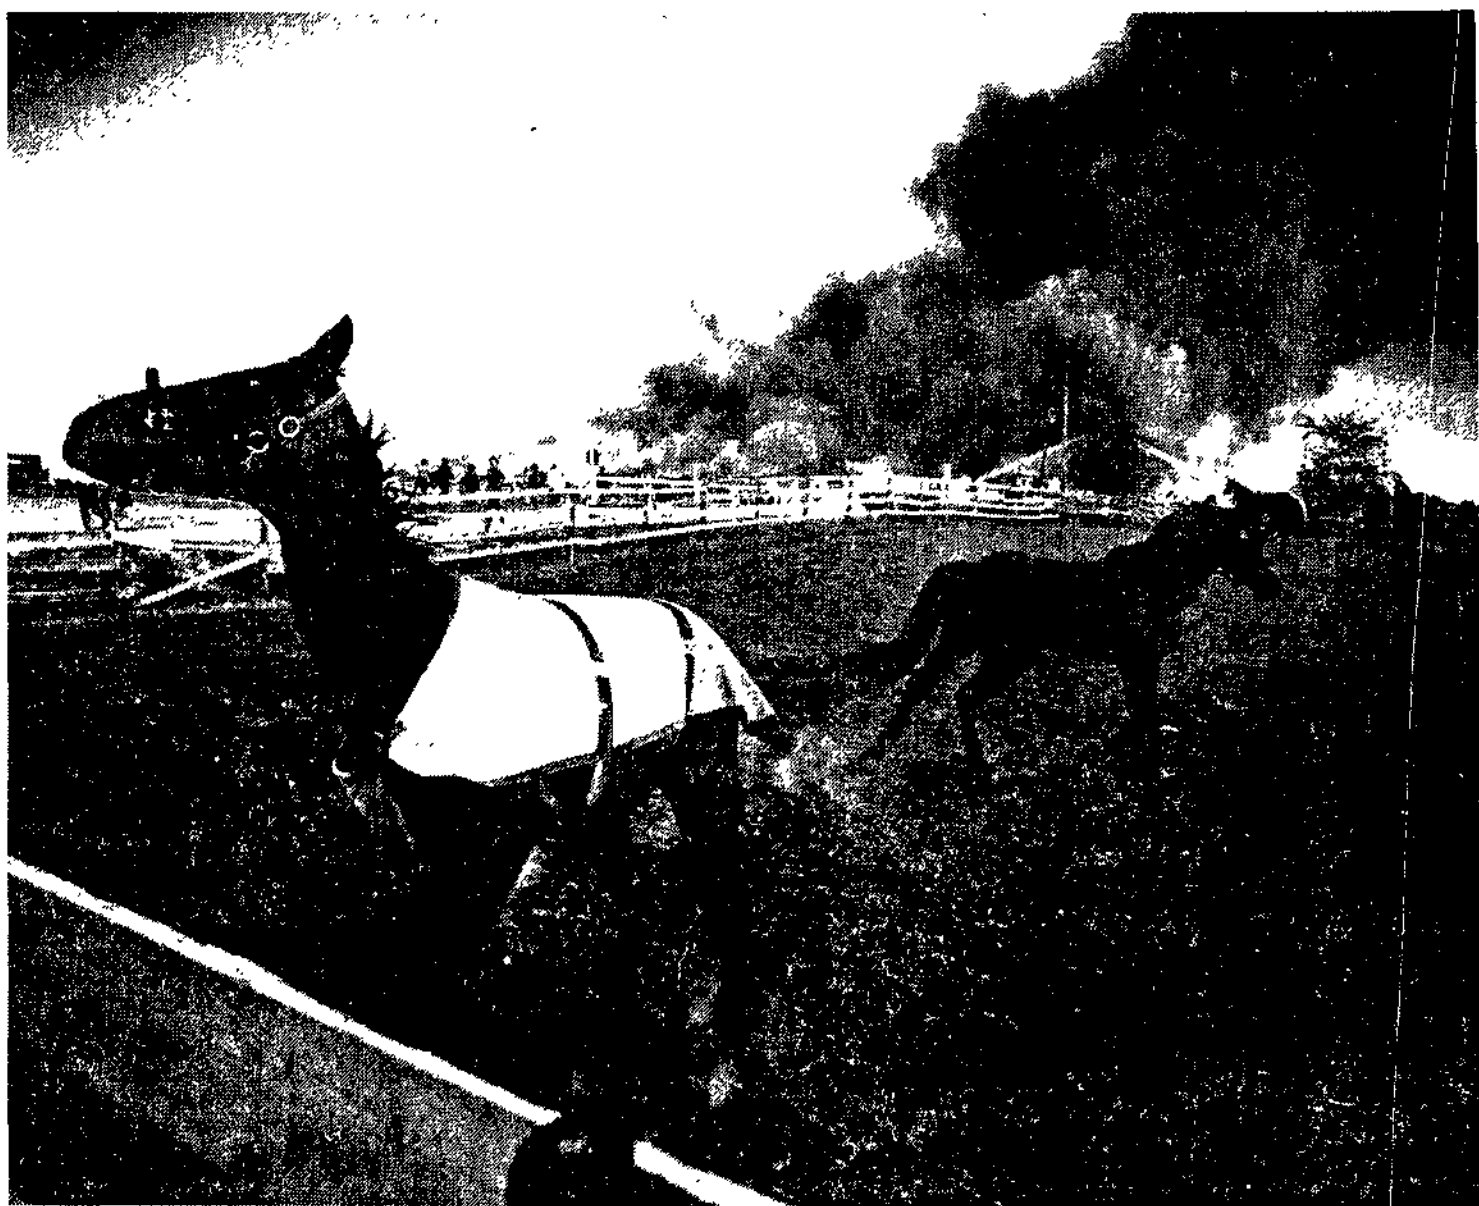

He said he was human. He said, "I have erred."

"Six weeks ago I married the woman I love more than anyone else," he said. "Prior to that time I had a relationship with Elizabeth Ray."

"I was then legally separated and single and it was voluntary on her part and on mine."

But Hays maintained he recommended Miss Ray for the Congressional job in 1975 — after their affair had begun — on the understanding she would perform useful secretarial duties. He said he broke off the affair before his mid-April marriage to Patricia Peak,

Residents tell planners

Maintain streets classification

Arlington Heights village planners Tuesday were asked to not change the functional classifications for Kennicott, Thomas and Oakton streets in the updated thoroughfare plan proposed for the village.

More than 100 Arlington Heights residents attended the special public hearing at Thomas Junior High School.

Most objections were against the suggestions in the plan that the classifications for Kennicott, Thomas and Oakton streets be changed from "collector" to "improved collector" status.

An improved collector street "has greater characteristics of use and may require greater attention" than a collector street, according to the thoroughfare document.

"WE ARE JUST saying control measures have to be taken," Hank Pluster of the village planning department said.

After about one hour of questions and answers concerning the thoroughfare plan, some residents shouted: "Just leave them as they are. Keep your hands off those three streets."

Village Planner Joseph Kesler assured the audience no improvements are planned for the three streets, but most residents were not satisfied.

"If this plan is passed, what rights do residents have to stop future improvements," a resident asked.

"THIS WILL JUST give a future village board a foothold to make improvements. Just delete the word 'improved' and people will feel safer," another man said.

The reason Kennicott, Thomas and Oakton streets are labeled "improved collector" streets in the new plan is because they have special problems. Traffic counts on these streets are higher than the criteria set for "collector" streets, Kesler said.

Daily traffic on Kennicott Avenue is approximately 8,000, he said.

"But the problem is not on Kennicott. It's on the arterials. What should be done to improve problems on Kennicott is to improve arterials on both sides of Kennicott. The main arterials should be four lanes," Kesler said. Arterial streets, such as Arlington Heights Road, have the highest traffic volumes in the village.

THE PROBLEMS CITED by Kennicott residents included speeding vehicles, large trucks and generally heavy traffic.

Improvements are planned for Arlington Heights, Palatine and Rand roads which may help stabilize conditions on Kennicott Avenue, but there will still be traffic problems because there is not an arterial highway immediately west of Kennicott Avenue, Kesler said.

Wilke Road would have served that function, but it was "liquidated" in that area when Rte. 53 was built, he said. North of Thomas Street, Wilke Road becomes a frontage road.

The next public hearing will be at 8 p.m. June 3 at Dunton School for residents concerned with streets south of Northwest Highway.

The entire thoroughfare plan will be reviewed by the village board June 21.

Mock convention a practice in politics

The ticket was the result of balloting Tuesday by about 500 students from the two schools who acted as delegates in a mock Democratic convention.

Udall was chosen on the third ballot with 1,694 votes. To win the Presidential nomination, a candidate had to receive 1,509 of the 3,020 votes.

Muskie was nominated for vice president with 1,326 votes. Former Georgia Gov. Jimmy Carter, now leading the race for delegates in state primaries, was the runner-up in both categories in the mock convention.

THE CONVENTION was held to give students an understanding of how the nominating process works, said Hersey teacher Charles Birch. The students spent several days researching the primary results in the states they represented.

Students were told to vote according to the primary results on the convention's first ballot. When no candidate received the nomination, campaign strategy took over and student delegates began to change their votes.

The delegates caucused before the convention and attempted to make political deals with other state delegations. Speeches were prepared extolling the virtues of candidates.

"The kids are really into politics," said Birch, who designed the convention along with teachers Robert Hannon, Jerry Cushing, Len Bending, Walt Jasinski and Pam Hertel. "I tell them you're going to have fun and along the way you'll learn something about the democratic process."

WATCHING THE students' political maneuvers "we're seeing some things that make some political sense," Birch said. One student tried to combine a liberal candidate with a conservative for a ticket. Another, representing New York, came up with a "Save Our Cities" ticket.

Birch said the Democratic race was chosen for the convention because the "out of office party" seems to have the most exciting race.

Four years ago, students also staged a mock Democratic convention and George McGovern won the nomination. In July, teachers and students will know if they have picked the winner again this year.

Police officers receive special weapons training

The Arlington Heights Police Dept. is forming a special tactical unit to deal with potential large scale civil disorders or hostage situations.

Two members of the department, Patrick Kennedy and James Brown, have qualified to use the special arsenal which includes sniper rifles and M-16 automatic rifles. Two others, Scott Osborne and James Shelsky, are undergoing training at Great Lakes Naval Station.

The program is conducted by the Northwest Police Academy under the direction of Sgt. David Crittenden of the Arlington Heights police. About 20 policemen from the area also are taking part in the instruction.

"WE DON'T want to be the aggressors, but we want to be prepared to meet a situation of force with equal force," Crittenden said.

He said the men being trained will not be a separate unit such as the SWAT (Special Weapons and Tactics) teams of the Los Angeles Police Dept. He said the men will perform their regular duties, but will be available for emergency calls.

"One of our big jobs will be to convince the public that we will not be like the men on television," Crittenden said.

Although the training is heavily weighted in the use of the special weapons, he said the men have received training in negotiation techniques from agents for the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

"IF THE situation calls for negotiation, that is what will be done. If the guy wants to talk about it, that's OK, too," he said.

He said the decision to meet a situation with negotiation or gunfire has

TWENTY-FIVE horses are feared to have perished Tuesday night when a flash fire spread through the Maywood Park training stables east of Elgin. Smoke was reported seen from as far as Palatine and Schaumburg.

25 horses feared dead in stable fire

A flash fire at the Maywood Park Training Stables east of Elgin killed as many as 25 race horses Tuesday night. Firefighters from six communities battled the blaze, which struck the 200-stall stable on U.S. Rte. 20 two miles east of Elgin at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday. The fire reportedly broke out in an empty stall at the south end of the building, and fueled by dry straw hay and feed, spread to the stable's wood structure filling the building with smoke within five minutes. About 140 standard-bred trotting horses were in the stable when the fire broke out. About 100 owners, groomers, trainers and passersby led most of the horses from the building. One of the trotters feared lost was Rock Raider, a 1975 champion racer valued at $75,000. A fireman was reported slightly injured. Smoke was seen as far away as Palatine and Schaumburg.

Gag order in Columbo case

Cook County Circuit Court Judge Richard Fitzgerald imposed a protective order Tuesday forbidding the release to reporters of any information concerning the prior criminal record, character or reputation of murder defendant Patricia Columbo. Miss Columbo, 19, is charged with murder and conspiracy to commit murder in the slayings of her father, mother and 13-year-old brother in their suburban Elk Grove Village home earlier this month. Court appointed attorneys for Miss Columbo requested the order earlier Tuesday, asking Fitzgerald to bar the state's attorney's office, police, lawyers, law enforcement officers or court personnel from releasing any prejudicial information about Miss Columbo to reporters.

In statement today

House Dems to knock Pikarsky

by WANDALYN RICE and STEVE BROWN

Suburban Illinois House Democrats will release today a statement criticizing Regional Transportation Authority Board Chairman Milton Pikarsky, The Herald has learned. Details of the statement have not yet been released.

However, sources told The Herald Tuesday the statement is an effort by suburban Democrats to express their unhappiness with Pikarsky without fully supporting suburban Republican legislators who are calling for his firing.

The move is being spearheaded by State Representatives John Matijevich, D-North Chicago, Eugene Chapman, D-Arlington Heights, and Richard Mugalian, D-Palatine.

A GROUP OF STATE senators, including two Democrats, have signed a letter to be sent to local officials in suburban Cook County and the five surrounding counties which are members of the RTA.

The Senate letter, which Tuesday collected support from GOP House members, calls on local officials to support the four Republican RTA commissioners from the suburbs in their call for Pikarsky's ouster.

The House Democratic letter, however, was drafted by legislators who preferred their own version to the Senate version. At least one House member said the Senate version was too "inflationary" to suit House Democrats.

Those drafting the letter refused to say whether the Democratic version would call for Pikarsky's resignation or would simply say the suburbs need to receive more attention from the RTA.

THE FIGHT OVER Pikarsky's status with the RTA began last month when the four suburban RTA commissioners announced they would not vote to approve the RTA budget until Pikarsky was removed as board chairman.

The four have the power to hold the RTA budget hostage because law establishing the RTA requires at least six votes from the nine member board. Pikarsky and the four RTA members from Chicago can muster only five votes without suburban support.

State Sen. Jack Schaffer, R-Crystal Lake, said Tuesday he had not heard of the House Democratic move. Earlier, Schaffer had said he believes it was important to get Democrats to back Pikarsky's ouster in order to avoid a partisan split on the issue.

50-year-old biplane to land at Meigs

A silver and blue Swallow biplane built 50 years ago will visit Chicago's Meigs Field today as part of the 50th anniversary of the first United Airlines flight.

The April 6, 1926, pioneer flight by Varney Air Lines — a predecessor company of United — launched permanently scheduled air service in this country.

Suitcase boobytrap kills 2

Tel Aviv airport bombed

TEL AVIV, Israel (UPI) — A blond passenger who "looked like a hippie" set off a boobytrapped suitcase during a search at Ben-Gurion airport Tuesday, touching off a thunderous explosion that killed two persons and wounded 10 others.

Authorities said the passenger and a woman security guard were killed by the blast that rocked the arrival hall and sent glass flying across the terminal building. One of the injured was in grave condition.

Hundreds of panic-stricken passengers fled as three other explosions shook the airport in an afternoon of terror.

"What have you done to me? What have you done to me?" screamed a woman whose hair was set on fire by the first explosion. A customs worker pushed her to the ground and smothered the flames with his body.

Authorities said the suspicious passenger, carrying a Dutch passport in the name of Hugo Mueller, was taken to a special security room adjacent to the customs hall. The explosion came when a woman security guard forced him to open his luggage.

The passenger who arrived in Tel Aviv on an Austrian Airlines jet from Vienna was described as being "not very clean with long blond hair."

"He looked like a hippie," an Austrian Airlines official said in Tel Aviv.

Authorities said security forces are investigating the possibility that the man killed was connected with an Arab guerrilla organization.

Israeli newspaper reports said Tuesday authorities had received warnings that international guerrilla Ilich Ramirez Sanchez, nicknamed Carlos, was planning attacks on Israeli targets, but it was not known if he had anything to do with the explosions in Tel Aviv.

A second suitcase accompanying the passenger from Vienna exploded harmlessly as security guards dragged it with a rope from the terminal building.

The dead and injured were taken to nearby Tel Hashomer and Assaf Harofeh hospitals by ambulances and helicopters.

Within minutes after the explosion, security men found the second suspicious suitcase and began dragging it out with a rope. The bomb exploded harmlessly 30 minutes after the initial blast. Two more suspicious suitcases were removed and turned over to explosives experts.

Police reinforcements rushed to the airport to back up Ben Gurion's regular security staff and sealed off the entire airport. Hundreds of incoming passengers and others were forced to remain at the airport until security forces finally decided to let them out.

The blasts came almost four years after three Japanese Maoist guerrillas sprayed incoming passengers at the airport, then known as Lod, with bullets and grenades, killing 26 persons and wounding 79.

Giscard may abandon Lebanon troop offer

Opposition from the Arabs and mounting hostility within France will force President Valéry Giscard d'Estaing to abandon his offer to send peacekeeping troops to Lebanon, Arab diplomatic sources in Paris said Tuesday. Giscard's suggestion has already backfired into the worst political controversy since he was elected in 1974. Diplomatic sources said the damage done to the French cause in the Arab world may be long in passing. Giscard made the offer in New Orleans last Friday night at the end of his state visit to the United States.

Check ordered on Castro-Angola issue

Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger Tuesday ordered an intelligence check on Cuban Premier Fidel Castro's statement he is pulling combat troops out of Angola in what diplomats said could be the first triumph of America's new Africa policy. "If it turns out to be correct, we consider it a positive development," Kissinger told reporters aboard his plane flying to London from Luxembourg for a Central Treaty Organization council meeting. "And we of course insist that all Cuban troops must be withdrawn from Angola and a partial withdrawal would not meet our requirement," he said.

The nation

Rigged military tests standard: ex-Marine

A former Marine recruiting sergeant testified Tuesday it is standard practice to rig intelligence tests and falsify enlistees' physical and police records to get them into the Marine Corps. A Marine private told the House military manpower subcommittee Tuesday a drill sergeant shot him in the hand and a former Marine said he slashed his wrists in a suicide attempt after instructors called him "crazy." The recruiter said more than half the recruits he sent to boot camp were signed up illegally.

Social program 'super cop' opposed

The administration voiced strong opposition Tuesday to legislation proposing a "super cop" to investigate fraud and abuse in over $100 billion worth of social programs. The legislation would create an HEW office of Inspector General headed by a presidential appointee confirmed by the Senate and removable from a 10-year term only by impeachment. Undersecretary Marjorie Lynch of Health, Education and Welfare told a House subcommittee an independent inspector general "could seriously hamper the secretary's ability to manage the department."

Senate debates antitrust measure

The Senate Tuesday began debate on a sweeping antitrust bill in the face of staunch opposition by filibuster-threatening conservatives who called it unconstitutional. The bill, approved 10 to 5 last month by the Judiciary Committee, would impose tough pre-merger notification rules on businesses and give states the power to recover treble pricefixing damages on behalf of their citizens.

Athens police, demonstrators clash

ATHENS, Greece (UPI) — Battle-clad riot police and striking demonstrators fought running battles in Athens Tuesday in the worst rioting since Premier Constantine Karamanlis replaced the military dictatorship with a civilian government.

A 65-year-old woman was run down and killed by a police armored car and more than 99 persons were injured in the rioting which erupted during an attempted march on parliament to protest a parliament bill to forbid wildcat strikes.

A spokesman said demonstrators opened fire on helmeted, clubwielding policemen, but that the gunfire caused no casualties. Police cordoned off the building near the Polytechnic school in the city center from which the shots came.

Earlier, a police armored car struck Anastasia Tseveia, 65, when it ran up on the sidewalk on which she was standing. The woman, apparently a bystander, died on the way to a hospital.

Police said 99 persons were injured, including 60 policemen. Three policemen said they arrested 27 of the demonstrators trying to march on parliament to protest the anti-wildcat strikes measure.

The clashes that began at noon and continued into the evening represented the worst disturbances in Greece since July 1974 on the first anniversary of the restoration of democracy.

It was the first time anyone has been killed in disturbances since the student rebellion at Polytechnic on Nov. 1, 1973, which led to the overthrow of dictator George Papadopoulos and the most widespread since July, 1974 on the first anniversary of the restoration of democracy.

The clashes came on the second day of a 48-hour nationwide strike called by leftist unions to protest the new bill. They erupted when some 2,000 striking construction workers and students tried to stage a protest march on parliament, now debating the bill.

Witnesses said riot police charged into scattered groups of demonstrators and the strikers fought back with sticks and rocks. Police in armored cars barged through makeshift barricades and hurled tear gas canisters into the crowds. The demonstrators lit bonfires to burn off the gas and put fire to drums of newspaper outside a newspaper office.

Other demonstrators stoned buses, pressed into service to replace strike-bound streetcars, and shops, shattering windows.

Hays admits 'mistress on payroll'

a secretary in his Ohio Congressional office.

He said Miss Ray "became hysterical and threatened suicide and threatened blackmail and to destroy my marriage. My first reaction was to protect my marriage and my dear wife . . .

"I have been called more names in the press and elsewhere than any member of this House," Hays said. "I have been called arrogant, ruthless, cold-blooded, vicious, temperamental and mean . . . I am also a human being capable of emotions and errors . . . and I have erred.

"My conscience is now clear," he said. "I hope the Washington Post and Miss Ray can say the same. Only time will tell if Miss Ray has been successful in destroying my career. I pray to God she has not destroyed my marriage."

Some members came up and shook his hand and patted his shoulder. Others sat silent then left the chamber.

The Hays-Ray disclosures rocked Congress like no event since former Rep. Wilbur Mills' liaison with exotic dancer Fanne Foxe came to light in 1974.

But with Mills the alleged misbehavior was private. With Hays, it involved the charge by the 33-year-old blonde Miss Ray that Hays, in effect, kept a mistress on the public payroll. The Justice Department has ordered the FBI to determine whether Hays in fact misused federal funds.

Until Monday, when Hays fired her, Miss Ray was on a subcommittee staff of the House Administration Committee — chaired by Hays.

He said she had worked for his committee in 1974, quit and asked for her job back last summer. The office of Rep. Mondel Davis, D-S.C., an administration subcommittee chairman, hired her on Hays' recommendation that "she was able to perform normal office duties."

Near the end of his speech, Hays said, "I am now 65 and I have been in the House for 27 years.

"My days on earth are numbered and my service in this body may also be."

2 primaries to Ford; Reagan keeps pace

a runaway with 50 per cent of the vote.

Reagan, the conservative 65-year-old former California governor, cut slightly into Ford's lead in pledged delegates in the record six primaries.

The virtual standoff virtually made it certain that Ford and Reagan would meet on almost even terms in the final primaries June 8 when California, Ohio and New Jersey could decide the Republican nominee.

Carter padded his huge lead in the number of pledged delegates but losses in Nevada to Brown and to Church in Idaho — plus his potential defeat in Oregon — were certain to restrain a stampede for the Georgian and once more put into doubt whether he can come into the convention with enough votes to go over the top.

Carter was reaping 132 delegates, giving him 877 of the 1,505 needed for nomination by UPI's count. Reagan was leading Ford 97-79 in delegates chosen Tuesday. In all there were 179 Democratic delegates up for grabs and 176 Republican.

Brown, 38, added Nevada to his initial triumph in Maryland last week. His write-in effort in Oregon appeared to have failed.

Reagan, superstitious about claiming victories, said it was "too early" to comment on the results but added it appeared "we are doing very well" in Arkansas, Nevada and Idaho. The former California governor said he never expected to carry Oregon.

Despite setbacks in the West, Carter said "we still believe that we'll have a first ballot victory."

"I'd say that at the end of the primary season we'd have 1,200 to 1,300 delegates," Carter added. He said the loss in three western states "would subvert to some degree the support I've accumulated all over the nation, but I could take it."

Church said a victory in Oregon would be a "a quantum leap forward for my campaign" and added that voters are "beginning to take a second look" at Carter.

FAA monitors noisy takeoff of Concorde

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The supersonic Concorde airplanes of France and Britain winged their way back to Europe Tuesday to complete the first trans-Atlantic commercial flights at twice the speed of sound.

The sleek Air France jet had 90 passengers aboard for the three-hour, 50-minute trip to Paris — half the normal time. Less than one hour later, it was followed by a sister ship of British Airways.

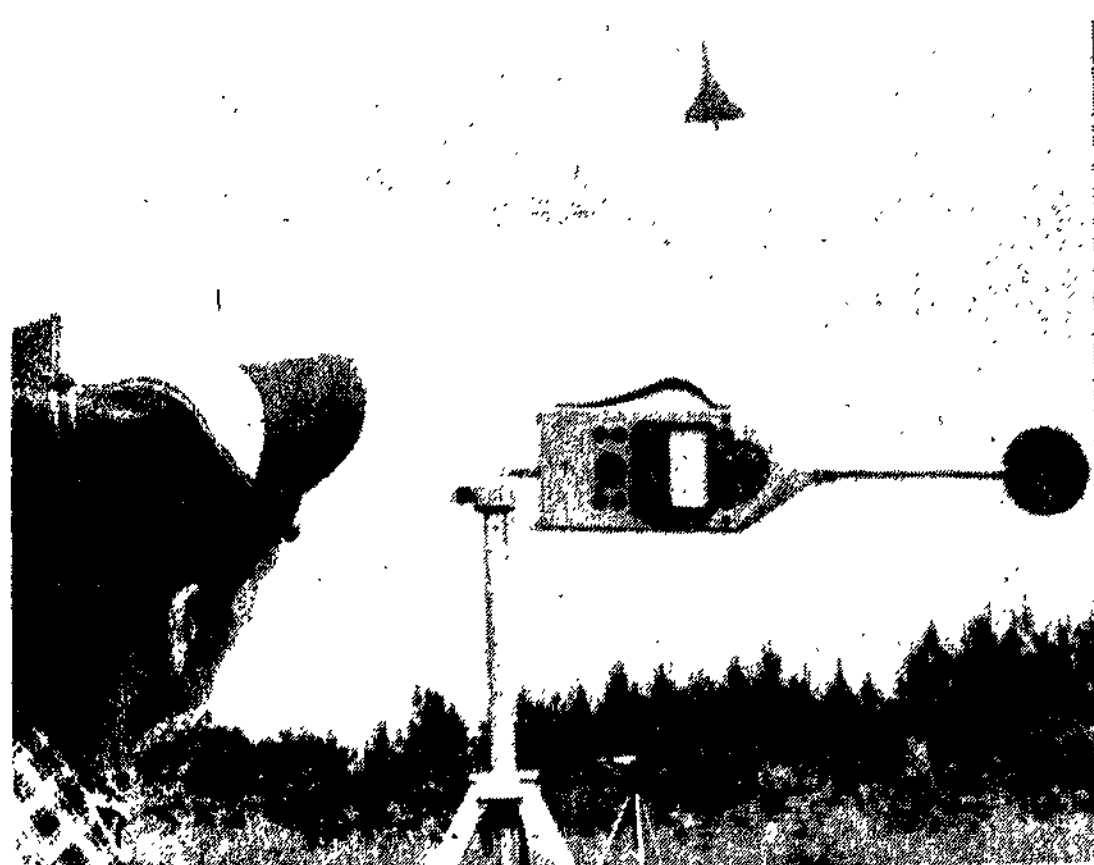

Despite months of protest from environmentalists, no demonstrators were on hand for the takeoffs.

About 1,000 persons watched the historic departures, compared with up to 10,000 who jammed the airport to watch the arrivals, which Federal Aviation Administration officials said measured quieter than a Boeing 707 aircraft.

For the takeoff, however, the FAA said its monitors showed the French SST was noisier than a number of aircraft leaving the same runway.

The Concorde registered 129 perceived noise decibels, as compared to a DCB which registered 109 to 112; a Boeing 707 registered 113 and another 707 registered 111.

No figures were available for the British twin's takeoff. "Due to pilot request for change of runway, mobile monitoring equipment was not in position for takeoff," the FAA said.

A FEDERAL AVIATION Administration technician takes a noise level reading on Concorde supersonic airliner as it took off from Dulles International Airport Tuesday. The FAA reported its meters showed the French Concorde was the noisiest of a number of aircraft leaving the same runway.

Crosby out of hospital after choking incident

• Singer Bing Crosby, 72, was released from Riverside Hospital in Columbus, Ohio Tuesday following emergency treatment to remove a piece of meat lodged in his throat. Crosby, in Columbus to play in a golf tournament, was eating dinner at a private downtown club when he began choking on the piece of meat. He was taken to the hospital where he spent the night.

• Marvin Miller, once called "king of pornography publishers," this week began serving a five-year federal prison sentence. Miller was convicted of pornography counts in 1969 but had remained free on appeal.

• Marsha A. O'Bannon, 35, is the first woman to be appointed an officer of the New York Stock Exchange. A member of the exchange's staff since 1973, she was named Monday an assistant vice president in charge of the Department of Planning Services.

• Carol Neblett, who caused an opera sensation when she performed nude in a New Orleans production of Massenet's "Thais," received rave reviews and a standing ovation from the audience when she made her debut at the Vienna State Opera Monday. The California-born soprano sang the lead in Puccini's "Girl of the Golden West."

• Sherie Darvell, a 23-year-old blonde allegedly held captive by the legendary "Big Foot" for two days in Humboldt County California, had some explaining to do Tuesday to grim authorities who carried out a massive search operation in the remote mountains of Northern California. "She certainly smelled pretty sweet for having been carried off by a smelly old beast," said Sheriff's deputy Frank Wigginton. Miss Darvell's companions, who had been probing the legend of "Big Foot," reported her carried off by the monster on Saturday.

Kathy McCullough—a short but full life

Kathryn Joy McCullough's eyes were deep and brown, and held the warmth of a beautiful little girl who loved her brother's dog.

In one sense, she hardly was different from so many little girls who seldom come to dinner with clean hands and are slow to find their beds each night.

Kathy would rather have worn pants than skirts. She played with dolls but baseball was better. She had fun doing headstands and her father says Kathy swung a sledge hammer like a pro.

Sometimes, Kathy would hold still long enough to let her hair get combed.

"If you caught her, you could get the brush through a few strokes before she broke loose and ran," said her mother, Barbara.

THAT ALSO WAS Kathy, always running, seldom walking, always in a hurry to live the next moment in her life.

Three months ago, Bob and Barbara McCullough and their five children moved from a home on Lincoln Avenue in Des Plaines to one across town on Laurel Avenue. They needed more space.

Six bedrooms are sprawled throughout the splendid old home. For the first time, 7-year-old twins Kathryn Joy and Karen Sue had their own bedrooms.

That is when Kathy became very close to Lassie, her brother Rich's dog. They loved to play together.

"The effective way of getting Kathy into bed was to say, 'If you want that dog in bed, you'd better get there in five seconds,'" said her father, Bob.

Kathy would hurry off with Lassie, who after a while would romp away.

THAT ALWAYS UPSET Kathy and she complained. So her father would bring the collie back. "Finally," said Bob, "Lassie would get the idea that she was supposed to stay there until Kathy had gone asleep."

Lassie sensed that something might be wrong last Thursday evening. When the family was finally together inside their home, the dog searched and seemed confused.

The girl and the dog were best friends. How do you tell a dog that its best friend is not coming home again?

Kathryn Joy McCullough was struck by a train at 8:50 p.m. last Thursday and died one hour later in Holy Family Hospital.

It happened quickly.

Rich, Kathy and Karen had been playing hide-and-go-seek while their father shopped for a picnic table at a lumber supply company in downtown

Today

Mike Klein's people

Des Plaines.

All the youngsters heard the train. Kathy ran to see it. But she became confused and ran too close.

It was nobody's fault.

BOB McCULLOUGH sat in his kitchen Monday afternoon, one day after the memorial service for Kathryn Joy at Park Ridge Community Church, where he and Barbara were married.

The McCullough home was ripe with the sounds of youngsters. Robert, Rich, Janet and Karen were home from school. One-by-one, they raided the refrigerator.

"I think the minister (Rev. Jack Irwin) said what we wanted," said Bob. "It was an accident. There's nobody to blame."

"Then you have to say we cherish her memory and remember her as she was," said Bob. "And you have to build your life from this point."

He stopped one moment, then underscored one point. "It was an accident. Not even Kathy was guilty. She was just being Kathy."

TO BE KATHY meant that you lived every moment to its greatest potential. She was a curious little girl, full of excitement, running and playing and running some more.

Kathy had a temper, too. As her father said, "She wouldn't take anything from anybody." Kathy was quick with her little fists.

She was always into something. Four years ago, the family vacationed at Yogi Bear Campgrounds in Door County, Wis. Kathy and Karen, would have nothing to do with the wading pool.

"The shallow pool was no place for them," said Barbara. "We were astounded to see them jump off the edge, down the slides (at the big pool). They were just like little porpoises."

When fall came, the McCulloughs bought a Northwest Suburban YMCA membership. "By the time they (the sisters) got to kindergarten, they were diving off boards and picking rings off the pool bottom," said Barbara.

KATHY LOVED any challenge. Bathtubs were for more than simply taking a bath.

"I remember that once I saw her face down in the tub," said her father. "She'd come up, take her breath of air and go right back down. She was trying to see how long she could stay down."

"I said, 'Hey, this is nonsense,'" said Bob. "She listened to me, then went right back down again."

Standing on her head was no different. Kathy worked long hours to perfect headstands. "She could stand on her head like a lamod," said Barbara. "But when she mastered it, she quit."

KATHY AND KAREN began to grow apart the past couple years. They made their own friends, had their own ideas. It was their decision to choose different hairstyles.

Both were outgoing, but in separate styles. "If somebody approached them and said, 'What are your names?' Karen would be the spokesman," said Bob. "If somebody said, 'Get up those bars,' Kathy would be at the top."

Kathy had been anticipating today. Her second grade class from West School will ride the train to Barrington. It would have been Kathy's first train ride.

They are not looking backward in the McCullough home. "From here, we make the best of what we have," said Barbara, "which is still a lot"—four youngsters and a collie named Lassie.

Special ed funding bill stymied

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (UPI) — A preliminary attempt to pass a $39 million bill for special education grants to elementary and secondary schools failed Tuesday in the Senate.

Sen. John Knuppel, D-Virginia, sponsor of the bill, collected only 23 of the 30 votes necessary to pass the measure but delayed the final vote on the measure by asking it be held on postponed consideration.

Republicans and Democrats aligned with Gov. Daniel Walker voted present and one Republican, Sen. David Shapiro, R-Ambury, voted no on the measure.

Despite the vote 23-1 with 27 voting present, the bill is still technically alive.

KNUPPEL SAID he plans to call the bill later in the session, possibly near the end of the fiscal year, when the state's financial picture is clearer.

"This apparently is going to be one of those bills that will have to go into the freezer until the end of the session," Knuppel said.

There was no floor debate on the legislation, which was discussed in Republican and Democratic caucuses held before the bill was called.

The money in the measure is similar to the amount reduced by Walker last year from the budget for state schools because of a financial crunch on the state. Attempts to put the money back into the budget failed in the Senate last fall following a successful override in the House.

UNDER THE measure, the money would be used for special education programs in state schools, transportation of handicapped and non-handicapped school children and for special education private school tution. About $15 million of the $38.9 million total would go to Chicago schools.

In other action, the Senate passed and sent to the House an $18 million measure to pay for an unanticipated increase in the number and amount of state income refunds to taxpayers.

The Dept. of Revenue said it miscalculated the number of refunds and the average amount of each refund. About $15 million of the money, which comes from the state's General Revenue Fund, would go to pay for increased individual and corporate income tax refunds.

Walker has predicted the state would have an available cash balance of $133 million at the end of this fiscal year on June 30. If no remedies are made to bolster that figure, it will dip to about $115 million if the revenue department's supplemental appropriation is approved.

Anti-abortionists plan hospital money boycott

Anti-abortion groups plan to go ahead with an economic boycott of Northwest Community Hospital, Arlington Heights, the vice president of the Illinois Federation for Right to Life said Tuesday.

Marcie Sneed, Arlington Heights, said refusal to use Northwest Community is one way for persons who oppose abortion to protest the hospital board's Monday-night decision upholding a recent policy that permits abortion during the first three months of pregnancy.

"I don't believe the board's decision was made on moral grounds, although some board members certainly were morally concerned. The majority of the board is interested in the financial condition of the hospital," Mrs. Sneed said.

The hospital board was divided evenly Monday night on a motion to rescind the controversial abortion policy. The 9-9 vote was insufficient to change the policy passed April 27. Previously, Northwest Community has permitted abortions only in cases where the pregnancy endangered the life of the mother.

Mrs. Sneed said she believes the abortion protest already has had an effect on the number of people who use the hospital. Some doctors have lost patients because they have not opposed the new abortion policy, she said.

August road work start seen by village officials

Arlington Heights officials are hoping the $6.5 million road improvement program involving north Arlington Heights Road and the triangle formed by Palatine, Arlington Heights and Rand roads will get under way in August.

The bid letting for the project, which originally was planned for June will be in July, Village Engineer Allen Sander said Monday. The delay was caused by the Federal Highway Administration not approving the project's design report until this month, he said.

Final plans for the two-year construction project are being completed. They call for the widening of north Arlington Heights Road to four lanes from Palatine Road to University Drive, as well as the widening of Palatine and Rand roads to six lanes in the vicinity of the triangle formed by the three roads.

THE INTERSECTIONS of the triangle also will feature full turn lanes and stoplights fully coordinated by a master computer, Sander said.

Other improvements include a full storm drainage system along north Arlington Heights Road, a sodium light system on the three roads, and the installation of sidewalks to fill gaps near Rand Junior High School.

Sander also said new stoplights are proposed for four intersections: on Arlington Heights Rd. at the entrance to Rand Junior High School and at the entrance to Northpoint Shopping Center; on Rand Road at the entrance to the Korvette's Shopping Center and at the entrance to the Northpoint Shopping Center.

TRAFFIC VOLUMES and accident rates at the shopping center intersections meet requirements set by the state for the installation of stoplights, but the lights will not definitely be included in the project until funding arrangements are negotiated, Sander said.

The federal government will pay 70 per cent of the total cost of the road improvements and the state and county each will pay 15 per cent.

Daily traffic projections for 1996 at the triangle's intersections are 27,500 cars on Arlington Heights Road, 30,100 cars on Palatine Road and 29,000 cars on Rand Road, according to the design report.

New industrial unit in first meeting

The newly-formed Arlington Heights Industrial and Commercial Development Commission will conduct its first meeting today at 8 p.m. at the municipal building, 33 S. Arlington Heights Rd.

The commission, created by the village board last winter, is headed by Raymond H. Warns.

"The purpose of the commission as envisioned by the board of trustees is to actively encourage appropriate and well-planned industrial and commercial growth in the village," Warns said.

"Obviously, it will be the desire of the commission to obtain that type of commerce and industry which will broaden the village tax base and enhance the employment opportunities of the residents of the village without destruction of the basic characteristics of the community," he said.

Warns said the eight-member commission will probably be enlarged soon.

Walnut St. rail crossing slated to open in 30 days

Two railroad crossings will be repaired this week and the new Walnut Street crossing will open within 30 days, say Chicago and North Western Ry. officials.

Craig Doinski, a roadmaster for C & NW, said the asphalt work on the crossing that will connect Ridge and Walnut avenues will be completed this week when repairs are made to the other two crossings at Arlington Heights Road and Dunton Avenue downtown.

Doinski said he was unsure how soon the signal lights at the new crossing would be operating, but Village Engineer Allen Sander said an attorney for the railway has promised the crossing will be open within 30 days.

The village completed its share of the work — approaches and stoplights — at the crossing in January, but the railway said it was unable to complete the project because of a lack of hot-mix asphalt, which is not produced by asphalt plants during the winter months.

Trucks at the intersection also must be raised.

THE WALNUT STREET crossing has been planned since 1967 but its construction was continually delayed by legal disputes.

The crossing was approved by the Illinois Commerce Commission in 1970, despite objections from the railway company.

A three-year special assessment battle followed and there was a disagreement over right-of-way compensation. The railroad insisted the village pay $17,000 for right-of-way across the tracks, but the village refused, contending it was not a regular part of grade-crossing agreements.

The commerce commission's order that the village pay the $17,000 has been appealed by the village, but the case has not been assigned a court date.

The village had been considering legal action against the railway because of its refusal to repair the crossing at Arlington Heights Road until this week's agreement was reached, Village Prosecutor Ernest Blomquist said.

Sander said he will have railway officials check the condition of all crossings in the village when they make the repairs this week.

Wolf president of Rotary Club

Fred Wolf, vice president and cashier of Northwest Trust and Savings Bank, has been elected president of Rotary Club of Arlington Heights for 1976-77, effective July 1.

Other officers named include Ron Spears, president-elect, Herman Olsen, second vice president, Art Perry, secretary, and Robert Bitter, treasurer.

Directors will include Dick LaVeau, Roy Lyngass, Mike Silverman and Frank Dempsey.

Police receiving special training

to be made as circumstances dictate.

"You have to make the judgment individually on the circumstances. You can't have hard and fast rules for all possibilities," he said.

Although there has been only one situation within the past five years that would have necessitated the mobilization of the specially trained men, Crittenden said, "You just can't close your eyes and think that it can't happen here."

THE ONE incident was the kidnapping of a receptionist from a doctor's office by two gunmen. One gunman used the receptionist as a shield to disarm one policeman and break through police lines.

The gunman was captured without any shots being fired a few blocks from the doctor's office.

Crittenden said likely situations could involve robbers trapped inside a bank or an emotionally disturbed person barricaded with weapons in a home or atop a building.

While there is a strong but informalized mutual-aid pact of policemen in neighboring towns, Crittenden said he is opposed to a regional special unit being formed similar to MEG, a regional undercover drug unit.

"ARLINGTON HEIGHTS has certain problems and situations that are unique to Arlington Heights. These are local problems, and we should handle them locally," he said.

Crittenden said he would like to see as many members of the department as possible receive the special training in keeping with his philosophy of not wanting the members to become an elite or separate group within the department.

Adventures of your Garbageman

No Garbage Service Next Monday

Memorial Day, celebrated next Monday, is a holiday for our drivers, one of 6 during the year on which, per our contract, no garbage service is provided and no credit given.

Therefore, the next refuse pick-up for Monday-Thursday customers after Thursday, May 27 will be on Thursday, June 3.

As most residents know, we equalize the 6 yearly holiday-service omissions among our 3 routes, so that no route receives more than 2 during the normal year. For example, under our equalization system, even though 4 of the 1976 holidays fall on Monday or Thursday, the next holiday-service omission for Mon.-Thurs. routes will not occur until New Year's 1977.

We appreciate your cooperation.

The way we see it

Real 'bargaining' needed

It's time for the Harper College Board of Trustees to recognize that there is an organized faculty at the school and to enter into serious contract negotiations with faculty representatives.

The Harper board and faculty are again in the midst of a court battle over salary negotiations. It has become an annual and frustrating event at the college. Each year the stalemate has pushed the two sides farther and farther apart.

The latest battle went to the Illinois Appellate Court Monday where the three-judge panel upheld a lower court decision forcing the board back to the bargaining table — an order the board has heard from other judges in similar disputes.

This year's contract troubles began when the board refused to negotiate salary ranges. Instead, the board set an arbitrary date for negotiations to end and, once that deadline passed, doled out raises without negotiating them.

Faculty representatives have said their argument is not so much with the money settlement but rather that the board doesn't really negotiate.

The result of these constant squabbles is that the faculty voted to affiliate with the American Federation of Teachers, a branch of the AFL-CIO. Prior votes by faculty members to join a formal union failed, but this year a faculty majority voted yes.

When the Harper board recognized the faculty association as the bargaining agent of the teachers, the board, in effect, made a commitment to negotiate with faculty representatives.

Bargaining means both sides making proposals and eventually reaching a compromise. Bargaining means setting up procedures that are fair to both sides and working within that framework. Bargaining means talking, give and take, cooperation.

The obstinance of the Harper board, as well as its unwillingness to face the facts of life when it comes to giving the faculty a voice, has built a wall between the two sides. We urge the board to take steps to break down that barrier.

Negotiate? I negotiate !!

Dear Chairman Melas...

Nicholas Melas
Chairman,
Board of Trustees
Metropolitan Sanitary District

Dear Chairman Melas,

We couldn't help but smile last week after reading your statement in regard to the planned $114.8 million sewage treatment plant the MSD hopes to build at Oakton Street and Elmhurst Road in Des Plaines.

When you predicted the residents of Des Plaines will be "in the forefront" applauding the "great dedication" of the plant in a few years and that they will be "happy to have it in their community," we had a good chuckle.

It sure would be nice if it worked out that way, Mr. Melas, but if you look back over the years the city and its residents have battled with the MSD over the site of the plant, your comments come out sounding highly improbable.

You said you were convinced that Des Plaines residents will eventually be pleased with their plant based on the MSD's experience with the Egan Water Reclamation Plant in Schaumburg. You added that the Egan plant and the planned Des Plaines plant are designed so "some people thought the Egan plant was a college or a library or a shopping mall being built."

Well, it is difficult to compare the two plants. Try using the "chicken or the egg" formula to understand. In Schaumburg the plant came first — before developers plotted out homes anywhere near the facility. In Des Plaines, the homes have been lived in for years prior to plans for that plant.

The City of Des Plaines has filed lawsuit after lawsuit trying to dissuade the MSD from using a site so close to a residential neighborhood. The efforts have been strongly backed by the aldermen from that area and, most of all, the people who live there.

When you come right down to it, Mr. Melas, the people in Des Plaines will probably never applaud your plant — even if you make it look like a college, a library, a shopping mall or the Taj Mahal.

In fact, when — and if — you dedicate that plant, instead of being in the forefront applauding, they will probably be sitting on their roofs, giving you the raspberries.

Sincerely yours,
The editors

Is old coalition dead?

by DAVID E. ANDERSON

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sometime back in the early 1970s, the Humpty Dumpty that was the liberal coalition of labor, blacks, Jews and progressive Catholics and Protestants took a bad fall from the wall it had been perched on since the 1930s.

Nowhere is that more apparent than in the current presidential race where even those Democrats generally called liberal — the fresh face but anti-Washington campaigns of Jerry Brown and Jimmy Carter — are considered by old line liberals as "neo-conservative."

For the old liberal coalition, the key to social policy was an active, interventionist one, with massive government programs to bring about social change and the non-interventionist stance of Brown and Carter border on heresy.

BERT GOLD, executive vice president of the American Jewish Committee — one of the keystones of the old liberal alliance — recently put it bluntly:

"While we must be aware of the limitation of social policy; while we must learn from the mistakes that have been made; while we may very well need to be more cautious about the nature of our social engineering; I believe that without governmental intervention on the national level we cannot resolve most of our societal problems."

Gold is cautiously optimistic that the alliance can be put back together again.

"In the last several years," he said in an interview, "we have a better understanding of coalition, we've learned a little more about the principles of coalition building."

The alliance that was put together in the 1930s and which shaped the New Deal, the Fair Deal and the Great Society, was essentially an unexamined coalition, he said, that was taken for granted.

"TODAY, we're more conscious. We know it must be a conscious movement into a series of ad hoc coalitions related to specific issues."

Bayard Rustin, one of the black architects of the old coalition and president of the A. Philip Randolph Institute, is equally vehement on the need for renewal of the alliance.

In the Radner lectures at Columbia University (to be published in June by Columbia University Press), Rustin scored both the New Politics advocates and black separatists for undermining the liberal alliance "precisely when the need for a new and sophisticated approach to coalition politics was greatest."

"A successful liberal political alliance is enormously difficult to build and, once pieced together, even more difficult to maintain, given the inevitable tensions, rivalries and antagonisms of the various partners," he said.

"But if the forging of a political alliance is a formidable proposition, it is still a necessary one," he said. "Blacks in particular cannot afford go-it-alone strategies." For Rustin, a social movement, if it is going to have a permanent imprint on society, "must have an economic base" and the agenda for blacks today is integration into the nation's economic system.

"Our foremost challenge is to keep the issue of economic change before the American people," he added.

THE IMMEDIATE test — what Gold would call a "bridge issue" — for a renewed coalition battling the swing away from governmental intervention is the so-called Humphrey-Hawkins full employment bill now being debated in Congress.

If the old liberals can pull off passage of that bill they may prove the coalition still has some life left, despite its fall from the presidential wall.

Worthy of note

On behalf of the Faculty Senate and the faculty of William Rainey Harper College, I wish to thank the Palatine League of Women Voters. This group so ably conducted the recent campus elections that resulted in the affiliation of our faculty with the American Federation of Teachers (AFT), Local 1800, AFL-CIO.

The League's cooperation illustrates again the interrelationship of the faculty and the college community. With the thanks to the League of Women Voters goes our pledge to the community to provide even better educational opportunities through the professional improvements that our affiliation with the AFT will offer.

William E. Miller
President
Harper College
Faculty Senate

We wish to publicly express our deep appreciation to the many merchants, volunteers and Shelter supporters who joined in the agency's highly successful fund raising effort at the Mount Prospect charity fair, Saturday, May 15. Our foster children will benefit greatly from the money earned.

To those who contributed and allowed Shelter's Princess Candidate, Margarita Rubio, the honor of reigning at the fair, thank you.

Teachers defended

As president of the Dist. 214 Education Association, I would like to respond to part of a letter to the editor published in The Herald. Mr. William Murphy's letter dated May 14, 1976 generally attempted to establish the competence and process of the Unit District Study Committee in the Dist.

59 area. One argument presented by Mr. Murphy contends that representatives of Dist. 214 were asked for and failed to provide information to the committee.

I would like to publicly defend Jake Turban and Bernard Kelly, both teachers in Dist. 214 and residents of the Dist. 59 area. Both are classroom teachers who were asked by our association to be part of the official committee. We only expected them to voice teacher concerns and to keep our association membership informed about the committee's progress. In addition, they were free to react as independent interested residents. These teachers were representative of classroom teachers. They did not have, nor were they expected to have, in-depth knowledge pertaining to financial or other specialized data of the district. At a study committee meeting they were asked questions that could only be answered by experts. Yet, Mr. Murphy accuses them, and by implication the district, of not cooperating. Ironically, the men who could answer questions, two associate superintendents, were in the audience when the questions were asked. The men who had the answers were not given an opportunity to speak.

There were Dist. 59 administrators and board members on the committee; there were no Dist. 214 administrators or board members. Dist. 214 administrators were never asked to testify before the committee. Mr. Turban and Mr. Kelly represented the teachers well. They did not, nor should they have been expected to speak for the Dist. 214 Board or administration.

Randall Knudsen,
President
214 Education Association

Suspicion in order

Do you realize about one year ago our village administration, police and fire departments were operating out of one building?

Now the village hall is in the old Mount Prospect State Bank building at a cost of $840,000.00 to the taxpayers, and rumor has it our police department will be moving into the old post office.

It seems incredible that this may happen — all this space now needed to run village affairs. Also, believe it or not, the new village hall has no facilities for conducting good size public meetings. The new library is being considered for these meetings!

Do you wonder why, when it was obvious a new post office would be built, plans were not formulated for the village administration, police and fire departments to move into the old post office, in addition to the facilities they had, rather than spending almost a million dollars for the old bank building?

That is about the same as moving my family of seven into three different houses — great for freedom of movement, but not too economical!

Do you wonder why funds to purchase the old bank building for the new village hall were included with the new library bonds? Why wasn't the old bank building put up for sale on the open market? Perhaps it was, but our old village board of trustees bought it, in what seemed to be an awful hurry, again without referendum. If we didn't purchase the old bank building, who would have? Maybe another bank would have desired this building thus creating unwanted competition for the Mount Prospect State Bank.

It is natural to become suspicious when the citizens aren't being consulted on major purchases such as these. Perhaps there is more to referendums than just determining what the people want — referendums do give citizens greater confidence in local government.

Inebriation not a crime under intoxication law

by KURT BAER

The police drunk tank will become a thing of the past July 1 when Illinois' new public intoxication law goes into effect.

Passed in 1974 but twice delayed in its implementation, the law requires police take inebriates home or to a detoxification facility instead of to jail.

The detox center may be the local hospital, or specially licensed non-medical centers, depending on the outcome of a bill being considered in the Illinois Senate.

AS WRITTEN, THE law assigns hospitals primary responsibility for treating public intoxication cases. A proposed amendment, however, would substitute state-licensed nonmedical centers. In either case, the law takes effect July 1 unless postponed again by Gov. Daniel Walker or the legislature.

"We're going to have to change the way we in society look at and deal with the alcoholic," says State Rep. Eugene A. Chapman, D-Arlington Heights, a strong supporter of the new law which effectively decriminalizes public intoxication.

"It is important to remember that being drunk doesn't excuse any other crime. If a person is drunk and causes an accident, or gets in a fight, these things remain crimes under law," she said.

Even if state-licensed detox centers are approved, hospitals will bear the brunt of the new law until the non-medical facilities are set up and funded. A spokesman for the Chicago Hospital Council however said the law should not pose a problem for suburban community hospitals.

"THE BRUNT WILL vary with the hospital location but I think all hospitals will be able to handle it. There has to be some attitudinal changes to make it work. The feeling that public inebriation is a disgrace has to be pushed aside to realize that there are sick individuals in need of medical attention," the spokesman said.

A spot check of Northwest suburban hospitals revealed administrators are upset with the new law and the hospitals' uncertain role in it.

"Some of us in the health field think it is virtually impossible to implement by July 1," said Dean Grant, purchasing agent for Alexian Brothers Medical Center, Elk Grove Village.

The hospital tentatively plans to use a portion of its emergency room as a holding area for inebriates. Grant says he has checked with eight local police departments and has determined the hospital can expect 13 to 15 public intoxication cases per month.

ONCE BROUGHT TO the hospital, the intoxicated person would be examined by the emergency room physician to determine if he or she can be sent home, should be detained at the hospital, or admitted to the hospital for medical treatment.

"There is some concern over the extent to which an active intoxicated person could disrupt other critical emergency room treatments," Grant said.

In most cases, the initial decision on whether an inebriate should be taken home, to a hospital or some other detox center will be made by local patrolmen.

"The decision will be made by the same person who is making it now — the local cop," Mrs. Chapman says. Only the option will change from locking the person up to taking him to a detoxification center.

BURTON CHOTINER, vice president of Northwest Community Hospital, Arlington Heights, said administrators "are hanging as loose as we can pending what happens in Springfield."

"If the law goes into effect July 1, we will make arrangements to comply with it," he said.

There is a bill in the Illinois Senate to delay implementation of the law for a third time. But Mrs. Chapman said she and other supporters are ready to fight another postponement. "We have postponed this two times before and I think it is because we are reluctant to change the old way of doing things," she said.

Cronin busing proposal draws Crane criticism

U.S. Rep. Philip M. Crane, R-12th, has announced opposition to the proposal for voluntary busing between Chicago and the suburbs made by State School Supt. Joseph Cronin.

Crane said he supports neighborhood schools and believes "the ill-fated busing idea has proven itself to be a bankrupt concept."

A Crane aide said the statement on Cronin's proposal was issued in response to more than 100 questions about his position on the issue. Crane has received from Northwest suburban residents in the past two weeks.

Cronin last week had a day-long workshop to discuss the topic with city and suburban educators.

Crane has opposed busing in the past and chose to repeat his views because of the questions resulting from Cronin's proposal, Crane's aide said. The number of questions, the aide said, "is a very large response for a local issue."

Brod named as NIU journalism chairman

Donald F. Brod has been named chairman of the journalism department at Northern Illinois University, effective July 1. Brod succeeds Donald R. Grubb, who was chairman for nearly 17 years.

Grubb will return to full-time teaching, research and writing at NIU after one of the longest tenures as department chairman on campus and the first for any journalism chairman in the United States.

Grubb came to NIU in September 1959 to organize the department. Starting with no staff, he developed the department into a fully accredited unit that serves 1,500 students, including 800 journalism majors, with a full-time faculty of 14.

Named Outstanding Educator of America in 1973, Grubb has won many honors. But, he calls his experience at NIU "the highlight of my professional life, very rewarding, but a lot of work."

Brod went to NIU in 1959 from the University of Wisconsin-River Falls, where he was a journalism faculty member for nine years, including two years as department head. He holds a Ph.D. in mass communications from the University of Minnesota and an M.A. degree in journalism from the University of Missouri.

A former news editor of the Cortez (Colo.) Journal in 1958-60, Brod has worked as a reporter on newspapers in Missouri and Wisconsin. He is a professional life, very rewarding, but a Missouri native.

Herald consumer reporter wins 4 awards for work

Herald consumer affairs reporter Monica Perin received four awards in the annual competition of the Illinois Women's Press Assn.

The citations included a first-place award for her column, "The consumer," forerunner of her current weekly column, "Keeping up."

Perin received three second-place awards in three news and feature writing categories. Included among the stories recognized by the group were an investigation of the consumer fraud office of the Illinois attorney general and a feature on visual training.

The awards were presented at the association's annual awards banquet at the Prudential Building last Friday. The first-place award will be forwarded for competition in the National Federation of Press Women competition.

Mikva boosts small firms in lawmaking process

Small business owners can effectively participate in the legislative process, said U. S. Rep. Abner Mikva, D-Ill.

In a speech before the national conference of the Wine and Spirit Wholesalers of America, Inc., in Hollywood, Fla., Mikva said tax codes and other legislative proposals often favor big business.

"Part of the reality that small businessmen face, particularly concerning the legislative process at the national level, is to get the attention of legislators, to break the myth that big-ness is somehow more important and therefore more deserving of a place high on the legislative agenda," Mikva said. He cited the Franchising Practices Reform Act as an example of small business legislative efforts, which he is sponsoring.

Mikva's franchise reform bill, which is before the House Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce, would set ground rules for cancellation or refusal to renew a franchise agreement. The Wine and Spirit Wholesalers has given its support to the measure.

Seven indicted in $6.7 million VA fraud plot

A federal grand jury Tuesday indicted the president of a barber college and six military veterans in connection with the alleged scheme to defraud the Veterans Administration of $6.7 million in educational benefits.

U.S. Atty. Samuel J. Skinner said 2,500 veterans are still under investigation by his office's newly-created governmental fraud unit in connection with the case.

Skinner indicated that during the last two years, hundreds of veterans may have received monthly VA benefits ranging from $250 to $300 without attending classes at several Chicago area barber and beautician schools at which they enrolled.

He said the schools apparently accepted tuition payments from the VA for the extra students without providing classes, or violated state regulations and offered more courses than they were authorized.

In announcing the indictments at a news conference Skinner said, "I believe this is not a problem which has just local implications. It is a situation which could exist in other areas of the country."

"The grand jury is attempting to determine how this situation was allowed to reach the proportions it reached without being uncovered."

The main, 34-count indictment was directed at Tyler Barber College Inc. and its president, Percy Copeland, 45. It charged that the barber school was licensed by the State of Illinois to enroll a total of 40 students, of which 34 were permitted under federal regulations to receive educational benefit payments from the VA.

Carpenter tells payoffs

Former state Sen. Donald D. Carpenter, R-East Moline, testified Tuesday that state Sen. Clifford Latherow, R-Carthage, was the only Republican senator who voted for a cement truck bill without receiving a payoff of at least $100.

Under cross-examination before U.S. District Court Judge George N. Leighton and a jury, Carpenter also said he received a payoff for his support of a 1971 bill increasing weight limits for garbage trucks.

Metro briefs

Carpenter did not say how much he received, but he said, "I did not put it (the payoff) on my income tax."

Carpenter testified in the trial of eight men accused of accepting bribes in return for passage of a bill in 1972 increasing the amount of weight ready mix concrete trucks could carry.

Monday Carpenter implicated eight other present and former Republican senators in connection with the alleged bribes. He said he mailed $100 to each of eight senators and $500 to former Sen. Jack E. Walker, R-Lansing, who is among the defendants in the trial.

A 'new' Richard J. Daley

A new Richard J. Daley has come to Chicago.

But the longtime mayor and Democratic party boss who also bears that name had no reason to feel anything but pride when he made the announcement Tuesday. It was all in the family.

Richard J. Daley II was born Monday to the mayor's son, William, and his wife, Lucetta. Young Richard is Daley's 13th grandchild.

Walker to tell endorsement of Jimmy Carter

interviews in Los Angeles and San Diego Tuesday.

"We talked about reforming the criminal justice system and fighting machine politics," said Tommy Hawkins of KHJ-TV, Los Angeles. Hawkins interviewed Walker for about 20 minutes Tuesday.

"We did not even get around to talking about politics," he added.

A reporter for the San Diego Union said Walker was asked about who he was supporting for the Democratic presidential nomination.

WALKER SAID he and Carter were the only two governors who had graduated from the U.S. Naval Academy and that he respected Carter. One of Walker's sons has been active in the Carter campaign.

Roberts said Walker's support will be added to a number of other non-California political figures who will come into the state during the next week.

The group will be headed by U.S. Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., who at one time was a presidential candidate, and includes a contingent of Georgia politicians.

"We expect the Walker endorsement to be a boost to Carter's campaign here. He is highly respected and seen as a good governor," Roberts said.

HE SAID Carter is locked in a tough struggle with California Gov. Edmund Brown in the battle for the state's 280 delegates to the Democratic National Convention. The California delegation, which goes to the primary's top vote getter, is the largest at the convention.

Last week, two Illinois delegates who were pledged to Walker announced they would support Carter on a first ballot nominating vote. Walker has refused to take a position on the presidential campaign in the past, but before his defeat in the Illinois primary he was mentioned as a possible late starter in the Democratic presidential derby.

Carter won the Illinois presidential preference primary in March. All five convention delegates elected in the Northwest suburban 12th congressional district are pledged to support Carter.

Thompson calls for end to home loan usury limit

James Thompson, GOP candidate for governor, said Tuesday the 9.5 per cent interest limit on home mortgage loans should be lifted and the rates be permitted to float according to market demands.

Thompson, speaking to a meeting of the Illinois Savings and Loan League, said Michigan has scrapped its usury limit for a two-year trial period and

Illinois briefs

"removal of the lid has not resulted in any kind of catastrophe."

Thompson noted labor traditionally opposes removal of the home loan interest limitation on grounds some people could not obtain home loans but said the typical interest rate in Illinois is now below the legal limit.

Full Maintenance

by Ed Landwehr

We use the most modern servicing equipment at Landwehr's TV & Appliance Center for electronic maintenance. This enables us to rapidly pinpoint the cause of trouble. But more than this, it gives us an insight into the general condition of your set. Our instruments indicate potential weak spots, conditions that will need service in the near future. We give you this information because many folks want the whole maintenance job, saving other calls in the near future.

You wouldn't just replace the worn tires on your car if you knew the wheel was out of line. You would get an alignment, too, and save useless wear.

Because television is so complex, it pays to have full maintenance. You get better efficiency for a longer period of time, and you're money ahead in the long run. Phone 255-0700 next time and let us prove it.

You're welcome to browse through displays of nationally-advertised TVs and stereos at 1000 W. Northwest Hwy., Arlington Heights. Sales with service makes the purchase complete.

Economic panel formed

Michael J. Howlett, the Democratic candidate for governor, Tuesday announced formation of an advisory committee on economic development to be headed by Chicago businessman John A. Kennedy.

At a breakfast meeting of the Illinois Savings and Loan League, Howlett said he planned to make economic development "a key part" of his administration if he is elected.

Howlett said although the next administration "must pursue with enthusiasm the attraction of business to Illinois, our main job is to preserve, expand and protect existing industries and existing jobs."

Vendors bill to Walker

The Senate Tuesday sent Gov. Daniel Walker a measure to pay $771,905 to 236 vendors who did business with the 1974 Illinois State Fair, which has been criticized by a grand jury and the Illinois attorney general.

By a 45-0 vote, the Senate completed legislative action on the measure (HB3744), which passed the House earlier this month.

A Walker spokesman said the governor would have to look at the bill before deciding if he will sign it.

Urban growth topic of June 9 meeting

Development trends and urban progress will be discussed at a conference slated June 9 in Chicago.

Development profiles comparing Chicago area trends and other urban areas will be featured in the session sponsored by the Chicago Assn. of Commerce and Industry and Continental Illinois Bank's Area Development Division. The meeting will begin at 9 a.m. in the Pick-Congress Hotel.

Gallagher moves to offices in area

Arthur J. Gallagher & Co., insurance brokers, recently moved from Chicago to Rolling Meadows offices.

New company offices are in the Tower Building, Golf Road. Robert E. Gallagher, president, said the Rolling Meadows offices will accommodate expanded operations. The Gallagher group of companies offers commercial, industrial and institutional insurance coverage. Operations also are based in London and Bermuda.

Harper union topic of radio show

The facts behind the Harper College faculty union affiliation will headline this month's production of "This is Harper College on the Air."

The final newscast of the semester will be aired at 10:15 a.m. Sunday on WWMM-FM (92.7).

Other stories will include reactions to Palatine's new marijuana law, a campus superstar and a custodian's view of the college.

The newscast is coproduced by Bruce Apa and Jack Kelleher of Rolling Meadows. Newscasters are Peter Nenni, Mount Prospect; Paula Gerleve, Arlington Heights; and Brian Fleck, Schaumburg.

Monthly newscasts are written, edited and produced by students in the radio and television news course of the journalism career program at Harper.

Workmen's comp rate hike hearing set

The Illinois Dept. of Insurance has slated a June 1 Springfield hearing for the Insurance Services Office of Illinois. Insurance Services is the sole rate-filing agent for some 275 insurance companies writing workmen's compensation insurance in the state.

The hearing will start at 10 a.m. in the Illinois Building, State Fair Grounds. The Insurance Services proposed 24.3 per cent increase in workmen's compensation rates will be discussed.

Heavy summer travel expected

Hike predicted in gasoline prices

by LEA TONKIN

Gas guzzling is back in style. As an estimated one million Chicago area residents take to the highways during the Memorial Day weekend, they'll be heading into a summer season of heavy driving and higher gasoline prices.

However, the expected 2-to-5-cent-a-gallon hike in gasoline prices is not likely to dampen the plans of holiday- and vacation-bound motorists, said Chicago petroleum industry expert Herb Hugo.

DEMAND FOR gasoline is up 10 per cent from a year ago, said Hugo, senior editor of the Platt's Oilgram publication. "It's ill-advised, of course, but the motorist is going out on the highways more. He's trading in his small cars for big cars and ignoring the 55 mile an hour speed limit. The car pool is kind of a joke. In other words, people are just out there living it up by driving it up."

Gasoline prices may jump two cents to a nickel a gallon by Memorial Day or shortly thereafter, Hugo said. He believes increased demand for gas and the tight supply may cause increases above the current 53-to-65-cent-a-gallon range of Chicago area regular gas prices.

"Holiday-bound Chicago area motorists will encounter the highest gasoline prices thus far this year over the Memorial Day weekend," said Bob Heck of the Chicago Motor Club. The club's latest fuel gauge report indicates average regular gas prices hit the 60 cent mark this week, a 1.6 cent increase in the past month. Premium fuel costs an average of 65.4-cents a gallon, the highest recorded since the fall of 1975.

Consumers should not encounter supply problems, the Chicago Motor Club spokesman said. Inflated prices for gasoline in resort and tourist areas will be five to 17 cents higher than average Chicago prices, Heck said.

IN THE TOURIST meccas of California, motorists pay as much as 77.9 cents a gallon for regular gas and 80.9 cents for premium. Prices range as low as 46.9 cents a gallon for regular fuel in the Houston area, an American Automobile Assn. survey shows.

Shop around for gas-price bargains, Heck advised. He noted a 13-cent-a-gallon difference between high and low prices for area fuel and a possible 2 cent a gallon hike in Indianapolis prices during the Indianapolis 500 race.

A range of prices and comment is offered by local service station dealers and oil industry spokesmen:

• Rich Hilburn, owner of the AAA Texaco Service station at Palatine Rd. and Windsor Dr., Arlington Heights, said his price for regular gas is 48.9 cents a gallon. Although gas purchases have increased steadily during the past two months, Hilburn foresees no supply problems.

• WHOLESALE PRICES increased a penny a gallon last week, said Bob Keogh, owner of the Rolling Meadows Union 76 station, Rolling Meadows. He charges 61.9 cents a gallon for unleaded regular gas and 65.9 cents for premium fuel.

• Few service station operators are making a full profit on gasoline sales, said Norbert Nissen, operator of the Village Shell Service station, Elk Grove Village. Nissen said he passed along to consumers wholesale price hikes amounting to 3 cents a gallon during the past three months. He charges 62.5 cents a gallon for regular gas.

• Wholesale prices remain stable, said Mike Thompson of Amoco Oil

Co., Chicago. He echoed a statement by Amoco marketing vice president Ken Curtis that adequate supplies of gasoline should be available in most areas during the summer. Gasoline prices are expected to rise to mid-1975 levels.

• The decline of the conservation ethic accounts for part of the 6 per cent rise in gasoline demand, said Marathon Oil Co. vice president J.H. Herring. If demand continues to accelerate, Herring said, the only way to prevent shortages will be to increase imports "and that will mean higher prices."

• The only question mark in summer gasoline prices and supplies is Mideast oil policy, said Lowell Ridgeway of the American Petroleum Institute office in Chicago. If Mideast oil producers decided to jack up prices 25 per cent June 1, pump prices could increase two-to-three-cents a gallon, he said.

Gasoline sales in the United States for the four weeks ending May 14 amounted to 7.2 million barrels a day, Ridgeway said. The figure is 7.9 per cent ahead of comparable 1975 sales, 9.8 per cent above the 1974 sales and 6.5 per cent above 1973 sales.

FILL'ER UP: Holiday motorists will encounter ample gasoline supply and some price hikes of 2 to 5 cents a gallon for fuel.

Stock prices close mixed in late rally

NEW YORK (UPI) — Prices trimmed earlier losses in a late session rally Tuesday and closed mixed in moderate trading on the New York Stock Exchange.

Wall Street observers said investor preoccupation with rising interest rates and a more restrictive monetary policy acted as a restraint on the market.

The Dow Jones industrial average, which plunged 19.22 points Monday for its biggest daily loss in more than a year, finished the day up 0.16 at 971.69. After a weak opening, the blue chip indicator gained almost two points and then lost around five before embarking on a second recovery attempt in the final hour.

DECLINES LED advances, however, 970 to 482, among the 1,854 issues crossing the tape. Earlier in the session losers had a three-to-one edge over winners.

Among the broader based indexes, the Standard & Poor's 500-stock index gained 0.05 to 99.49. The NYSE common stock index eased 0.03 to 52.98, and the price of an average Rib Board share gave up two cents.

Volume totaled 18,770,000 shares, up from the 16,360,000 shares exchanged Monday.

Interest rates dominated Tuesday's session with investors showing nervousness about the future course of interest rates under the Fed's tighter credit policy.

Predictions Monday the prime lending rate for top corporate borrowers would rise by the week's end to 7 per cent from the prevailing level of 6 1/2 per cent sent the market into a skid.

Negotiators reach accord in Busch strike

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — Negotiators for Anheuser-Busch Inc. and striking bottlers Wednesday reached tentative agreement on a contract to end a strike that has idled 4,000 workers since March 1.

The agreement applies only to the St. Louis headquarters plant of the Busch, the world's largest brewer. Bottlers at seven Busch breweries in other parts of the country last week rejected a contract proposal.

A company spokesman said Teamsters Bottlers Local 1187 members will vote Thursday morning in St. Louis on the contract offer.

"The union negotiating committee has stated it will unanimously recommend acceptance of the agreement by the membership," the spokesman said.

Terms of the accord were not disclosed. The main point in dispute had been the brewery's plan to discipline union members allegedly involved in violence during the strike.

Executives' pay gains more than inflation: survey

Chicago area executives' pay outpaced inflation during the past year, according to a survey by Manplan Consultants.

Officials of the Chicago-based firm said executive salaries increased 9.5 per cent during the year ending May 1. The consumer price index rose 4.1 from March, 1975 to March, 1976. The survey included managers in 49 executive positions.

A Manplan source said the average annual increase in base salary totaled 8.9 per cent during the past two years while average yearly total compensation, including cash bonuses, reached 9.5 per cent. The pay boosts compare to the 1972-74 period when base salaries rose 5.8 per cent a year and total compensation increased 7.1 per cent.

THE SURVEY WAS sponsored by the Chicago Assn. of Commerce and Industry, the Northern Illinois Industrial Assn. and Valley Industrial Assn.

More than 1,200 corporate executives were surveyed.

According to the survey findings:

- The chief executive officer's compensation did not increase as fast as other salaries. Base salaries rose 8.6 per cent a year from 1975 to 1976 and total compensation increased 8.8 per cent.

- A 6.8 per cent hike in sales marketing executives' base salary was reported for the past year.

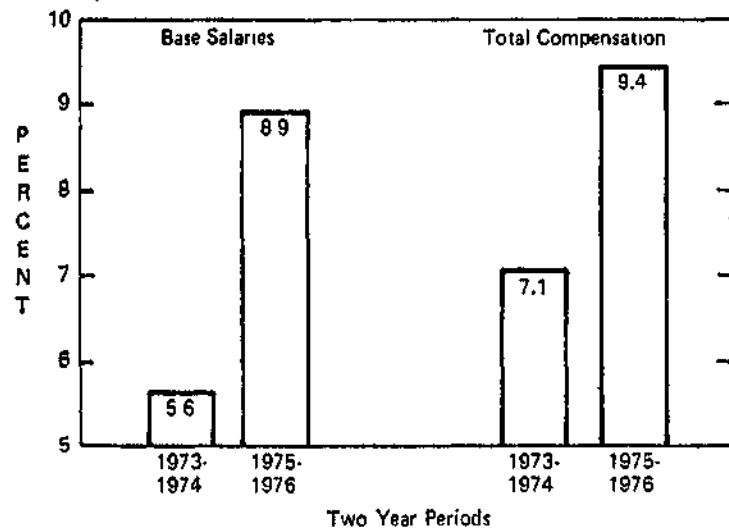

- General sales managers reported an annual average salary increase of 12.6 per cent.

Manplan executives William Davidson and George Swope said higher profits, increased business activity and "executive catchup" account for recent salary increases.

The survey shows the dangers of inflation to executive pay scales. At an annual 6 per cent inflation rate, the executive paid $100,000 a year would have to make $430,000 in the year 2000 to stay even.

EXECUTIVE PAY hikes during the past two years outpaced the 1973-74 increases, according to a study by Manplan Consultants, Chicago.

Auto loan fraud scheme nets $570,000 bank claim

The All-American Bank of Chicago Tuesday said it has filed a $571,000 claim with its bonding agent in connection with an auto loan fraud scheme uncovered last summer.

The scheme allegedly involved kickbacks from an insurance agency, fictitious repair claims and financing irregularities, said Bank Pres. Raymond Wojnar. He said a person believed to be involved has been dismissed from the bank.

Wojnar said the FBI is investigating but no charges have been filed.

Wojnar said the loss was "insignificant" and "posed no problems to our customers. They're fully insured."

The scheme was discovered after the audit was made of the auto loan department, which was reporting excessive losses, Wojnar said.

The president said he expected the claim to be recognized by the Insurance Co. of North America, the bonding agent.

The bank has been ordered to recapitalize $750,000, by the state controller of banks and the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp., Wojnar said, "to strengthen the soundness of the bank."

"We've begun offering 50,000 shares at $15 per share," Wojnar said. "We should complete the job within 60 days."

Marcor says profit gain reflects economic recovery

Marcor Inc., the Chicago-based parent company of Montgomery Ward and Container Corp. of America, reported net earnings of $40,895,000 for the first quarter of the year. That is a 59.6 per cent gain from year-earlier earnings of $25,629,000.

Net earnings per share for the first quarter of fiscal 1976 amounted to $1.11 compared to 64 cents a year earlier. First quarter, fully diluted earnings totalled 87 cents a share.

Sales for the three month period ended April 30 reached $1,181,865,000 compared to $1,062,446,000 during the first quarter of 1975.

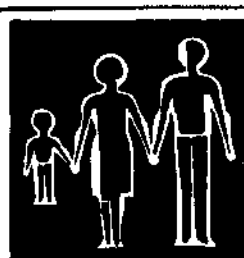

Leo H. Schoenhofen, chairman and chief executive officer, said strong sales by Montgomery Ward and Container Corp. reflect recovery in the consumer and industrial sectors of the economy.

Falcon flag hopes dimmed by Meadows

Statistically, there are still two three-team races in the Mid-Suburban baseball conference. Rolling Meadows took a giant step toward making one of those cliff-hangers a two-club chase by blitzing Forest View in a makeup game Tuesday.

With only two more scheduled rounds (Wednesday and Friday) to go and just three makeup games remaining on the docket (two of those involving the Mustangs), Hersey and Hoffman Estates are still very much in contention behind Arlington and Meadows in the North and South respectively.

Buffalo Grove and the Falcons are, at best, long shots.

MUSTANGS RIP FALCONS

Rolling Meadows stuffed six runs across before a batter was retired in the sixth inning to highlight a 11-hit, 11-1 waltz over Forest View.

Mustang pitching ace John Igrasek was the beneficiary of the attack which inched defending Mid-Suburban League champion Meadows closer to its second successive South Division crown.

The Mustangs raked a quartet of Falcon hurlers for runs in every inning except the third and capped the scoring in the sixth when the first seven hitters reached base before an out was registered.

Paul Marsillo started the flurry with a double to left. Guy Tenuta walked and Mike Bramlett and Dennis Drolet singled for runs.

Pinch-hitter Tom Graczyk drew a pass and John Igrasek beat out an infield hit before Bill Bilsley cleared the bases with a double to left.

The Mustangs jumped off 2-0 on run-scoring hits by Bramlett in the first and Tenuta in the second before Forest View countered with a run on Tom Lunak's infield hit and Larry Dahl's double to right in the fourth.

Meadows added Marsillo's run-producing base hit in the fourth and two unearned runs in the fifth before putting the game out of reach in the big sixth.

The loss all but eliminated 8-8 Forest View from the hot South race while opening a 1½ game budge between Meadows and its nearest rival Hoffman Estates.

STOLTZ BLANKS PALATINE

Hersey righthander Dan Stoltz allowed just four hits and throttled Palatine, 3-0, as coach Steve Chermick's Huskies moved to within a game of North division leader Arlington.

Stoltz walked four and hit a batter but wiggled out of several jams with the aid of sharp defensive work by the Hersey infield. The Huskie hurler struck out seven Pirates.

Palatine starter Kevin McKenna pitched out of trouble in the first and second innings, but a pair of walks and an error in the fourth led to all three of Hersey's runs.

Huskie DH Chuck Veselits slammed a one-out single and was safe on a steal attempt when the second baseman dropped the throw after making the tag. McKenna walked Bob Hart and Steve Giannini, then Mark Johnson lined a base hit to right field on a three-two pitch, scoring Veselits. Hart scored on a passed ball and Giannini came in on a single off the bat of Joe Pusatera.

Al Knotek reached Stoltz for two of the four singles Palatine managed. Kevin Carrier and pinch-hitter Jeff Williams had the others.

BARRY SLAMS VIKES

Glenn Barry connected for a grand slam homer in the sixth inning, propelling Wheeling to an 8-5 come-from-behind triumph over visiting Fremd Tuesday.

The boomer by Barry, over the left field fence, greeted Greg Schroeder, the third Vike pitcher used in the sixth. It was preceded by walks to Rick Reese, Jim Passolt and Bucky Black and a hit batsman (John Skawrek).

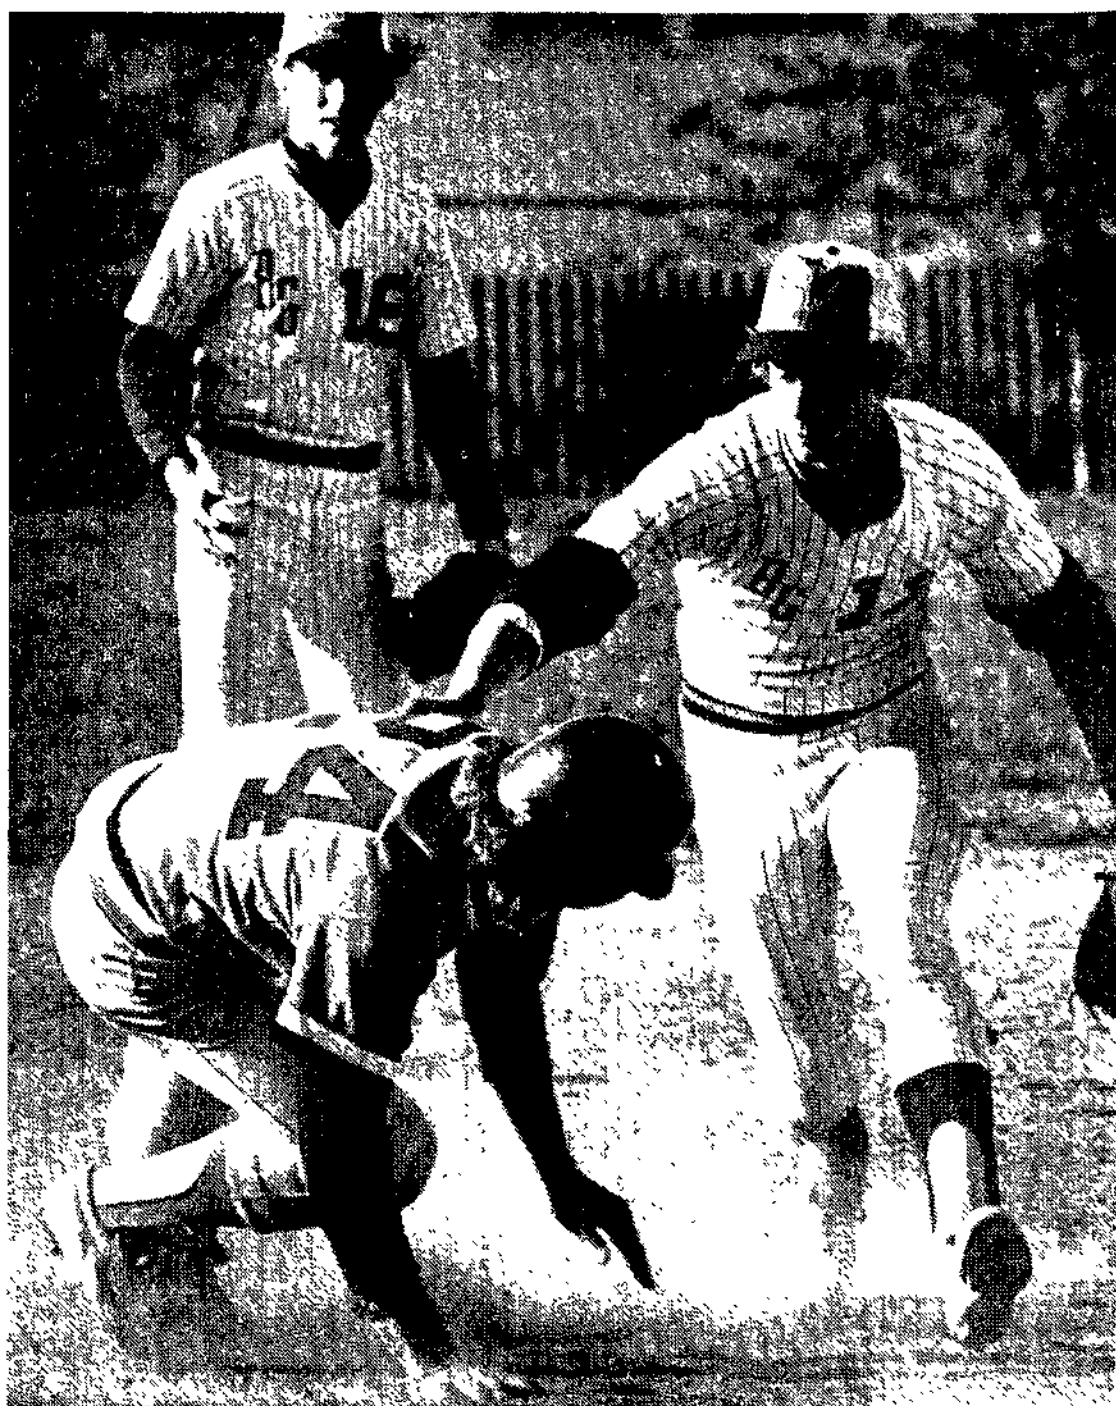

The Wildcats jumped on top initially on Black's circuit shot to lead off the first. Singles then by Barry, Rick Heredia, Bob Terberry and Bill Knuth and Rick Reese's ground out made it a 3-0 game.

Fremd countered off 'Cat starter and winner Barry with a run-producing single by Dale Hallberg in the second and a three-run fourth, highlighted by Chris Pethley's two-run safety.

Steve Peters doubled home another Fremd run in the fifth, putting the guests up 5-3.

Kerry Field pitched into the sixth for the Vikes and was relieved by Matt Fox, who sustained the loss.

TAG DAY. Buffalo Grove's Mike Ledna applies the tag to Ron Turner of Forest View while Al Cymbal backs up the play. The action came during a four-run Falcon outburst in the fifth that sent them on their way to a 7-4 triumph.

Sox win again; streak at nine

Brian Downing maintained his hot bat at California Tuesday night, slamming a two-out single to send the White Sox on their way to win number nine in a row, 7-1.

Downing, who makes his home right in Angel Anaheim headquarters, made it six RBIs in two days with a line single up the middle, driving home Ralph Garr, who had singled, and Jim Spencer, who had reached on an error.

The timely hit broke a 1-1 deadlock and sent former Cub hurler Gary Ross for the sixth time this season. White Sox starter Rich Gossage meanwhile fanned nine while going the route to even his slate at 3-3.

Chicago broke the game open in the ninth starting with Pat Kelly's two-run homer. Jim Spencer later singled in another pair of runs off reliever Dick Drago.

The Angels scored first, in the third, on singles by Dave Chaik and Ron Johnson and Joe Lahoud's ground out. The Sox tied the game in the fifth when Spencer and Rich Coggins singled and Ed Herrmann overthrew Buddy Bradford's tapper at third.

California contributed a trio of errors to the Chicago cause and all of the Sox runs were unearned.

Gossage allowed only six hits and four walks going the route for the fifth time this season. Kelley's homer also extended his hitting streak to eight straight games.

Hawk power

Harper baseball team enjoys big season

On a somewhat smaller scale, the 1976 Harper baseball team has something in common with the 1932 New York Yankees.

Like the Yankees of '32, the Hawks went all year without being shut out as they put together the best Harper baseball season in history.

And, they did it in relative obscurity, too.

It is rare to see a decent crowd at a Harper athletic event. The football team draws fair-sized gatherings and the basketball team gets its share of parents and friends.

But the baseball team, which has never had a losing season in the five years John Eliasik has been coach, seems to get lost in the shuffle.

Which is unfortunate because Harper plays the best baseball in the northwest suburbs.

Eliasik has a good explanation for this.

"Drawing the kids to baseball is where near the problem football is," Eliasik, who is also the Harper grid coach, said. "There is more baseball talent in this area and fewer scholarships to go around."

"Baseball coaches are looking for 15 players instead of 50 so unless a kid is an outstanding pitcher or a really exceptional hitter who can play a position a team is weak at, he won't get scholarship offers from the major colleges."

"Also, baseball isn't a big revenue sport in college so there aren't as many rides (scholarships)."

Harper has sent baseball players on to four-year schools before.

Mike Honel is one of the leading hitters at Eastern Illinois and Rigg Lile is playing for Louisiana State University at New Orleans.

Another former Hawk, Rich Lutzinski, signed with the pros out of Harper.

From the 1976 team Dave Patterson will be dividing his time at Northern Illinois University between football and baseball.

Patterson was a big part of Harper's record breaking season this year.

In fact, he set most of the records. Working as a pitcher Patterson shattered Harper school records for single season wins (nine) and career wins (15).

He also had the best strikeouts to walks ratio in the school's history. In 82 innings he fanned 84 and walked just 22.

When Patterson wasn't pitching, Eliasik couldn't afford to have his bat out of the lineup, he started at first base.

He hit .392 in the North Central Community College Conference (N4C) and set school records with 41 RBIs and six home runs.

With all those statistics, Dave was voted to the Region IV All-State team, the All-N4C team and was the unanimous Most Valuable Player in the conference.

But it takes more than one player to build a team that had the best record (23-10) and the best winning percentage (.696) in the school's history.

The Hawks hit .351 as a team, another school best, and third baseman Howie Brauer lead that with a .447 clip.

Brauer's batting average was the best in Harper history.

Brauer, pitcher-catcher Dar Townsend (.465 in the N4C) and second baseman Marty Luquet (.357 in N4C) joined Patterson on the all-conference team.

Good hitting has been a mark of Harper baseball teams over the years and Eliasik said, "All the sophomores had a better year than they did as freshmen. I didn't think it would make that much difference but I guess it did."

"We also got good years out of the freshmen that came in this year."

"We had a good blend of freshmen and sophomore talent."

The Harper sophomores, had a 43-20 record in their two years with the Hawks and brought back to back second place finishes in the conference to the school.

"We've almost always been a contender in our conference," Eliasik said. "I think fourth or fifth place was the worst we've ever done."

"There are a couple schools around that give scholarships but we even compete with them pretty well. We have good facilities, we play a lot of games and this year we were able to get in several games on our spring trip."

"That helped me evaluate the team sooner than I had in the past and this really helped us this year."

With most of their starters returning next year, including Greg Meyer, Steve Raccuglia, Pete Pavich, Joe Calomino, Scott Green and Luquet, the Harper baseball future is secure.

Their final doubleheader of the season with league champion Triton was postponed because it had no bearing on the outcome of the season.

That decision, by Triton, wiped out a possible confrontation between Patterson and Triton hurler Paul Kastner, the two best pitchers in the league.

"We should have gotten Kastner," Eliasik said. "But he went to Triton because he thought he had a better chance of going to a four-year school from there."

"He won four games in the conference and that was the difference between them winning and Harper winning."

Aside from the fact the two games had no bearing on the season, Triton may have cancelled because they knew something about Harper only the Hawks knew.

Perhaps Kastner can't pitch effectively from the stretch. But against this Harper team he'd get a lot of practice.

He'd also get his pickoff motor tested because Harper stole 58 bases this year and once ripped off 27 straight without being caught.

Which, you may have guessed, is a school record.

Love to play against Olympians

Bob Love of the Chicago Bulls has agreed to play against the United States Olympic basketball team when it makes a tour stop in Mount Prospect, The Herald learned Tuesday.

Love, a 10-year veteran of the National Basketball Assn., is the first player named to a team Head Coach Ray Meyer emphasized would be "very representative."

The United States Olympic basketball team will play an exhibition against a squad coached by Merer on Thursday evening, June 25 at Prospect High School. The event is co-sponsored by the Mount Prospect State Bank and Prospect Boosters Club.

NCAA eligibility rules have forced the use of professional players and Love has agreed to help the game organizers in assembling a strong team to face the Olympians.

Additional details will be released later.

Crawford's bat leads Cards past Cubs, 5-2

Thud! That sound you heard Tuesday afternoon was the Cubs falling into the basement of the National League East.

It may only be by percentage points, but the Cubs own exclusive rights to sixth place after a 5-2 loss to St. Louis in Wrigley Field.

The Cardinals have 17 victories in 40 games, a .425 percentage. The Cubs are 16-22 for a .421 mark.

Willie Crawford drove in three runs with three hits, including his third home run, to pace the Cards Tuesday and spoil the Cubs return home.

Crawford's homer came in the sixth inning with two out and Bake McBride on base. The Cardinals added two more runs in the eighth.

After a walk to Reggie Smith, Crawford doubled to right, scoring Smith, and came home on Ron Fairly's single.

Lynn McGlothen went the distance for St. Louis, allowing seven hits to boost his record to 5-3.

Chicago took a 1-0 lead in the second inning on Larry Binkner's double which fell in front of McBride in center field, a walk and Steve Swisher's single.

St. Louis tied it in the fourth on singles by Ted Simmons, Crawford and Fairly. Simmons' hit was the 1,000th of his major league career.

The Cubs' other run came with two out in the fifth when Jose Cardenal walked and scored on Bill Madlock's double.

McBride, who had just been reactivated from the 15-day disabled list,

STATE QUALIFIER Jeff Carter of Conant gives the Cougars a state finalist in the pole vault for the third straight year. Carter, a junior whose season best is 13-6, will join Conant teammate Sam Assil, a low hurdler, in the state meet in Charleston May 28-29.

Sports world End near for Scouts

The National Hockey League took the first step Tuesday in Chicago toward phasing the Kansas City Scouts out of existence. The final decision could come at the annual league meeting June 7-8.

The board of governors delivered a "complaint sheet" to the Scouts' owners, headed by Edwin Thompson, that they had not paid their dues nor repaid a loan of $300,000 from each of the teams in the league.

NHL Commissioner Clarence Campbell explained the complaint was a procedural step leading to involuntary termination of the charge under which the league could operate the team if it chose to do so — and Campbell said, "which we will not."

The Scouts agreed not to make any attempt to dispose of players or rights to players in order to freeze the assets of the team.

Campbell said the owners of the franchise indicated they were not in the position to meet financial demands to retain the franchise and did not intend to keep it.

However, Kansas City Mayor Charles Wheeler appeared before the governors and said later he believed he could put together a group which could raise $3 million to keep the team in Kansas City. "Unless there is a purchase of the franchise by Kansas City interests," Campbell said, "the franchise would phase out."

Tigers' LeFlore continues streak

Detroit Tigers center fielder Ron LeFlore hit in his 27th straight game Tuesday night when he doubled to right in the fifth inning off Boston's Luis Tiant in a game with the hosting Red Sox. LeFlore has now tied Dom DiMaggio for the longest hitting streak in baseball since 1951. The next most recent longest hitting streak was 34 by D. DiMaggio in 1940. The Tigers lost, 2-0.

Ali hasn't lost his gift of gab...

Muhammad Ali's storming five-round victory over Richard Dunn early Tuesday morning in Munich so restored the champion's dented pride that he talked about calling it a day once more now that he is on top again. Ali has made about as many retirement statements as he has thrown left jabs, but the announcements always come when Ali feels he is right at the top.

"I have to quit while I'm on top," said Ali in quiet tones that contrast with his strident public image. "But the circumstances make it that I just can't quit when I want to. I've got one big fight left in me and I'm going to destroy Norton and after I've destroyed Norton, I'm going to retire." Ali had said at his news conference immediately after stopping the British southpaw at 2:05 in the fifth.

... Or his millions of fight followers

NBC research estimated Tuesday 58,500,000 people watched the Muhammad Ali-Richard Dunn heavyweight title fight, making it the most widely viewed prize fight ever on home television. The live telecast from Munich, Germany scored a 33.1 rating in New York and attracted a 49 share of the audience. In Los Angeles, the figures were 23.1 and 45.

Prior to the Ali-Dunn fight, the biggest audience for a boxing match was 54,800,000 for Ali and Ron Lyle last May on ABC.

Indy prepares for super show

With time trials over and Indianapolis Motor Speedway activity confined mostly to the garage area, members of the racing fraternity Tuesday had to make decisions only such as where to eat lunch. There is little that drivers and crews can do now to get ready for Sunday's Indianapolis 500-mile race. The lone exception will be carburization tests Thursday.

They will have three hours of running time to check out race day setups. Thursday also will feature one hour of pit practice without engines running.

The Speedway outlined a timetable for Sunday's activities, beginning with the opening of the gates at 4 a.m. Race day ceremonies begin at 8 a.m. with a parade of bands and other units representing all 50 states. The parade lap begins at 10:54 a.m. and the race itself gets off to a flying start at 11 a.m.

Guthrie warms up for 'other' race

Janet Guthrie turned in a speed of 143.927 miles per hour in a borrowed car Tuesday during a practice for Sunday's World 600 stock car race at the Charlotte Motor Speedway in North Carolina. Guthrie entered the race Monday after failing to qualify for the Indianapolis 500.

She will be driving a Chevrolet built for racer A. J. Foyt by Hoss Ellington. The car is being prepared by Ralph Moody but was not ready Tuesday so Miss Guthrie took about 25 practice laps in Joe Frasson's Chevrolet. Mechanics were busy Tuesday installing power steering equipment in her car and it was expected to be ready for a qualifying run today.

Pac-8 considers adding 2 schools

Arizona and Arizona State Tuesday were invited to begin formal talks with representatives of the Pacific-8 about the possibility of joining the conference and making it the Pac-10. The two schools currently are members of the Western Athletic Conference.

"This step is being taken with the explicit understanding that no decision has been reached by the presidents and chancellors of the Pacific-8 conference regarding either the concept or the particulars of the suggested expansion in the specific relationship," said UCLA Chancellor Charles E. Young, chairman of the Pac-8's presidents and chancellors group, in a letter to the two schools.

... And in other sports news

Top ranked tennis pro Arthur Ashe said Tuesday he would have demanded an immediate apology from Ilie Nastase if he had heard the Romanian's racial slur during a championship match Sunday. Neither the fans nor Ashe, who lost the Avis Challenge Cup to Nastase at Keaouhoukua, Hawaii, heard Nastase mutter "bloody nigger" during the second set. But the remark was picked up by television microphones.

... New York Mets slugger Dave Kingman hit his 16th homer — tops in the major leagues — against Philadelphia, but the Phillies won.

Silber finishes 10th in nationals

Donna Silber of Mount Prospect took 10th place in the all-around competition in the prestigious United States Gymnastics Federation Senior National Championships held in Fairfax, Va. last weekend.

One hundred sixty girls competed in the national championships, having first to qualify through their state meets and then the regional meets.

Donna's 10th place finish was determined by combining both advanced compulsory and optional routines on the four events. Her score for all-around was 71.80.

Silber's combined scores placed her fourth on the uneven bars (9.15 average) and ninth on the balance beam (9.05) qualifying for the finals in those two events.

She placed eighth on the uneven bars and 11th on the balance beam event finals.

Donna, along with her teammates Laurie Birk of Glenview, Shelley Miller of Niles and Gayle Fleischman of Deerfield, placed the American Academy of Gymnastics Inc. Des Plaines in 11th place in the team competition. They were the highest placing team from the midwest states.

The American Academy of Gymnastics Inc. will be offering, for the first time this summer at its new location in Des Plaines, a day camp for boys who are presently freshman, sophomores or 8th graders. The camp begins July 26 and continues through August 22, six days a week.

The camp is for all-around boys only and its purpose is "to develop the basic elements of gymnastics and learn how to apply these to optional tricks which one will use later in his gymnastics career."

The Academy will be using the National Junior Olympic Developmental program.

The boys camp director is Leonard Isaacs. The 1976 Illinois all-around state champion, Craig Martin of Maine South, and Lee Battaglia of Buffalo Grove, will be instructors. Further information in regard to this camp may be obtained by calling the Academy at 827-6843 or Craig Martin at 825-5731.

In addition to the camp the Academy will offer another new program, special three week clinic sessions designed for beginning and intermediate girls. These clinic classes will run for three weeks from June 21 through August 20 on weekdays from 10 a.m. to 12 noon.

The Academy is also offering its regular gymnastic classes for boys and girls from four years of age through high school. These are classes for beginners, intermediate, advanced and high school students. The regular classes will begin June 14 through August 21.

Registration is now in progress for all of the Academy's summer programs. Enrollment will be limited and reservations will be on a first come, first serve basis.

For further information and registration please call the Academy at 827-6843. The Academy has moved to its new location at 1527 Ellinwood Des Plaines. It is located on the southside of the street across from the North Western Railroad Station in downtown Des Plaines.

Soccer show tonight at Soldier Field

England's most exciting soccer team, Manchester United will play the Chicago Sting of the North American Soccer League at Soldier Field tonight at 8:00. The game will be part of a big Bicentennial soccer night.

The Red Devils, as the English visitors are known, with their All-Star International line-up have attained some of soccer's highest honors in their more than 80 years of existence. English league championships, F.A. Cup winners and European Cup victories are all part of their large trophy room display. The Chicago Sting is in its second year of competition. Last year they finished second in their conference and this year they are hot and shooting for the championship in the Northern section of the NASL.

Chicago soccer fans will be looking forward to seeing Gordon Hill once again. Gordon was the leading scorer on the Sting team last season and second in the league. On his return to England, he was purchased by Manchester United for just under a quarter of a million dollars. He has since been a sensation in England and is acclaimed as the greatest young prospect in soccer today.

Prior to the game, a huge Parade of Flags by local soccer clubs will usher in the Bicentennial event, together with an all-star clash between local All-stars from the Major and First Divisions of the National Soccer League.

The Bicentennial event will conclude with a massive fireworks display.

New dog show films available

For the first time in its 32-year history, Gaines Dog Research Center has placed two films in circulation in the same month.

The newest film, "Highlights of Mexican Dog Shows," joins the "100th Westminster Dog Show" film released earlier as the latest additions to the Gaines library, which features 15 other movies on a wide variety of canine topics.

The new 31-minute film covers the international winter dog show circuit in Mexico City, one of the few places in Central or South America where international championships are awarded.

The film explains the group classifications of the Federation Canine Internationale and shows the working tests required of some Sporting, Hound and Working breeds before they can become champions. A special sequence features the rare Xolo-Itz'cuintle, the Mexican Hairless breed. The script was written by Maxwell Riddle, noted dog judge and writer.

Both the Mexican and Westminster films, along with all other Gaines films, are available on a free-loan basis to dog-oriented groups agreeing to pay return shipping charges, reporting attendance and returning the film immediately after the showing date.

Requests for all films must be received by the center at least four weeks before the planned showing date. An alternate date is also required in case the film is already booked. All requests are filled on a first come, first served basis.

A description of all 17 Gaines films, and ordering instructions, can be obtained by requesting the pamphlet "For Your Club" from Gaines Dog Research Center, 250 North St., White Plains, N.Y. 10625.

Fox River Valley K.C.—Sunday, Fox Valley Kennel Club,

Inc. will hold its annual A.K.C. licensed all-breed dog show and obedience trial at Harper College, Algonquin and Roselle Roads, Palatine.

Show hours are from 7 a.m. to 9 p.m. Judges for the events will be from 12 states and Canada. General admission is $1. Children under 12 are admitted free when accompanied by parents.

For information as to judging time of any particular breed, call Robert Adolphus, show chairman, at 815-455-0334.

Northwest Obed. Closing date—Wednesday, June 9, is the closing date for Northwest Obedience Club's 10th annual trial on Saturday, June 26, at Buffalo Grove High School. For trial information and entry blanks, contact Anne Copeland, 1034 E. Tulip Way, Palatine, Ill. 60067.

Show season—The dog show season is really in high gear. For example, there will be at least 13 specialty shows on Saturday, June 12, at various locations in the area, before the Chain O'Lakes Kennel Club show on Sunday, June 13, at the Lake County Fairgrounds, Grayslake.

Also to take place at the Lake County Fairgrounds, but Sunday, June 6, will be the Lake Shore Great Dane Club's annual puppy and obedience A.K.C. sanctioned matches. Obedience judging by Charles Bradshaw of Midlothian will begin at 9 a.m. and conformation judging by Herbert Twits of Orange, Ca., will begin at 1 p.m.

For information about the obedience match, contact the show secretary, Mrs. Joanne Oliver, Rt. 1, Box 50, Algonquin, Ill. 60120, (312/669-5784) and Mrs. Terri Murphy, 621 Barnsdale Rd., La Grange Park, Ill. 60525, (312/354-5791) for information.

Harper women win one

After working hard throughout the winter, the Harper women's tennis team traveled to Midland, Tex., to compete in the National Junior College Athletic Assn. tournament and although they won only one of six matches head coach Martha Bolt said, "It was the best they have played in the two years they have been at Harper."

The tournament drew the best junior college tennis players in the country and the teams from Midland and Odessa, Tex., fought for the national championship.

Harper earned their only point when Dianne DeWitt defeated Vivian Patton of Gainesville, Ga. in her opening singles match 6-4, 6-1.

DeWitt was erased from the competition in her next match when she lost to the top seeded player in the tournament, Mary Sawyer of Midland, 6-0, 6-0.

Cathy Aldana lost her opening singles match 6-2, 6-0 to eighth seeded Mary Tucker from Oklahoma and Sue Kelly fell to Pam Diepraam of Midland 6-2, 6-0 in her first singles match.

DeWitt teamed with Amy Redeen in the doubles and lost their opening match to a pair from Schreiner, Tex., 6-0, 6-1.

Kelly and Aldana lost their first doubles match to the fourth seeded team in the tournament, a tandem from Barton, Kan., 6-2, 6-1.

"The teams in the tournament played more of a top spin game," Bolt remarked, "and we weren't used to that."

"But there wasn't a single Harper player who didn't belong on the court."

Harper will graduate nearly their entire team with only Pam Edwards returning next year.

Nevertheless, Bolt said confidently, "Playing in this tournament gave me a chance to know what we have to work on. This is the first time we've been to the NJCAA tournament but I hope it's just the first of many times."

Ask Andy

Eyeglasses start with chemicals

Andy sends the Encyclopedia Britannica's 1976 Yearbook of Science and the Future to Carolyn Trille, 14, of Rolling Meadows, for her question:

HOW DO THEY MAKE THE LENSES FOR EYEGLASSES?

There are many reasons why the eye does not always work the way it should. Perhaps the most common eye defects are caused by refractive errors, which are conditions in which the lens system of the eye will not correctly focus light rays on the retina. These conditions may be corrected by using eyeglasses that have been ground in a special way.

Glass that is used for eyeglasses, microscopes, camera lenses and other optical instruments must be as free from impurities as possible. It is especially formulated for maximum transmission of light and other optical properties. To ensure the quality of the glass only the purest raw materials are used.

The process of turning the raw materials into lenses begins when silica, soda and lime, and a small amount of other chemicals are melted in special platinum-lined tanks. The molten glass is drawn off into molds that are mounted on a rotary table. After the bottom half of the mold is filled, the top half comes down and squeezes the glass, under pressure and heat, into a particular shape. Different molds are used for different types of lenses.

The rotary table moves from the pouring operation to squeezing and finally to the relax position. The molten glass has now solidified into an almost round disk called a blank. It is now ready for a trip through a special machine called an annealing lehr, a special oven that allows the glass to cool slowly. Glass that has not undergone the process of annealing may shatter from tension caused by uneven cooling.

The eyeglass blanks are inspected from top to bottom and sideways with special instruments to make sure that there are no blemishes, bubbles or even the smallest imperfections. Those that make the grade are sent on to the lens factory, while imperfect lenses are rejected.

At the lens factory, the blanks are ground and polished, depending on the type of lens being produced. Some lenses are ground so that their edges are thicker than the center. Others are ground so that the center is thicker. During the grinding and polishing process, the lenses are inspected many times.

Among the most common vision problems are astigmatism, farsightedness, nearsightedness and presbyopia. Using special eyeglass blanks that have been manufactured, ground and polished in a certain way, these problems can be corrected. The type of lens in a pair of glasses depends on the individual eye defect.

Andy sends a student globe to Frank Haggerty, 11, of Murray, Utah, for his question:

HOW MANY SPECIES OF DEER ARE THERE?

Of the 60 or more species of deer in the world, the North American moose is the largest, tipping the scales at 1,800 pounds or more. The smallest variety is the tiny pudu of western South America, a lightweight at 20 pounds. These two deer species, along with all the others, such as caribou, musk deer, reindeer and whitetailed deer, are the only animals with bones on their heads. Called antlers, these bones differ from horns, which are strong, hard layers of skin.

Heart bid wins over club

When you don't have a five-card suit you are likely to have to make a decision as to what to open. There are no standard American rules here. If you don't think so just look at any two books and try to find any hard and fast rules — much less identical hard and fast rules.

There is one place where experts do agree. With today's South hand you open one heart — not one spade. If you open one spade and partner holds four hearts you may lose the suit. If you open one heart he can respond one spade conveniently.

Win at bridge

by Oswald and Jim Jacoby

South's heart opening gives him a second bidding problem after the two-club response. He solves it by bidding three clubs. North rebids three diamonds and South goes to three no-trump.

The same contract might well be reached on any line of bidding. It plays nicely and simply. South has to go after club and since they break 3-2 he has nine easy tricks.

Earth shoes: hottest sellers in the store

by BARBARA LADD

My friend says they are the ugliest shoes you can find for $40. As a matter of fact, she likens them to a cross between an old woman's orthopedic shoe and a hiking boot which needs resoling.

Actually, I think the negative heel shoes are kind of cute, but I also thought the same thing about my mom's pink, spike-heeled pumps with the rhinestones.

Regardless of the varying opinions on style, negative-heeled shoes, including the original Earth Shoes by Kalso, are undoubtedly the hottest-selling item in footwear.

An estimated one million pairs of Earth Shoes were sold last year, and area shoe stores which carry their own negative-heeled imitations of the real thing also report high consumer demand.

Ann Kalso of Copenhagen got the idea for negative-heeled shoes (shoes where the heel is lower than the ball of the foot) while meditating in South America, so the story goes. She opened an Earth Shoe store in New York City in 1970.

There are only two Earth Shoe stores in Illinois, both in Chicago. And prices range from $23.50 to $49.50. Lately, other stores have come out with limitations for under $20.

THE SHOES sound like the best commodity since barefeet, if Earth Shoe supporters are to be believed. They claim: negative heels allow the backbone to return to its natural, straight position; lower back pain is relieved; respiration and circulation improves; good posture becomes simple and walking a glide; and fatigue after long hours of standing is reduced.

"People who are on their feet more than normal can really benefit from Earth Shoes," said salesman Dean Brongiel, of the Earth Shoe Kalso store on Clark Street in Chicago.

"Earth Shoes change the distribution of weight to take weight off the front of the foot and put it to the back. This takes pressure off the spine," he said. "It's not for me to make medical claims, but people come in saying how good their back feels with their new shoes."

But those negative heels are also supporting some well-heeled negative feelings.

Researchers at the California Podiatric Medical Center in San Francisco found that people with flat feet, very high arches, short calf muscles and short Achilles tendons were liable to develop tendinitis (inflammation of the tendon) while adjusting to the negative heel, according to a recent Science Digest article.

People may damage their knees by bending them in the wrong direction while walking. And diabetics were warned against the shoes because lack of adjustment to the heel might cause slow-healing foot lesions.

"LONG TIME diabetics have poor circulation to start with," said Dr. Tom Fahey, orthopedic surgeon at Holy Family hospital in Des Plaines. "Once a sore develops on their feet it can lead to amputation. But any poorly fit shoe is potential disaster for a diabetic," he added.

Dr. Fahey agreed negative heels help relieve lower back pain and stress, but he has never recommended the shoes. "Because it seems the disadvantages outweigh the advantages," he said. "I hate to condemn them. I'm taking a wait-and-see attitude."

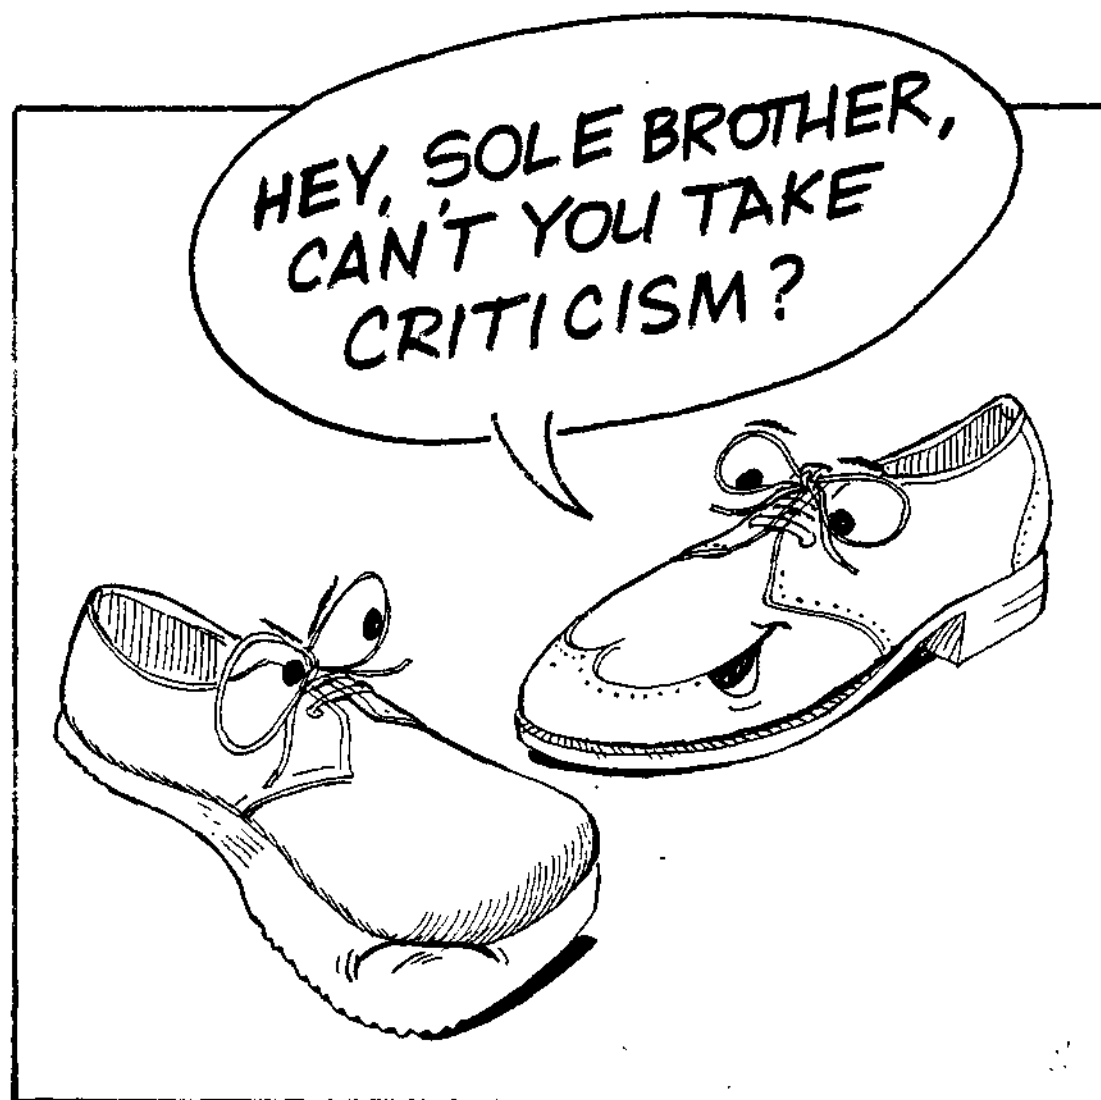

The disadvantages he cited centered around the adjustment period.

"For somebody used to walking barefooted or in a small heel like a man's shoe, the negative heels are not that much of a challenge," he said. "But with high heels (greater than 1½ inches) the muscles will shorten up in time. So the negative heels would cause those muscles to strain."

There's no point in stretching the muscles anyway, said Dr. James Moore, director of the clinic at the Illinois College of Podiatric Medicine in Chicago. "Negative heels are just a fad," he said. "If a person has a normal, healthy foot, I doubt if he'd have any problems, but I doubt if there'd be any advantage, either."

IT BOILS DOWN to a matter of degrees, said Dr. Fahey. "If you started people at birth with a mode of footwear, regardless of where the heel is, that's what they'll be most comfortable with," he said.

To get used to the negative heels, Earth Shoe salesman Brongiel said, "We recommend a program somewhat similar to that of contact lenses. First about an hour or so a day, two hours the second day and three the third and so on, so the muscles stretch out."

Except for the negative heels, doctors seem to like the shoes. "The shape of the shoe is excellent," said Dr. Moore. "It doesn't squeeze the toes."

There are lots of copies of the original Earth Shoes, but many of them do not have negative heels at all. "They look like ours, but inside they're different," said Brongiel.

Dr. Moore thinks the fake negative-heeled shoes are a pretty good idea. "But buying that kind of shoe is kind of like having a Volkswagen with a Rolls Royce front end."

The marriage savers

Many couples hide behind their kids

by JOANNE AND LEW KOCH
(Third in a series)

"You're not just marrying her, you're marrying her whole family." How many of us have heard a grandmother or aunt repeat that old saw? What a ridiculous idea, that a couple who will be living in another city and only seeing their families occasionally, will be "marrying that family."

But is the idea really so ridiculous? Consider some of the ways the family is still in the marriage. For one thing, the marriage may have been a reaction to the family of origin. Many marriages are overt, conscious escapes from home: "I married him to get away from my dad and mom fighting all the time."

Many people marry to get away from a family's coldness or repressiveness, or from their extreme protectiveness and "smother-love." Many marriages start with the premise that the formation of a new family can allow one to achieve independence from the old family.

But the old family has a way of making itself felt in every phase of the marriage, from a couple's sexual relations to their ways of parenting, to the concept of male and female roles.

FAMILY THERAPY is a very diversified approach which has one basic assumption: the family is a dynamic system which effects all its members and is affected by each member. A change in one member of the family means a change in the others. You can't just treat the so-called "sick" member of the family.

You must treat the entire family.

What does this mean for you as you grapple with marital problems? It means that if you see a family therapist, he or she will want to see you and your spouse. If there are children, they will want to see the whole family at some point in the therapy.

One method which family therapist James Framo uses is the "family of origin" session. Toward the end of the therapy program, when changes have occurred, Framo will suggest and urge the couple to bring in their mothers, fathers, sisters and brothers. He has had people come to his Philadelphia office from California and Texas.

The greatest problem in pulling together such a session is not the distance, but the fear and resistance of husband or wife. It is amazing how many adults are scared to death of spending two hours in the same room with their mother and father.

"ASK ME to climb Mt. Everest, ask me to swim the Atlantic, but don't ask me to bring my mother." That was one man's plea to Framo. But Framo is often able to overcome the initial resistance of his clients. Usually the results justify the effort. One woman finally consented to a "family-of-origin" session after great resistance. She viewed her mother as a towering figure "25 feet tall." Next to such a giant, she was a helpless, tiny child.

After a "family-of-origin" session, with her mother and father present, the woman's view was dramatically altered. "My mother kept getting shorter and shorter," she told Dr. Framo.

Most of us have a more or less distorted perspective of our parents. As Framo notes, "Most people upgrade or downgrade their parents. They don't get to know their parents as people."

One thrust, then, of family therapy is gaining a more realistic picture of the family members. Another crucial point is to view the family as a system.

The word "system" — as in "family system" — may not be one you are accustomed to using in connection with the family. It has the ring of something mechanical and inhuman. But to the family therapist "system" is a pattern of actions and interactions within a family. The health of the family depends on how the system functions. Is the family system open and flexible enough to allow each member to grow and change, or is it closed and repressive, making change difficult or impossible?

AS THERAPIST Virginia Satir notes, closed systems evolve from a certain set of beliefs which include the following:

- Man is basically evil and has to be controlled to be good.
- Relationships have to be regulated by force.
- There is one right way, and the one with the most power has it.
- There is always someone who knows what is best for you.

In closed systems, communications tend to be indirect. The opposite of the truth is often communicated — anger for hurt, blame for fear, indifference for love. Understandably, this mixed-up form of communication can have confusing effects.

Just as some marriages depend on the sickness, weakness or depression of husband or wife, some families depend on the sickness, misbehavior or problems of their children as a means of avoiding facing their own marital problems.

Men and women have a much easier time admitting they are having trouble with their child — that their child is "sick," misbehaving, having problems — than admitting that they are having trouble with their marriage.

Dr. Michael Solomon relates the case of a mother and father bringing in their 15-year-old daughter, claiming she had severe problems. During the first interview, the girl said, "To hell with all of you. I'm not coming back here if my life depends on it."

Next session, the parents returned alone. They told the therapist that the real reason they asked for treatment was that the father had punched the mother three weeks earlier over a package of marshmallow cookies. The mother was supposed to be losing weight and, like an alcoholic hiding the whiskey, she had stashed away these cookies. Her husband caught her eating them, became enraged and punched her.

According to Dr. Solomon, the couple went from being children to being parents without ever learning how to live as man and wife.

"The man lived alone with his mother and then got married. His wife had lost one of her parents early in life. The two of them were not adults who were marriageable, but children who needed parenting. They got married and lived with his mother and had no sexual contact for the first two years of their marriage."

"THEY MOVED away from his mother's house and tried sex. He had some problems with impotence, which didn't bother her because she wasn't thrilled about the whole thing in the first place. They had two children and put the children in between them."

We've heard many versions of this avoidance syndrome as we listened to different couples around the country. Couples can avoid dealing with many things quite well, especially when they have children. But when those children try to move out from center stage into their own lives, the parents will resist with all their might.

Without the child, they face life with a stranger — their mate.

Once a couple realizes that their child's "problem" is a smokescreen for their own difficulties, they have made the first important step.

The next step is deciding, in themselves, to work through their problems. A therapist can help, but no therapist is a magician. A marriage can grow and improve as the people are willing and able to grow and improve.

As family therapist Carl Whitaker expresses it, a therapist is like a piano teacher. "Some folks will come in and just bang on the piano and leave. Some will keep working and developing. Some will even wind up playing Beethoven."

You can ask self-supporting child to leave home at age 18, but...

Dear Atty. Martoccio,

How old must a child (female) be before you can tell her to leave your home and not be legally liable for her in any way? A.S.

Dear A.S.,

A parent is not expected to support a child or provide a home for her if she has reached 18 providing she is working or able to support herself. (This applies to 18 year old males, too.)

However, there are conditions that limit that statement. Your daughter must be physically, mentally and emotionally fit so that she may take her proper place in society and not become a burden on it.

STRICTLY SPEAKING, a parent is never completely free of responsibility for his or her child.

If your daughter should become ill or incapacitated in any way, you would be legally bound to take care of her for the rest of her life, if necessary.

If the above conditions have been met, and if you have not co-signed or assumed any financial responsibilities for her which involve a third party, or if you have not acted as her agent and thereby assumed a responsibility, you have the right to ask her to leave.

An interesting sidelight on the question of a child's emancipation is the concept followed in the ancient Roman Empire, and which had been followed almost until modern times. A formal proceeding was required by law. If a father decided that his 17-year-old son could take care of himself, he would accompany the youth to court and make a statement that would become part of a court record.

Thereafter, the boy would give up whatever rights and disabilities he had as a minor in exchange for the rights and responsibilities of an adult, freeing his father from the obligation of taking care of him. This, of course, did not apply to girls.

Dear Atty. Martoccio,

Now that spring is here, my 12-year-old son has been pestering me about a summer job. He is a golf enthusiast and would like a job as a caddy. I've discouraged the idea because I think he's too young but promised that if you say it's legal, I'll consent. At what age may a child begin to work? F.G.

Dear F.G.,

The child Labor Law of Illinois establishes the number of hours of work and the conditions under which minors under 16 may work. The earliest age is 14. Don't ask my why, but this does not include caddying. A child may caddy at 13.

I TRIED TO figure out the reason for the exception and could come up only with the fact that the legislators felt the fresh air and sunshine, plus the fun involved, would help to prepare a 13-year-old on the brink of teenhood for the difficult period ahead.

(Readers are invited to submit questions regarding legal problems of women and children. Names and facts that would identify the writer are withheld on request. Attorney Martoccio's column is to inform and not advise. Write to her in care of Suburban Living, Paddock Publications, Box 280, Arlington Heights, Ill. 60006.)

The doctor says

by Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

Child may have high blood pressure, too

My 14-year-old daughter recently had her blood pressure taken. They took two readings and it was 158 over 97 and 144. They said this was high for age and weight. She is 5 feet 2 and weighs 166 pounds. She is otherwise very healthy and active. Should I have this checked further?

Yes, both of these readings would be considered borderline even if your daughter were a mature young lady. They are sufficiently high to warrant at least a recheck.

A 14-year-old girl should have a lower blood pressure than a mature young woman. Body size is a factor, and since she is already 5 feet 2, she would be physically comparable to a small-sized mature young woman.

The purpose of such blood pressure screening checks is to identify the person who needs a more careful examination. They are not used for a diagnosis.

It may well be that when your daughter is evaluated under different and quieter circumstances that her blood pressure may be entirely normal. But on the other hand if it is not, then her doctor will undoubtedly want to study her a little more thoroughly to see what probabilities she has of having high blood pressure in the future. Those who want additional information on the mechanism of blood pressure can send 50 cents for The Health Letter, number 1-8, Blood Pressure. Send a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for mailing. Address your letter to me in care of Paddock Publications, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019.

Could you please say something about the use of olive oil in preparing of foods? I have always thought it to be for cholesterol diets. I use corn oil in most foods but enjoy the flavor of foods cooked with olive oil.

None of the vegetable oils contain cholesterol. Cholesterol is an animal product. The other important consideration in the choice of an oil is how much saturated fat and how much polyunsaturated fat it contains. Olive oil is good since only about 11 per cent of its fat is saturated fat. Only seven per cent of its fat is polyunsaturated fat, so it doesn't increase the polyunsaturated fat intake to any degree.

Some authorities think that increased amounts of polyunsaturated fats in the diet are useful. The general thinking today, however, is that significantly increasing the polyunsaturated fat level about 10 per cent of the total calorie intake probably doesn't help at all, but you do need a small amount.

The rest of the fat in olive oil is monounsaturated fat. It is not classified as either good or bad, but just adds to the total fat intake. Authorities on diets to prevent heart and vascular disease think no more than 35 per cent of all of your calories should come from any fat, saturated, monounsaturated, polyunsaturated, animal or vegetable.

For comparison, 10 per cent of the fat in corn oil is saturated and 53 per cent is polyunsaturated. Safflower oil has the least saturated fat and most polyunsaturated fat. Eight per cent of its fat is saturated and 72 per cent is polyunsaturated. These statements are based on food values from the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Husband wants English custard of his boyhood

Dear Dorothy: My husband has been in this country for many years but he still talks about the wonderful custard he had as a boy in England. Could you possibly get such a recipe? — Ann Munroe

They never change, do they? His ribs was born in England, too, and his favorite food has always been the boiled custard his mother used to make. The recipe was passed down to me and here it is:

Blend four tablespoons sugar, one tablespoon cornstarch with one-fourth teaspoon salt and add a slightly beaten egg. Slowly add two cups scalded milk, stirring as you do. Cook over simmering water and take off just before it starts to curdle. I cheat a little — letting it curdle — then I know it's done. Then beating for one minute with an egg beater takes care of the curdling. Add one teaspoon vanilla, strain and pour into custard cups. It makes four average servings. Even our grandchildren make a big to-do about it.

Dear Dorothy: Don't you think it's time you cautioned readers never to mix chlorine bleach with a toilet bowl cleaner? We sort of look to you for the simple verities around the home. — Joy Brinn

Yes. It's a warning that really can't be mentioned too often. The combination can cause deadly fumes. It's important, too, to caution those who plan to mix chlorine bleach with a cleanser to make sure the cleanser is not one containing any kind of chlorine.

Dear Dorothy: I keep hearing that keeping a bar of naphtha soap in the crotch of a dogwood will keep borers away. I'm willing, but when are you supposed to do this? — Frank Griffith

Now. Any time. In fact, it's a good idea to keep a piece of naphtha there at all times.

(Mrs. Ritz welcomes questions and hints. If a personal reply is required, please enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope. Write to Dorothy Ritz in care of Suburban Living, Paddock Publications, Box 280, Arlington Heights, Ill. 60005.)

Fragrance garden earns $500 award for woman's club

Arlington Heights Woman's Club has been selected as one of two national winners in the special Bicentennial Awards category of the Business for Beauty program. First place honors in the competition went to the Everidge Woman's Club of Asheville, N.C. The Paxton (Ill.) Woman's Club was the other national runner-up.

Business for Beauty is a national program to improve the visual environment which is co-sponsored by the General Federation of Women's Clubs and Cities Service Company. Initiated in 1968, the program has recognized more than 3,000 business establishments for renovation and landscaping work during the 1974-76 campaign. The Bicentennial Awards category recognizes the best over-all community improvement, beautification or conservation project conducted by a GFWC organization during this Bicentennial year.

THE MAJOR PROJECT conducted by Arlington Heights Woman's Club was the construction of a Fragrance and Recreational Garden for the handicapped at Kirk Northwest Developmental Training Center in Palatine. Designed as a vocational and educational project for the pupils, whose ages range from 5 to 21, the garden features a variety of plantings arranged to appeal to the senses of the handicapped.

Different types of trees and wide walkways provide enjoyment for the blind, raised sections of flowers and herbs are available for touch, and additional beds include plants of varying textures and vegetables.

A runner-up prize of $500 will be presented to the club at the GFWC national convention in Philadelphia on June 18. The national winner will receive an award of $1,776 during the ceremonies.

Mrs. William Stark is president of the Arlington club; Mrs. Laddie Poduska is project chairman.

Here are tips on eyeglasses

To find a pair of eyeglasses at maximum performance and minimal cost is not always an easy task. Frances Shapiro, who runs one of New York's best known eye centers, offers these tips.

Be aware that many fashionable plastic frames are made with hidden hinges that can't be repaired. If you choose plastic frames, make sure the temples are reinforced by a metal strip inside. Metal frames are less likely to have hidden hinges than plastic ones, but some thin metal frames — like the popular aviator style — bend easily and require more care when worn.

Both plastic and glass lenses are shatterproof as required by federal law, but plastic is harder to break, she says. Plastic lenses cost a little more and are harder to break than glass, but they scratch much more easily.

If the frames you select are large, you'll need an over-sized lens that costs more. Shapiro says you can count on 20 per cent more for glass lenses and 30 per cent more for plastic. If you plan to have your lenses tinted, that adds another $5-$10 to the price.

Closet glamour

As an alternative to just cleaning your closet, why not do something special with the closet itself?

Glamour Magazine suggests you give your closet a little class. If it's a hall closet that guests can get a peek at when they hang their coats, try coordinating closet colors with the overall color scheme of your entranceway or front room.

Paint the inside with a high gloss white or bright color or apply self-adhesive paper to the walls. Use an old piece of carpeting or slick on tiles for the floor.

To get the most out of available closet space, you can try double-hanging your clothes, the magazine suggests. Buy an expansion rod at a department store and place it halfway between the closet rung and the floor.

Wacky Want Ads of History CONTEST!

SECOND PRIZE $50
3RD thru 7TH PRIZES $10

HERE'S ALL YOU DO:

Compose a fictional Want Ad such as might have been written by a famous person in history (Paul Revere, Moses, Cleopatra, etc.) or by a well-known fictional character (Sherlock Holmes, Hamlet, Superman, etc.) and keep it to 25 words or less. Fill out the official entry blank for a reasonable fee ($1.00) and mail it to: The Herald Wacky Want Ad Contest, P.O. Box 280, Arlington Heights, Ill. 60006. Entries must be postmarked no later than Wednesday, June 23, 1976. All set! Good luck!

CONTEST RULES

1. The "Wacky Want Ads of History" contest is open to anyone residing in the circulation area of The Herald, except employees of The Herald and their immediate families. No purchase necessary.
2. All entries must be submitted on official contest entry blanks or on reasonable facsimiles; they must be original and should not exceed 25 words in length. Entries must be postmarked no later than Wednesday, June 23, 1976.
3. Winning entries will be selected by The Herald on the basis of originality and humor. Opinions of the judges will be final; all entries become the property of The Herald and cannot be returned.
4. Winning entries and authors' names will be announced in The Herald on Saturday, July 3, 1976.

YES... you may enter this contest more than once. Just be sure each entry is on a separate entry blank or reasonable facsimile. It's OK to mail them all together.

SAMPLE "WACKY WANT ADS OF HISTORY"

Read these to get the general idea... then make up your own.

WANTED: Person for ceramic work. Must be good at fitting small pieces. Urgent. Matter of life or death. Call Humpty Dumpty.

FOR SALE: Surprise the kids with this giant wooden horse! Like new — used only once for a coming out party. Contact Ulysses Troy.

WANTED: Merry men for outdoor work. Must be skilled with bow and arrow. Fast on foot. Uniforms and matching pantyhose supplied. Join R. Hood, Sherwood Forest.

Women prefer luck

Researchers at Purdue University found women prefer games of luck, and men, games of skill. They reached this conclusion after testing men and women in laboratory games and at a state fair.

Cupid's Deadlines:

Engagements due at least six weeks before wedding date.
Marriages due three weeks after wedding for complete story; five weeks after wedding for brief story.
Further information, call 394-2300 ext. 262 or 251.

Guest to tour 4 homes on 'Walk in the Country'

The Service League for Handicapped Children will host its fourth annual "Walk in the Country" tour of homes next Tuesday in the Farmington-Lake Grove area. Set amid rolling hills, the four homes on display are of varied architectural design.

The walk begins at 10 a.m. and continues until 3 p.m. A parking area is provided for those arriving, and from there they will go by bus to the homes. Advance tickets are $3.

Tickets the day of the walk will be $3.50, available at any of the homes

Happenings

On the tour. On that day, guests should drive into the parking lot (on Rand Road north of Lake Cook Road at gates marked "Farmington"), board the bus and pay their admission at the first home they tour.

Proceeds will go to the Willett Treatment Center of the Easter Seal Society of Metropolitan Chicago. The Service League is a group of Northwest suburban women who raise funds for equipment and salaries at the Willett Center.

Come for coffee

Elk Grove Village Newcomers Club

invites all new women residents to a coffee at the home of Marci Smith, 456 Elk Grove Blvd., next Wednesday at 8 p.m. Anyone interested in further information may call Linda Angio, membership chairman, 894-6618.

Club cited for veterans' service

The Veterans Service Department of Mount Prospect Woman's Club earned a first place award for its year's efforts at the Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs convention, held May 13 at the Palmer House, Chicago.

Mrs. Roy L. Duda is chairman of the group of women who meet regularly to sew scuffles and knit afghans which go to various veterans' hospitals in the state.

The club also recently received a "citation of achievement for community improvement programs" from Sears Roebuck Co. The group continually supports a variety of activities and projects to serve residents of the village.

Walker for Carter announcement today

by STEVE BROWN

Gov. Daniel Walker will end his neutral role in the Democratic Presidential nomination race today by endorsing ex-Governor Jimmy Carter at a pair of California press conferences.

Walker's endorsement plans were closely guarded by Walker aides in Illinois and Carter campaign officials on the West Coast.

In addition to the California appearances, Walker is expected to campaign for Carter in other states holding primary elections next week, including Ohio.

Walker was reared in San Diego. A number of California observers said the governor is highly respected in the state primarily for his maverick political style and his fights with Mayor Richard J. Daley's political organization.

JOHN ROBERTS, Carter's Northern California coordinator, said Walker will hold press conferences in Los Angeles and San Francisco to announce his support for Carter who is facing a tough fight in the June 8 primary there.

The Herald reported Tuesday Walker and several key aides were in California for a number of speaking engagements and newspaper interviews.

Walker aides in Illinois were evasive when questioned about the governor's unannounced trip. Mark Clark, a Walker press aide, said the governor had a speaking engagement and a reunion with old friends.

"We asked them to be vague because we wanted to make the announcement a surprise," Roberts said. He was unsure how much campaigning Walker will do for Carter before the primary there or in other states.

Walker offered no hint of his Carter announcement during several

Kentucky gives Ford upset win over Reagan

By United Press International

President Ford scored a major upset in Kentucky, threatened a second in Tennessee but lost Arkansas Tuesday in his bitter GOP fight with Ronald Reagan. Jimmy Carter romped to victory in all three southern and border states.

But early returns indicated trouble for both Ford and Carter in Nevada and Idaho as vote totals struggled in from the western states in the record six primary hoedown. Ford led Reagan in early Oregon returns.

Reagan, the conservative crusader from California, took strong leads over Ford in both Nevada and Idaho. Frank Church was crushing Carter in his native Idaho and Carter was running behind California Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr. in Nevada.

Here's how the vote shaped up late Tuesday:

- Nevada — Reagan led Ford 66 to 30 per cent with 2 per cent of the precincts reporting. Brown had 48 per cent, Carter 23 and Church 9.

- Idaho — With 49 per cent of the precincts counted, Reagan led Ford 74 to 25 per cent. Church had an 81-12 per cent lead over Carter.

- Tennessee — Ford was leading Reagan 50-49 with 88 per cent of the precincts voting. Carter polled 77 per cent of the vote.

- Arkansas — With 92 per cent of the precincts in, Reagan had a commanding 64 to 35 per cent lead over Ford. Carter swept the field with 62 per cent.

- Kentucky — Ford and Carter won. With 99 per cent of the precincts counted, Ford led Reagan 51 to 47 per cent. Carter won in a runaway with 59 per cent of the vote.

- Oregon — With 11 per cent of the votes in, Ford led Reagan 52 to 48 per cent. Church was leading Carter 36 to 27 per cent.

Ford's victory in Kentucky was a crucial breakthrough into Reagan's "Sun Belt" stronghold and it came in a state where the former California governor earlier was a heavy favorite to win.

But Ford picked up strong momentum last week with landslide victories in Michigan and Maryland and moved into a commanding lead in the number of pledged delegates when party leaders moved

Elizabeth Ray was my mistress: Hays

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. Wayne Hays confessed to a hushed House of Representatives Tuesday that he did have a mistress on the Congressional payroll and tried to cover up the affair to protect "the woman I love" — his bride of a few weeks.

"I have committed the grievous error of not telling all the facts," the 65-year-old Ohio Democrat, his voice catching with emotion, told some 300 stunned and silent colleagues only hours after he had branded his accuser — Elizabeth Ray — a liar.

Hays admitted he had an affair with Miss Ray, but he also said: "I stand by my previous denial of Miss Ray's allegation she was hired to be my mistress."

Before his speech, 28 House members asked the House Ethics Committee to investigate Miss Ray's claims that Hays got her a $14,000 a year Congressional staff job last year where, until April, her only duties were to have dinner and sex with him about once a week.

At the start of the day, Hays also demanded the Ethics panel "clear my name" and said, "her lies must be laid bare." Hours later, Wayne Hays — one of the toughest and most powerful men in Congress — went before the House to explain and apologize.

He said he was human. He said, "I have erred."

"Six weeks ago I married the woman I love more than anyone else," he said. "Prior to that time I had a relationship with Elizabeth Ray."

"I was then legally separated and single and it was voluntary on her part and on mine."

But Hays maintained he recommended Miss Ray for the Congressional job in 1975 — after their affair had begun — on the understanding she would perform secretarial duties. He said he broke off the affair before his mid-April marriage to Patricia Peak,

At Oakton Street site

Developer asked to amend plans

The Des Plaines Plan Commission, in an attempt to appease nearby residents, has asked builders of a 25-acre development at 850 Oakton St. to eliminate all commercial and mid-rise condominium buildings from their plans.

The builder, Fred Owens, of the O'Hare Development Co., Des Plaines, has been at odds with residents for more than a year over a request to rezone the property from single-family residential to commercial and multi-family use.

The developer has presented two revised plans for the project, but all have met opposition from about 60 residents, most of whom live in the Oakton Street-Webster Lane area.

THE LATEST PLAN calls for construction of a 50,000 square-foot shopping mall, a two-story office building, a four-story nursing home, 54 townhouses, 156 coach house condominiums (eight units per building) and two five-story condominium-apartment buildings.

Michael Richardson, city director of planning and zoning, said members of the plan commission Monday night asked the developer to eliminate the shopping mall, office building, nursing home and five-story condominium apartments from their plans, and replace them with coach house condominiums.

"Right now they are kind of negotiating to find some sort of compromise solution that everyone can live with," he said. "Some residents said they only want single-family homes built, but I got the impression some might be willing to compromise."

The plan commission will conduct another meeting on the proposed project at 8 p.m. June 14 in the Des Plaines Civic Center, 1420 Miner St.

WILLIAM J. MOORE, attorney for the developer, attended the Monday night meeting but said he was unable to comment on the plan commission's request without consulting Owens. Owens and Moore could not be reached for comment Tuesday.

Residents said they believe the commercial area, nursing home and mid-

Hearings on unit district slated to start July 8

Public hearings on petitions seeking to form an Elk Grove Township unit school district will begin July 8 at 7 p.m. at the Elk Grove High School theater, 500 Elk Grove Blvd., Elk Grove Village.

The hearing will only cover the procedural issues related to the petition process. Procedural issues include the form of the petition, boundary lines and signatures on the petitions.

All evidence for or against the petition's filing requirements must be presented to Richard Martwick, county schools superintendent, at least seven days before the hearing date.

Following the hearing on the procedural issues, Martwick will set hearing dates for discussion of substantive issues, including the financial and educational considerations in the unit district consolidation.

THE PROPOSED UNIT district will include Forest View and Elk Grove high schools in addition to Elk Grove Township Dist. 59 schools. It will place the elementary and high schools under one school board and administration.

Currently, Dist. 59 is one of seven elementary districts in the High School Dist. 214 area.

Through the hearing process, anyone affected by the unit district consolidation can present evidence for or against the issue. Martwick will make a recommendation on the petitions to the state schools superintendent who will decide whether an election will be held.

rise buildings will create traffic congestion and be a detriment to the single-family houses in the area.

The development, which is bounded by Oakton Street, Webster Lane, Forest Avenue and Fourth Avenue, is now the site of a greenhouse.

Moore said last month the latest plan proposed by the developer was a "meritorious compromise" from the previous plans, saying it would be compatible with the area and an asset to the community.

Richardson said, however, he believes the elimination of the commercial area and five-story buildings would make the development more compatible with the surrounding area.

"I think the development would be much better if it were all residential," he said. "I don't know whether that is economically feasible, but I think that would have a lot less impact on traffic congestion and problems in the area."

City files complaint naming MSD

Des Plaines has filed a complaint with the Illinois Pollution Control Board in an attempt to require the Metropolitan Sanitary District to meet state environmental standards in construction of the O'Hare Water Reclamation Plant.

Ald. Alan Abrams, 8th, chairman of the city code and judiciary committee, said the complaint probably will not block construction of the controversial plant, but may force the MSD to meet higher pollution control standards than the district currently follows.

"It would be unlikely the complaint would hold up construction," he said. "What we hope the pollution control board will do is set standards on emissions and contaminants that can be released by the plant."

THE PLANT, proposed for 106 acres at the southwest corner of Elmhurst Road and Oakton Street, will treat 72 million gallons of sewage a day. It also is expected to relieve flooding in Des Plaines, Mount Prospect and Elk Grove Village.

Des Plaines officials have been fighting construction of the plant since 1965, saying it will pose a health hazard to nearby residents. The city objects to emission standards used by the MSD.

There still is a case pending before

U. S. District Court in which the city is challenging the environmental impact study that gave federal approval for the plant's location. A ruling on the case is expected June 7.

Abrams said city officials were going to wait for the ruling before filing the complaint with the Illinois Pollution Control Board but decided it would be wise to take the action sooner.

"We thought it would be better to get our objections known now rather than to wait any longer," Abrams said.

THE MSD BOARD last week approved a $114.8 million construction contract for the plant. Forrest Neal, chief engineer for the MSD, said work on the plant probably will not begin until the end of June.

Des Plaines recently lost a battle before the Illinois Supreme Court over city contentions that the MSD should be required to follow strict local health ordinances governing sewage emissions from the plant. The high court ruled the city has no authority to regulate regional agencies.

Elk Grove Village officials have joined the MSD in opposing Des Plaines officials, saying the plant is needed to alleviate chronic flooding problems in the village.

Suitcase boobytrap kills 2

Tel Aviv airport bombed

TEL AVIV, Israel (UPI) — A blond passenger who "looked like a hippie" set off a boobytrapped suitcase during a search at Ben-Gurion airport Tuesday, touching off a thunderous explosion that killed two persons and wounded 19 others.

Authorities said the passenger and a woman security guard were killed by the blast that rocked the arrival hall and sent glass flying across the terminal building. One of the injured was in grave condition.

Hundreds of panic-stricken passengers fled as three other explosions shook the airport in an afternoon of terror.

"What have you done to me? What have you done to me?" screamed a woman whose hair was set on fire by the first explosion. A customs worker pushed her to the ground and smothered the flames with his body.

Authorities said the suspicious passenger, carrying a Dutch passport in the name of Hugo Mueller, was taken to a special security room adjacent to the customs hall. The explosion came when a woman security guard forced him to open his luggage.

The passenger who arrived in Tel Aviv on an Austrian Airlines jet from Vienna was described as being "not very clean with long blond hair."

"He looked like a hippie," an Austrian Airlines official said in Tel Aviv. Authorities said security forces are investigating the possibility that the man killed was connected with an Arab guerrilla organization.

Israeli newspaper reports said Tuesday authorities had received warnings that international guerrilla Ilich Ramirez Sanchez, nicknamed Carlos, was planning attacks on Israeli targets, but it was not known if he had anything to do with the explosions in Tel Aviv.

A second suitcase accompanying the passenger from Vienna exploded harmlessly as security guards dragged it with a rope from the terminal building.

The dead and injured were taken to nearby Tel Hashomer and Assaf Harefo hospitals by ambulances and helicopters.

Within minutes after the explosion, security men found the second suspicious suitcase and began dragging it out with a rope. The bomb exploded harmlessly 30 minutes after the initial blast. Two more suspicious suitcases were removed and turned over to explosives experts.

Police reinforcements rushed to the airport to back up Ben Gurion's regular security staff and sealed off the entire airport. Hundreds of incoming passengers and others were forced to remain at the airport until security forces finally decided to let them out.

The blasts came almost four years after three Japanese Maoist guerrillas sprayed incoming passengers at the airport, then known as Lod, with bullets and grenades, killing 26 persons and wounding 79.

The world

Giscard may abandon Lebanon troop offer

Opposition from the Arabs and mounting hostility within France will force President Valéry Giscard d'Estaing to abandon his offer to send peacekeeping troops to Lebanon, Arab diplomatic sources in Paris said Tuesday. Giscard's suggestion has already backfired into the worst political controversy since he was elected in 1974. Diplomatic sources said the damage done to the French cause in the Arab world may be long in passing. Giscard made the offer in New Orleans last Friday night at the end of his state visit to the United States.

Check ordered on Castro-Angola issue

Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger Tuesday ordered an intelligence check on Cuban Premier Fidel Castro's statement he is pulling combat troops out of Angola in what diplomats said could be the first triumph of America's new Africa policy. "If it turns out to be correct, we consider it a positive development," Kissinger told reporters aboard his plane flying to London from Luxembourg for a Central Treaty Organization council meeting. "And we of course insist that all Cuban troops must be withdrawn from Angola and a partial withdrawal would not meet our requirement," he said.

The nation

Rigged military tests standard: ex-Marine

A former Marine recruiting sergeant testified Tuesday it is standard practice to rig intelligence tests and falsify enlistees' physical and police records to get them into the Marine Corps. A Marine private told the House military manpower subcommittee Tuesday a drill sergeant shot him in the hand and a former Marine said he slashed his wrists in a suicide attempt after instructors called him "crazy." The recruiter said more than half the recruits he sent to boot camp were signed up illegally.

Social program 'super cop' opposed

The administration voiced strong opposition Tuesday to legislation proposing a "super cop" to investigate fraud and abuse in over $118 billion worth of social programs. The legislation would create an HEW office of Inspector General headed by a presidential appointee confirmed by the Senate and removable from a 10-year term only by impeachment. Undersecretary Marjorie Lynch of Health, Education and Welfare told a House subcommittee an independent inspector general "could seriously hamper the secretary's ability to manage the department."

Senate debates antitrust measure

The Senate Tuesday began debate on a sweeping antitrust bill in the face of staunch opposition by filibuster-threatening conservatives who called it unconstitutional. The bill, approved 10 to 5 last month by the Judiciary Committee, would impose tough pre-merger notification rules on businesses and give states the power to recover treble pricefixing damages on behalf of their citizens.

Athens police, demonstrators clash

ATHENS, Greece (UPI) — Battle-clad riot police and striking demonstrators fought running battles in Athens Tuesday in the worst rioting since Premier Constantine Karamanlis replaced the military dictatorship with a civilian government.

A 65-year-old woman was run down and killed by a police armored car and more than 99 persons were injured in the rioting which erupted during an attempted march on parliament to protest a parliament bill to forbid wildcat strikes.

A spokesman said demonstrators opened fire on helmeted, club-wielding policemen, but that the gunfire caused no casualties. Police cordoned off the building near the Polytechnic school in the city center from which the shots came.

Police said 99 persons were injured, including 60 policemen. Three police-aided demonstrators tried to march on parliament to protest the anti-wildcat strikes measure.

The clashes that began at noon and

continued into the evening represented the worst disturbances in Greece since July 1974 on the first anniversary of the restoration of democracy.

It was the first time anyone has been killed in disturbances since the student rebellion at Polytechnic on Nov. 1, 1973, which led to the overthrow of dictator George Papadopoulos and the most widespread since July, 1974 on the first anniversary of the restoration of democracy.

The clashes came on the second day of a 48-hour nationwide strike called by leftist unions to protest the new bill. They erupted when some 2,000 striking construction workers and students tried to stage a protest march on parliament, now debating the bill.

Witnesses said riot police charged into scattered groups of demonstrators and the strikers fought back with sticks and rocks. Police in armored cars barged through makeshift barricades and hurled tear gas canisters into the crowds. The demonstrators lit bonfires to burn off the gas and put fire to drums of newsprint outside a newspaper office.

Other demonstrators stoned buses, pressed into service to replace strike-bound streetcars, and shops, shattering windows.

a secretary in his Ohio Congressional office.

He said Miss Ray "became hysterical and threatened suicide and threatened blackmail and to destroy my marriage. My first reaction was to protect my marriage and my dear wife..."

"I have been called more names in the press and elsewhere than any member of this House," Hays said. "I have been called arrogant, ruthless, cold-blooded, vicious, temperamental and mean... I am also a human being capable of emotions and errors and I have erred."

"My conscience is now clear," he said. "I hope the Washington Post and Miss Ray can say the same. Only time will tell if Miss Ray has been successful in destroying my career. I pray to God she has not destroyed my marriage."

The Hays-Ray disclosures rocked Congress like no event since former Rep. Wilbur Mills' liaison with exotic dancer Fanne Foxe came to light in 1974.

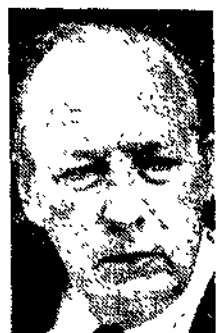

But with Mills the alleged misbehavior was private. With Hays, it involved the charge by the 33-year-old blonde Miss Ray that Hays, in effect, kept a mistress on the public payroll. The Justice Department has ordered the FBI to determine whether Hays in fact misused federal funds.

Until Monday, when Hays fired her, Miss Ray was on a subcommittee staff of the House Administration Committee — chaired by Hays.

He said she had worked for his committee in 1974, quit and asked for her job back last summer. The office of Rep. Mendel Davis, D-S.C., an administration subcommittee chairman, hired her on Hays' recommendation that "she was able to perform normal office duties."

huge blocks of uncommitted delegates into his corner. Carter was reaping 103 delegates, giving him 848 of the 1,505 needed for nomination by UPI's count. Reagan was leading Ford 82-63 in delegates chosen Tuesday. In all there were 179 Democratic delegates up for grabs, 176 Republicans.

As the returns started coming in from Kentucky and Tennessee, Ford — stumping in California — said "I'm smiling I just can't help it. Those are darned good figures."

And Carter, the front-runner for the Democratic nomination, said in New York that early returns from the two states showed he has "done well." He expressed hope that, according to his count, he would climb over the coveted 1,000 mark by the end of the night.

Ford moved into an immediate lead in Kentucky and never was challenged by Reagan.

In Tennessee, however, Ford lost an early lead to Reagan, then bounced back and began building a steadily-mounting margin. Ford ran extremely well in East Tennessee but Reagan scored in the central and western areas of the state and in areas controlled by Alabama Gov. George Wallace four years ago.

Carter's triumphs in Tennessee, Arkansas and Kentucky were anticipated — as were his large margins. His only opposition came from a defeat-scared Alabama Gov. George Wallace, whose popularity has plummeted even in the South, and a token effort by Rep. Morris Udall of Arizona.

But his biggest tests were in the West where he desperately sought a victory to offset a sudden series of reversals which included defeats in Maryland and Nebraska, and an extremely close call in Michigan.

In Missouri, Democrats elected 54 of 71 delegates to the summer's national convention. Early reports gave Carter, backed by the party hierarchy, 9 delegates and 2 were uncommitted.

FAA monitors noisy takeoff of Concorde

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The supersonic Concorde airplanes of France and Britain winged their way back to Europe Tuesday to complete the first trans-Atlantic commercial flights at twice the speed of sound.

The sleek Air France jet had 80 passengers aboard for the three-hour, 50-minute trip to Paris — half the normal time. Less than one hour later, it was followed by a sister ship of British Airways.

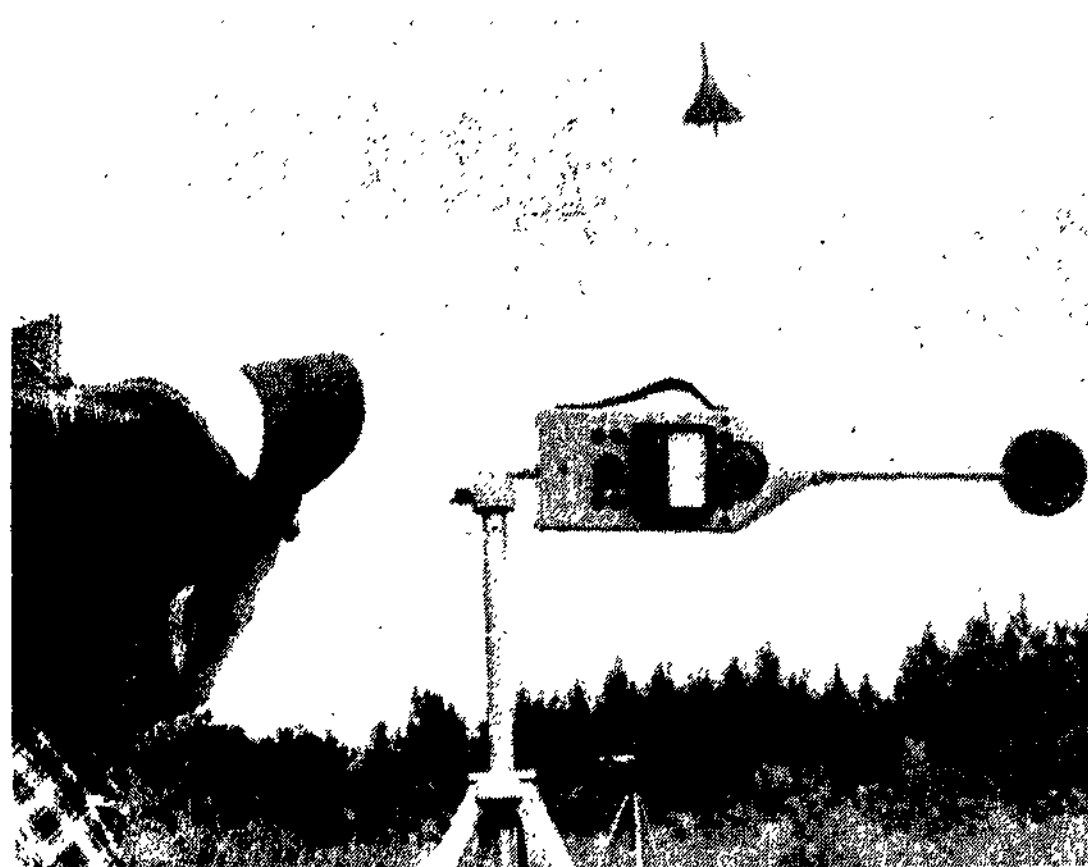

Despite months of protest from environmentalists, no demonstrators were on hand for the takeoffs.

About 1,000 persons watched the historic departures, compared with up to 10,000 who jammed the airport to watch the arrivals, which Federal Aviation Administration officials said measured quieter than a Boeing 707 aircraft.

For the takeoff, however, the FAA said its monitors showed the French SST was noisier than a number of aircraft leaving the same runway.

The Concorde registered 129 perceived noise decibels, as compared to a DC8 which registered 109 to 112; a Boeing 707 registered 113 and another 707 registered 111.

No figures were available for the British twin's takeoff. "Due to pilot request for change of runway, mobile monitoring equipment was not in position for takeoff," the FAA said.

A FEDERAL AVIATION Administration technician takes a noise level reading on Concorde supersonic airliner as it took off from Dulles International Airport Tuesday. The FAA reported its meters showed the French Concorde was the noisiest of a number of aircraft leaving the same runway.

• Carol Neblett, who caused an opera sensation when she performed nude in a New Orleans production of Massenet's "Thais," received rave reviews and a standing ovation from the audience when she made her debut at the Vienna State Opera Monday. The California-born soprano sang the lead in Puccini's "Girl of the Golden West."

• Sherie Darvell, a 24-year-old blonde allegedly held captive by the legendary "Big Foot" for two days in Humboldt County California, had some explaining to do Tuesday to grim authorities who carried out a massive search operation in the remote mountains of Northern California. "She certainly smelled pretty sweet for having been carried off by a smelly old beast," said Sheriff's deputy Frank Wigginton. Miss Darvell's companions, who had been probing the legend of "Big Foot," reported her carried off by the monster on Saturday.

In general...

The Randhurst Council of PTA's will host information workshops at 7:30 p.m., today at River Trails Junior High School, 1000 W. Wolf Rd., Mount Prospect.

The workshops are offered to incoming officers and leaders of school PTA boards in Districts 57, 59, 21, 23 and 26 and are directed by the Randhurst Council officers and leaders.

St. James School

Construction of a paper city by third and fourth graders of St. James School, 821 N. Arlington Heights Rd., Arlington Heights, starts at 8:45 a.m. Friday. This art project coordinated by Sister Beata is the second city. Last year the children built the city of St. Louis complete with Arch.

Elk Grove Township Dist. 59

Third grade classes of Rupley School, 305 E. Oakton St., Elk Grove Village, will perform "My Brother Sam is Dead" in the school library at 12:30 p.m. today.

The performance is in observance of America's 200th birthday and will be directed by the third grade teachers, Carol Schechter, Bea Nissenson and Carol Wilson.

High School Dist. 214

Gretchen Helbig has been accepted for membership in the U.S. Collegiate Wind Band, a highly selective musical organization which will make a concert tour of seven European countries in July and August.

Cash, valuables stolen from rooms

Burglars stole more than $2,000 in cash and valuables after breaking into two rooms at the Chelsea Motor Inn, 1275 Lee St., Des Plaines, police said Tuesday.

Stephen Boyke and James Stade told police a television set, stereo equipment, tapes, clothing and cash valued at nearly $1,800 were discovered stolen from their room late Monday.

Police also said $195 in cash was stolen from a room being occupied by David Gershon, late Monday or early Tuesday. The burglars had ransacked a desk where the cash was kept in an envelope.

In both thefts, the doors had been forced open, police said.

Udall, Muskie paired to win

Mock convention teaches politics

If students at Hersey and Buffalo Grove high schools had their way, U.S. Rep. Morris Udall, D-Arizona, would be leading the Democratic ticket in Presidential elections this fall and U.S. Sen. Edmund Muskie, D-Maine, would be his running-mate.

The ticket was the result of balloting Tuesday by about 500 students from the two schools who acted as delegates in a mock Democratic convention.

Udall was chosen on the third ballot with 1,684 votes. To win the Presidential nomination, a candidate had to receive 1,509 of the 3,020 votes.

Muskie was nominated for vice president with 1,326 votes. Former Georgia Gov. Jimmy Carter, now leading the race for delegates in state primaries, was the runner-up in both categories in the mock convention.

THE CONVENTION was held to give students an understanding of how the nominating process works, said Hersey teacher Charles Birch. The students spent several days researching the primary results in the states they represented.

Students were told to vote according to the primary results on the convention's first ballot. When no candidate received the nomination, campaign strategy took over and student delegates began to change their votes.

The delegates caucused before the convention and attempted to make political deals with other state delegations. Speeches were prepared extolling the virtues of candidates.

Before suspect's trial

Court gags Columbo investigators

A Cook County Circuit Court judge Tuesday issued an order prohibiting prosecutors and police from making out-of-court statements that might prejudice the murder trial of Patricia Ann Columbo.

Presiding Judge Richard J. Fitzgerald of the criminal court issued the order at the request of the Cook County Public Defender's office which is representing Miss Columbo, charged with the murders of her parents and 13-year-old brother in their Elk Grove Village home.

John Moran, chief of the appeals division for the public defender's office, said however, the order does not restrict the news media from reporting on the case.

BUT ELK GROVE Village and other police agencies, along with the state's attorney's office, court reporters and clerks could be held in contempt of court if they violate the order, Moran said.

Moran said the muzzle on police and prosecutors was requested because of previous public statements that impair Miss Columbo's right to a fair and impartial trial.

The order bans them from public discussion of Miss Columbo's prior criminal record, opinions as to her guilt, confessions or evidence in the case, Moran said.

Miss Columbo is charged with murder and conspiracy to commit murder in the triple slayings of her father, Frank, mother, Mary, and brother, Michael, earlier this month.

THE BODIES OF the three were found tortured, shot, stabbed and beaten to death May 7 in their home, 55 E. Brantwood Ave., Elk Grove Village.

The order also bars grand jury members from making "extra-judicial," or out-of-court public statements on the identity and credibility of witnesses statements that could further prejudice the trial, Moran said.

"An abundance of unsupportive comment," has come from grand jury proceedings into the matter he said.

Public defenders representing Miss Columbo had requested a similar order earlier in the Niles branch of circuit court on which a decision was pending, but Moran said that request would probably be withdrawn.

Miss Columbo has been ordered to undergo psychiatric tests to determine if she is fit to stand trial and will appear June 4 in the Niles court branch.

Clavey knew about illegal wiretaps, aide tells court

Former Lake County Sheriff Orville S. (Pat) Clavey knew of illegal sheriff department wiretapping, a deputy testified Tuesday in U. S. District Court.

Clavey is on trial on four counts of perjury, three counts of income tax evasion and one count of extortion. One of the perjury charges alleges that Clavey lied when he said he didn't know of the 1971 illegal wiretapping.

Deputy Charles M. Iwan said that he and other deputies met in Clavey's office and listened to a tape recording of a wiretapped phone conversation. As a result of an informant's information and the tapped conversation, an alleged narcotics pusher was arrested in a Lake County apartment complex.

IWAN SAID CLAVEY and the other deputies listened to a tape of the wiretapped conversation in Clavey's office after the arrest. Iwan described Clavey as "emotional and excited" while listening to the recording. Iwan, who had taken part in the bugging operation with other deputies, said Clavey commended them saying, "good job."

Iwan has been granted immunity from prosecution in return for his testimony.

During much of Tuesday's trial, defense attorney George Collins attempted to discredit or downplay the testimony of prosecution witnesses.

Collins asked Iwan if he had ever heard Clavey approve the wiretaps. Iwan said he had not. Collins also asked Iwan if Clavey had told him to use the wiretapping equipment. Iwan again said no.

RELATED TESTIMONY given by Iwan and one of the prosecution's chief witnesses former Chief Deputy Jerome P. Schuetz, conflicted. Schuetz said he had observed the wiretapping device being removed from the phone circuit box in the basement of the apartment complex.

Iwan, who said he accompanied another deputy to the basement, testified that Schuetz was not present at that time.

Collins cited examples of conflicting testimony Schuetz had given Monday to the district court and to the grand jury in 1974. Schuetz described the conflicting testimony as errors on his part.

The trial continues today in Chicago.

Town Square owners want Abe too

Owners of the Schaumburg Town Square Shopping Center, Roselle and Schaumburg roads, have endorsed a proposal to acquire a 64-foot statue of Abraham Lincoln.

Lewis Shapiro, attorney for the owners, said a further investigation must be made before commitments can be made, but added the merchants believe "it would benefit the area tremendously."

Shapiro said financing the purchase is not a problem for the owners, who met Monday to consider obtaining the monument.

Reinhardt Luebbers, Schaumburg

Historical Society president, is collecting funds to buy the statue in downtown Charleston and to place it in Town Square.

Schaumburg's Assistant Village Planner Glenn Trager said that a public hearing for a special-use zoning permit will be necessary before the statue can be placed in the village.

Schaumburg Village Pres. Raymond Kessell said the statue "is entirely Mr. Luebbers' idea. He's broached it on his own initiative."

Kessell said he felt it was the merchants' right to consider acquiring the statue "as long as what they are doing is in keeping with the surrounding character of the village."

The statue is owned by a group of Charleston businessmen who no longer want it. A spokesman has said no bids have been received for the statue. He added it may be given to comedian Pat Paulsen, who has asked to use it on a Bicentennial "Lincoln Goes West" tour.

Hearing on Gullo property June 11

The Cook County Zoning Board of Appeals will consider again the industrial rezoning request of John and George Gullo for land on Oakton Street in unincorporated Elk Grove Township.

The zoning board has set a hearing for 3 p.m. June 11 in the Elk Grove Village Municipal Building, 901 Wellington Ave.

Since the board's first hearing, the petitioners have amended their request to a planned-unit variation that will set a specific building plan for development of the property, which is about 3,000 feet west of Higgins Road.

Elk Grove Village has objected to any development on the 9-acre site, currently zoned single-family residential, unless the area is annexed to the village. Village Mgr. Charles A. Willis has said four wells planned for the property might hamper the operation of two village wells in the area.

The Gullos want to build six industrial office-warehouse buildings on the property.

Many from area receive degrees

A number of Des Plaines students completed requirements for degrees at the end of the first semester. They include: Karla Felde, Ellen Gunderson and Karen Krebs graduating from Illinois State University... Scott Gysler was awarded a degree in physical education and psychology at North Central College... Joseph Prang graduated from Purdue University... An aircraft pilot certificate was earned by Thomas Cote at the University of Illinois.

The University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign awarded degrees to: Kimberly Becker, Kim Green, Diana Grimbey, Janis Hammernan, Klaus Hein, Noreen McAndrews and Kevin Pate... Roosevelt University conferred degrees on: John Burek, Jr., Robert Patten, Donald Hand and Curtis Holliman.

A bachelor of science degree in civil engineering was awarded to Nicolas Atie from Illinois Institute of Technology... Michael Green was graduated from Drake University... Renee Adams completed requirements for a master's degree at Illinois State University.

University student Kathleen Degehhardt.

Steve Chamberlin, Carol Doherty and Linda Sealy were named to the dean's list at Illinois Wesleyan University... Roland Breunig earned honors at the University of Wisconsin... Keith Chupeke was named to the University of Dubuque's dean's list... Terry Dalton earned honors at Knox College.

Honored for scholastic achievements at Augustana College are Kevin McAuliffe, Michael Mitsos, John O'Connor, Mark Thompson and Joan Wolter... Susan Klappa was named to the dean's list at North Park College... Marcia Erickson earned honors at George Williams College.

Walker for Carter announcement today

by STEVE BROWN

Gov. Daniel Walker will end his neutral role in the Democratic Presidential nomination race today by endorsing ex-Georgia Gov. Jimmy Carter at a pair of California press conferences.

Walker's endorsement plans were closely guarded by Walker aides in Illinois and Carter campaign officials on the West Coast.

In addition to the California appearances, Walker is expected to campaign for Carter in other states holding primary elections next week, including Ohio.

Walker was reared in San Diego. A number of California observers said the governor is highly respected in the state primarily for his maverick political style and his fights with Mayor Richard J. Daley's political organization.

JOHN ROBERTS, Carter's Northern California coordinator, said Walker will hold press conferences in Los Angeles and San Francisco to announce his support for Carter who is facing a tough fight in the June 8 primary there.

The Herald reported Tuesday Walker and several key aides were in California for a number of speaking engagements and newspaper interviews.

Walker aides in Illinois were evasive when questioned about the governor's unannounced trip. Mark Clark, a Walker press aide, said the governor had a speaking engagement and a reunion with old friends.

"We asked them to be vague because we wanted to make the announcement a surprise," Roberts said. He was unsure how much campaigning Walker will do for Carter before the primary there or in other states.

Walker offered no hint of his Carter announcement during several

Kentucky gives Ford upset win over Reagan

By United Press International

President Ford scored a major upset in Kentucky, threatened a second in Tennessee but lost Arkansas Tuesday in his bitter GOP fight with Ronald Reagan. Jimmy Carter romped to victory in all three southern and border states.

But early returns indicated trouble for both Ford and Carter in Nevada and Idaho as vote totals straggled in from the western states in the record six primary hoedown. Ford led Reagan in early Oregon returns.

Reagan, the conservative crusader from California, took strong leads over Ford in both Nevada and Idaho. Frank Church was crushing Carter in his native Idaho and Carter was running behind California Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr. in Nevada.

Here's how the vote shaped up late Tuesday:

- Nevada — Reagan led Ford 66 to 30 per cent with 2 per cent of the precincts reporting. Brown had 48 per cent, Carter 23 and Church 9.

- Idaho — With 49 per cent of the precincts counted, Reagan led Ford 74 to 25 per cent. Church had an 81-12 per cent lead over Carter.

- Tennessee — Ford was leading Reagan 50-49 with 88 per cent of the precincts voting. Carter polled 77 per cent of the vote.

- Arkansas — With 92 per cent of the precincts in, Reagan had a commanding 64 to 35 per cent lead over Ford. Carter swept the field with 62 per cent.

- Kentucky — Ford and Carter won. With 90 per cent of the precincts counted, Ford led Reagan 51 to 47 per cent. Carter won in a runaway with 59 per cent of the vote.

- Oregon — With 11 per cent of the votes in, Ford led Reagan 52 to 43 per cent. Church was leading Carter 36 to 27 per cent.

Ford's victory in Kentucky was a crucial breakthrough into Reagan's "Sun Belt" stronghold and it came in a state where the former California governor earlier was a heavy favorite to win.

But Ford picked up strong momentum last week with landslide victories in Michigan and Maryland and moved into a commanding lead in the number of pledged delegates when party leaders moved

Elizabeth Ray was my mistress: Hays

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. Wayne Hays confessed to a hushed House of Representatives Tuesday that he did have a mistress on the Congressional payroll and tried to cover up the affair to protect "the woman I love" — his bride of a few weeks.

"I have committed the grievous error of not telling all the facts," the 65-year-old Ohio Democrat, his voice catching with emotion, told some 300 stunned and silent colleagues only hours after he had branded his accuser — Elizabeth Ray — a liar.

Hays admitted he had an affair with Miss Ray, but he also said: "I stand by my previous denial of Miss Ray's allegation she was hired to be my mistress."

Before his speech, 28 House members asked the House Ethics Committee to investigate Miss Ray's claims that Hays got her a $14,000 a year Congressional staff job last year where, until April, her only duties were to have dinner and sex with him about once a week.

At the start of the day, Hays also demanded the Ethics panel "clear my name" and said, "her lies must be laid bare." Hours later, Wayne Hays — one of the toughest and most powerful men in Congress — went before the House to explain and apologize.

He said he was human. He said, "I have erred."

"Six weeks ago I married the woman I love more than anyone else," he said. "Prior to that time I had a relationship with Elizabeth Ray."

"I was then legally separated and single and it was voluntary on her part and on mine."

But Hays maintained he recommended Miss Ray for the Congressional job in 1975 — after their affair had begun — on the understanding she would perform useful secretarial duties. He said he broke off the affair before his mid-April marriage to Patricia Peak,

Work conditions still negotiable

Village ends employe wage talks

by LINDA PUNCH

The Wheeling Village board has ended salary negotiations with village employees, saying there is no money available to grant pay raises in 1976-77.

In making the announcement Monday board members reaffirmed an earlier decision not to recognize the Combined Counties Police Assn. or the Assn. of Independent Municipal Employees as bargaining agents for the employees.

Acting Village Mgr. Thomas Markus said Tuesday negotiations are still open for "discussing employe work conditions, excluding increases in pay and fringe benefits and union recognition."

VILLAGE PRES. Ted C. Scanlon Tuesday said the board decided against pay increases "because of economy. You can't squeeze blood from a turnip."

"We'll talk to the employees any-time," he said.

Trustee Gilbert L. Monoson Tuesday said that "all things considered, we felt recognizing the union as a bargaining agent wouldn't serve in the best interests of the employees or village residents."

TAD LEACH, chairman of the employees' wage and salary committee, Tuesday said the board's action is "continuing indication they have no intention of negotiating in good faith."

"They're telling us to form a committee of employees and then when we say something they don't like, they ignore us," he said.

Leach also denied an earlier statement by Scanlon that the employees broke off negotiations.

"The village said they would only deal with the wage and salary committee, and we went to them as a committee. How is that breaking off negotiations?" he asked.

LEACH SAID HE could not comment on further actions of the employees until the wage and salary committee meets. He said the Wheeling chapters of the CCPA and AIM will also discuss the board's action.

The Wheeling village board earlier this month refused to recognize the CCPA as the bargaining agent for police department employees. John Flood, police association president, made the request for union representation on behalf of the employees.

Representatives of the police and fire departments have said they will seek union representation in salary negotiations before discussing pay increases.

Union officials said that more than 80 per cent of the police department personnel are members of the CCPA and about 90 per cent of the firefighters are AIM members.

Police unit reappointment nixed

Politics charged in Nystrom drop

The Wheeling Village Board has refused to reappoint Vern Nystrom to a three-year term on the village police and fire commission amid charges that the move was politically motivated.

Trustees Monday voted 5-1 against Nystrom's reappointment, citing a possible conflict of interest because his wife, Donna, is a secretary for Wheeling Fire Chief Bernie Koeppen.

The fire and police commission controls the hiring, promotion, suspension and firing of police and fire department employees.

NYSTROM, WHO has served as commission chairman since 1970, could not be reached for comment Tuesday.

Trustee William Hein, who voted for Nystrom's appointment, termed the board's action "political."

"I've been told certain individuals were not appointed because they have relatives working for the village.

That's unfounded because we have a number of people on commissions who have relatives working for the village," he said.

Nystrom was appointed by a village administration involved in a zoning shakedown scandal. Trustees John Cole, Gilbert Monoson, Charles Kerr, Otis Hedlund and Donald Jackson were all members of the Wheeling Improvement Party, which pledged village reforms. Trustee Hein, was a member of the opposition Wheeling Representative Party.

IT WAS THE board's first opportunity since the 1975 election to review Nystrom's appointment.

Trustees voting against Nystrom denied any political motivation for their actions. Trustees Cole, Monoson and Kerr said they were not pleased with Nystrom's record.

"Nystrom has an immediate family member working for one of the departments he has policy making authority over," Kerr said.

The five other trustees also rejected the nomination of Roger Powers to fill Nystrom's position. Powers was a 1975 candidate for village trustee on the Wheeling Representative Party ticket against the Wheeling Improvement Party.

KERR SAID HE voted against Powers' nomination because he felt there were more qualified men to serve on the commission.

"We have more applications for the fire and police commission than any other commission in the village," he said.

Powers said the board's action is "a political situation" and that he would reapply for the opening.

The five trustees also voted against the appointment of Kenneth Brady to the plan commission. Brady also was a 1975 village trustee candidate for the Wheeling Representative Party.

COLE AND KERR said they voted against Brady because his job as a building contractor could present a conflict of interest.

Monoson denied Hein's charges saying "politics are only good for people running for office."

"Mr. Hein is running for office next year. If he feels there is something political about the appointments, maybe it's self-motivated," he said.

Appointments approved by the board include Janice Wells, appearance commission; Joyce V. Yeast, Richard Newbould, Nancy Schnaitmann and Meredith Tripp, board of health; Raymond Kulpins, electrical commission; Richard Share and Chester Biler, environmental advisory commission; and Wilfred Sommer and Anthony Altieri, plan commission.

Other appointments were Walter Diers, police pension commission; Stephen Wasserman, municipal relations commission; and Richard Ford, Michele Siria, June Orlovski, Martin Murphy and John Koeppen III, youth commission.

Udall, Muskie paired to win

Mock convention teaches politics

In students at Hershey and Buffalo Grove high schools had their way, U.S. Rep. Morris Udall, D-Arizona, would be leading the Democratic ticket in the presidential elections this fall and U.S. Sen. Edmund Muskie, D-Maine, would be his running-mate.

The ticket was the result of balloting Tuesday by about 500 students from the two schools who acted as delegates in a mock Democratic convention.

Udall was chosen on the third ballot with 1,004 votes. To win the Presidential nomination, a candidate had to receive 1,509 of the 3,020 votes.

Muskie was nominated for vice president with 1,326 votes. Former Georgia Gov. Jimmy Carter, now leading the race for delegates in state primaries, was the runner-up in both categories in the mock convention.

THE CONVENTION was held to give students an understanding of how the nominating process works, said Hershey teacher Charles Birch. The students spent several days researching the primary results in the states they represented.

Students were told to vote according to the primary results on the convention's first ballot. When no candidate received the nomination, campaign strategy took over and student delegates began to change their votes.

The delegates caucused before the convention and attempted to make political deals with other state delegations. Speeches were prepared extolling the virtues of candidates.

"The kids are really into politics," said Birch, who designed the convention along with teachers Robert Hannon, Jerry Cushing, Len Bending, Walt Jasinski and Pam Hertel. "I tell them you're going to have fun and along the way you'll learn something about the democratic process."

WATCHING THE students's political maneuvers "we're seeing some things that make some political sense," Birch said. One student tried to combine a liberal candidate with a conservative for a ticket. Another, representing New York, came up with a "Save Our Cities" ticket.

Birch said the Democratic race was chosen for the convention because the "out of office party" seems to have the most exciting race.

Clavey knew about wiretaps: aide

Former Lake County Sheriff Orville S. (Pat) Clavey knew of illegal sheriff department wiretapping, a deputy testified Tuesday in U.S. District Court.

Clavey is on trial on four counts of perjury, three counts of income tax evasion and one count of extortion. One of the perjury charges alleges that Clavey lied when he said he didn't know of the 1971 illegal wiretapping.

Deputy Charles M. Iwan said that he and other deputies met in Clavey's office and listened to a tape recording of a wiretapped phone conversation. As a result of an informant's information and the tapped conversation, an alleged narcotics pusher was arrested in a Lake County apartment complex.

IWAN SAID CLAVEY and the other deputies listened to a tape of the wiretapped conversation in Clavey's office after the arrest. Iwan described Clavey as "emotional and excited" while listening to the recording. Iwan, who had taken part in the bugging operation with other deputies, said Clavey commended them saying, "good job."

Iwan has been granted immunity from prosecution in return for his testimony.

During much of Tuesday's trial, defense attorney George Collins attempted to discredit or downplay the testimony of prosecution witnesses.

Collins asked Iwan if he had ever heard Clavey approve the wiretaps. Iwan said he had not. Collins also asked Iwan if Clavey had told him to use the wiretapping equipment. Iwan again said no.

RELATED TESTIMONY given by Iwan and one of the prosecution's chief witnesses former Chief Deputy Jerome P. Schuetz, conflicted. Schuetz said he had observed the wiretapping device being removed from the phone circuit box in the basement of the apartment complex.

Iwan, who said he accompanied another deputy to the basement, testified that Schuetz was not present at that time.

Collins cited examples of conflicting testimony Schuetz had given Monday to the district court and to the grand jury in 1974. Schuetz described the conflicting testimony as errors on his part.

The trial continues today in Chicago.

Full slate of events at June 3 health fair

Blood pressure tests, blood donations and health exhibits will be featured at the Wheeling Bicentennial Health Fair 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. June 5 at the village hall, 255 W. Dundee Rd.

Exhibits will include displays from the U.S. Social Security Administration, the American Red Cross, the Heart Assn., Forest Hospital and the Wheeling Fire Dept.

Residents also will be able to donate blood to the community blood program. To make an appointment, call Mojo Dominick, 537-7408, or Nancy Voss, 537-1087.

Kindergarten teas planned for Dist. 23 parents

Parents whose children will attend kindergarten in Prospect Heights Dist. 23 in September are invited to attend informational kindergarten teas this week.

The teas are scheduled for 10 a.m. and 12:30 p.m. today at Muir School, Drake Terrace and Oak Street, Prospect Heights; and 1 p.m. Thursday at Ross School, 700 N. Schoenbeck Rd., Prospect Heights.

The principal of each school, kindergarten teachers and other district personnel will present kindergarten information at the teas. The school nurse will review requirements for physical examinations needed before children enter school.

Children entering kindergarten in September may accompany their parents to the teas. More information is available from the district at 259-4550.

- Nevada — Reagan led Ford 66 to 30 per cent with 2 per cent of the precincts reporting. Brown had 48 per cent, Carter 23 and Church 9.

- Idaho — With 49 per cent of the precincts counted, Reagan led Ford 74 to 23 per cent. Church had an 81-12 per cent lead over Carter.

- Tennessee — Ford was leading Reagan 50-49 with 88 per cent of the precincts voting. Carter polled 77 per cent of the vote.

- Arkansas — With 92 per cent of the precincts in, Reagan had a commanding 64 to 35 per cent lead over Ford. Carter swept the field with 62 per cent.

- Kentucky — Ford and Carter won. With 99 per cent of the precincts counted, Ford led Reagan 51 to 47 per cent. Carter won in a runaway with 50 per cent of the vote.

- Oregon — With 11 per cent of the votes in, Ford led Reagan 52 to 48 per cent. Church was leading Carter 36 to 27 per cent.

Ford's victory in Kentucky was a crucial breakthrough into Reagan's "Sun Belt" stronghold and it came in a state where the former California governor earlier was a heavy favorite to win.

But Ford picked up strong momentum last week with landslide victories in Michigan and Maryland and moved into a commanding lead in the number of pledged delegates when party leaders moved

Elizabeth Ray was my mistress: Hays

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. Wayne Hays confessed to a hushed House of Representatives Tuesday that he did have a mistress on the Congressional payroll and tried to cover up the affair to protect "the woman I love" — his bride of a few weeks.

"I have committed the grievous error of not telling all the facts," the 65-year-old Ohio Democrat, his voice catching with emotion, told some 300 stunned and silent colleagues only hours after he had branded his accuser — Elizabeth Ray — a liar.

Hays admitted he had an affair with Miss Ray, but he also said: "I stand by my previous denial of Miss Ray's allegation she was hired to be my mistress."

Before his speech, 28 House members asked the House Ethics Committee to investigate Miss Ray's claims that Hays got her a $14,000 a year Congressional staff job last year where, until April, her only duties were to have dinner and sex with him about once a week.

At the start of the day, Hays also demanded the Ethics panel "clear my name" and said, "her lies must be laid bare." Hours later, Wayne Hays — one of the toughest and most powerful men in Congress — went before the House to explain and apologize.

He said he was human. He said, "I have erred."

"Six weeks ago I married the woman I love more than anyone else," he said. "Prior to that time I had a relationship with Elizabeth Ray."

"I was then legally separated and single and it was voluntary on her part and on mine."

But Hays maintained he recommended Miss Ray for the Congressional job in 1975 — after their affair had begun — on the understanding she would perform useful secretarial duties. He said he broke off the affair before his mid-April marriage to Patricia Peak,

Village to appeal disannex ruling

Buffalo Grove will appeal the Lake County court decision that negated the village's Dec. 24 disannexation of Chesterfield Development Corp.'s proposed 32-acre townhouse development.

Village Pres. Edward Fabish said Tuesday the village will appeal to the Illinois Appellate Court, "possibly within a week." The village has 30 days to file an appeal.

In a decision delivered last Wednesday, Circuit Court Judge Thomas Doran ruled Chesterfield could petition the village for development of the proposed Arrowhead project, located at the northeast corner of Arlington Heights and Lake-Cook roads.

THE CHESTERFIELD property was annexed to the village in 1969 with high-density, multi-family zoning, and originally was planned for more than 400 apartment units. The firm later decided to build 284 townhouses and a small shopping center.

The original pre-annexation agreement and an extension of that agreement expired Nov. 24, and the Buffalo Grove Village Board extended the agreement for one year.

Chesterfield rejected that extension and asked for a two-year continuance. The village then disannexed the property.

Fabish said the court's decision was "very unfair to the village — the original contract is dead, but they ruled (Chesterfield) still has zoning. It opens up all sorts of questions, and we just can't buy it."

FRED HILLMAN, Chesterfield's executive vice president, said his firm can build a maximum of 256 units under current zoning regulations. He said the firm will "consider all the possibilities" before coming back with plans for the parcel.

"We just have to hold off on our plans for the time being," Hillman said. "All we wanted to do was extend that annexation agreement, and this appeal is just creating further delay and expense."

He said the village, as part of the preannexation agreement, wanted Chesterfield to relocate a street in the development to conform with Cook County standards, change the north and south building boundaries to provide 25-foot setbacks and pay revised engineering fees at an added cost of $40,000.

Chesterfield needed the two-year extension to comply with the "complete resurveying and planning" that would be required, Hillman said.

Tryouts for girls softball Wednesday

It's time to warm up the old pitching arm and take a few swings from home plate as the Buffalo Grove Park district holds tryouts Wednesday for its girls' softball team.

Girls from 10 to 14 may try out for the team at 4 p.m. Wednesday at Kilmer School, 655 Golfview Ter.

Down 6% from last year

$4.2 million budget approved

Buffalo Grove's $4.2 million budget, a 6 per cent decrease from last year, has received final approval from the village board.

The board voted unanimously Monday to approve the 1976-77 budget following weeks of review.

The budget is lower than last year's $4.5 million, primarily because $600,000 in revenue-sharing funds was budgeted for the village's new public service center last year.

The budget includes hiring of eight employees, purchase of new equipment and staff cars and funding of a $23,000 water study which will investigate piping Lake Michigan water to Buffalo Grove.

TO BE HIRED are four police officers, an engineering technician, a police records clerk, a part-time secretary and a custodian. Two of the police officers and the police records clerk will be funded by a $52,000 Crime Prevention Grant received earlier this year.

A FOUR PER CENT cost of living increase for all village employees and merit raises ranging from 3 to 6 per cent for 35 to 40 employees was approved by the board. The budget also includes raises ranging from 7.6 per cent to 11.1 per cent for department heads. The village manager's salary will increase 11 per cent to $25,000.

Village Mgr. Daniel Larson said the budget does not include a tax hike, but said an increase in vehicle license fees may be needed late this summer if village revenues decline.

ALL EXPENDITURES over $1,500 will require a separate review by the village board, Larson said. Major capital improvement expenditures include $72,000 for the first two phases of engineering studies for the reconstruction of Arlington Heights Road from Lake-Cook Road to Ill. Rte. 83.

Also included is $90,800 for resurfacing

Traffic stop leads to wanted man, 28

An illegal left turn led Wheeling authorities to a man wanted for probation violation by Cook County Sheriff's Police and possibly for a narcotics violation in Michigan.

The man, Jack Hamblen, 28, of Chicago, was taken into custody when police curbed an auto he was a passenger in on a traffic charge. The car driven by a local man, George Pennington, 32, of 287 Fletcher Dr., was stopped on Wolf Road south of Dundee Road after allegedly making an illegal left turn from the Wheeling post office, said Police Sgt. Jack Kimsey.

Both were taken into custody and a computer check showed Hamblen was wanted for violating probation. Police were also checking reports he is wanted on a drug charge by Michigan state police, Kimsey said.

Pennington was charged with having no valid driver's license and making an improper left turn.

Arlington parks reject reciprocal swim pass pact

The Arlington Heights Park District has rejected unanimously a reciprocal swimming pass agreement with the Buffalo Grove Park District, prohibiting Buffalo Grove residents from using the Camelot Park pool in Arlington Heights.

The decision cancels a tentative pact reached between the two districts at a special meeting two weeks ago. The pact would have given the Buffalo Grove Park District one year to upgrade the program at its indoor pool, the Aquadome, and to draw more patrons from both park districts to it year round.

About a dozen homeowners from the Camelot Park area in the northern part of Arlington Heights attended the board meeting Monday night and said Camelot Park pool was dangerously overcrowded by the influx of persons from Buffalo Grove.

DAVID SERPE, spokesman for the homeowners, said the Camelot pool became so overcrowded at times last summer that Arlington Heights children were turned away. He said the number of children in the pool made it impossible for life guards to supervise them adequately.

Serpe said the recent defeat of a bond issue by Buffalo Grove residents indicated they were unwilling to support their own district's expansion program as long as they could use Arlington Heights' facilities and avoid paying additional taxes.

Following the meeting, Arlington Heights Park Board Pres. Lloyd Meyer said the Buffalo Grove referendum vote weighed heavily in the decision to cancel the swimming-pass agreement. Meyer said the district had to "look after its own people" first.

THOMAS THORNTON, Arlington Heights Park District director, warned that if the pact were canceled, there is a good chance that some residents of the Buffalo Grove Park District might vote to disannex from that district in order to join the Arlington Heights District. He said if such a disannexation occurred, the pool would remain crowded.

The Arlington Heights residents said they would have no objections to Buffalo Grove residents' use of the pool in that case because Buffalo Grove residents then would be supporting it with their tax dollars.

Stanley Crossland, Buffalo Grove's director of parks and recreation, said Tuesday he did not know about the decision to cancel the tentative pact. He did not know what effect the cancellation would have on Buffalo Grove's swim programs but said the park district will increase operating hours at the Aquadome pool.

Mock convention a practice in politics

If students at Hersey and Buffalo Grove high schools had their way, U.S. Rep. Morris Udall, D-Arizona, would be leading the Democratic ticket in Presidential elections this fall and U.S. Sen. Edmund Muskie, D-Maine, would be his running-mate.

The ticket was the result of balloting Tuesday by about 500 students from the two schools who acted as delegates in a mock Democratic convention.

Udall was chosen on the third ballot with 1,694 votes. To win the Presidential nomination, a candidate had to receive 1,509 of the 3,020 votes.

Muskie was nominated for vice president with 1,326 votes. Former Georgia Gov. Jimmy Carter, now leading the race for delegates in state primaries, was the runner-up in both categories in the mock convention.

THE CONVENTION was held to give students an understanding of how the nominating process works, said Hersey teacher Charles Birch. The students spent several days researching the primary results in the states they represented.

Students were told to vote according to the primary results on the convention's first ballot. When no candidate received the nomination, campaign strategy took over and student delegates began to change their votes.

The delegates caucused before the convention and attempted to make political deals with other state delegations. Speeches were prepared extolling the virtues of candidates.

"The kids are really into politics," said Birch, who designed the convention along with teachers Robert Hannon, Jerry Cushing, Len Bending, Walt Jasinski and Pam Hertel. "I tell them you're going to have fun and along the way you'll learn something about the democratic process."

WATCHING THE students' political maneuvers "we're seeing some things that make some political sense," Birch said. One student tried to combine a liberal candidate with a conservative for a ticket. Another, representing New York, came up with a "Save Our Cities" ticket.

Birch said the Democratic race was chosen for the convention because the "out of office party" seems to have the most exciting race.

Four years ago, students also staged a mock Democratic convention and George McGovern won the nomination. In July, teachers and students will know if they have picked the winner again this year.

Clavey knew of illegal wiretaps, aide tells court

Former Lake County Sheriff Orville S. (Pat) Clavey knew of illegal sheriff department wiretapping, a deputy testified Tuesday in U. S. District Court.

Clavey is on trial on four counts of perjury, three counts of income tax evasion and one count of extortion. One of the perjury charges alleges that Clavey lied when he said he didn't know of the 1971 illegal wiretapping.

Deputy Charles M. Iwan said that he and other deputies met in Clavey's office and listened to a tape recording of a wiretapped phone conversation. As a result of an informant's information and the tapped conversation, an alleged narcotics pusher was arrested in a Lake County apartment complex.

IWAN SAID CLAVEY and the other deputies listened to a tape of the wiretapped conversation in Clavey's office after the arrest. Iwan described Clavey as "emotional and excited" while listening to the recording. Iwan, who had taken part in the bugging operation with other deputies, said Clavey commended them saying, "good job."

Iwan has been granted immunity from prosecution in return for his testimony.

During much of Tuesday's trial, defense attorney George Collins attempted to discredit or downplay the testimony of prosecution witnesses. Collins asked Iwan if he had ever heard Clavey approve the wiretaps. Iwan said he had not. Collins also asked Iwan if Clavey had told him to use the wiretapping equipment. Iwan again said no.

RELATED TESTIMONY given by Iwan and one of the prosecution's chief witnesses former Chief Deputy Jerome P. Schuetz, conflicted. Schuetz said he had observed the wiretapping device being removed from the phone circuit box in the basement of the apartment complex.

Iwan, who said he accompanied another deputy to the basement, testified that Schuetz was not present at that time.

Collins cited examples of conflicting testimony Schuetz had given Monday to the district court and to the grand jury in 1974. Schuetz described the conflicting testimony as errors on his part.

The trial continues today in Chicago.

Walker for Carter announcement today

by STEVE BROWN

Gov. Daniel Walker will end his neutral role in the Democratic Presidential nomination race today by endorsing ex-Georgia Gov. Jimmy Carter at a pair of California press conferences.

Walker's endorsement plans were closely guarded by Walker aides in Illinois and Carter campaign officials on the West Coast.

In addition to the California appearances, Walker is expected to campaign for Carter in other states holding primary elections next week, including Ohio.

Walker was reared in San Diego. A number of California observers said the governor is highly respected in the state primarily for his maverick political style and his fights with Mayor Richard J. Daley's political organization.

JOHN ROBERTS, Carter's Northern California coordinator, said Walker will hold press conferences in Los Angeles and San Francisco to announce his support for Carter who is facing a tough fight in the June 8 primary there.

The Herald reported Tuesday Walker and several key aides were in California for a number of speaking engagements and newspaper interviews.

Walker aides in Illinois were evasive when questioned about the governor's unannounced trip. Mark Clark, a Walker press aide, said the governor had a speaking engagement and a reunion with old friends.

"We asked them to be vague because we wanted to make the announcement a surprise," Roberts said. He was unsure how much campaigning Walker will do for Carter before the primary there or in other states.

Walker offered no hint of his Carter announcement during several

by United Press International

President Ford scored an upset in Kentucky, won in Oregon, and neared victory in Tennessee Tuesday in his drive for the GOP nomination. But Ronald Reagan kept pace by sweeping Arkansas, Nevada and Idaho in a record-setting six primaries.

Jimmy Carter's campaign for the Democratic nomination suffered a jolt when he was shut out in Nevada, Oregon and Idaho. He won in Arkansas, Tennessee and Kentucky but faced no serious opposition in those three states.

Frank Church, who added home-state Idaho and Oregon to an earlier win in Nebraska, kept alive the unblemished record of his late-starting campaign. Gov. Edmund G. Brown of California trounced Carter in Nevada for his second primary win.

Carter also won more than half the 54 delegates selected in Missouri Tuesday.

At the Herald press time here's how it shaped up:

• Oregon — with 33 per cent counted, Ford won, and had 54 per cent. Reagan 46. Church was in the lead with 41 to Carter's 30, while Brown was running third with 13.

• Nevada — Reagan beat Ford, and was polling 67 to 28 per cent with 44 per cent of the precincts reporting. Brown won the Democratic primary, and was polling 52, Carter 24 and Church 10.

• Idaho — with 59 of the precincts counted, Reagan had beaten Ford and was running ahead 73 to 26 per cent. Church had a 81-12 per cent lead over Carter.

• Tennessee — Ford was leading Reagan 59-49 per cent with 93 per cent of the precincts voting. Carter polled 77 per cent of the vote.

• Arkansas — With 71 per cent of the precincts in, Reagan had won the election, holding a 64-35 per cent lead over Ford. Carter swept the field with 62 per cent.

• Kentucky — Ford and Carter won. With 99 per cent of the precincts counted, Ford led Reagan 51 to 47 per cent. Carter won in

Before suspect's trial

Court gags Columbo investigators

A Cook County Circuit Court judge Tuesday issued an order prohibiting prosecutors and police from making out-of-court statements that might prejudice the murder trial of Patricia Ann Columbo.

Presiding Judge Richard J. Fitzgerald of the criminal court issued the order at the request of the Cook County Public Defender's office which is representing Miss Columbo, charged with the murders of her parents and 13-year-old brother in their Elk Grove Village home.

John Moran, chief of the appeals division for the public defender's office, said however, the order does not restrict the news media from reporting on the case.

BUT ELK GROVE Village and other police agencies, along with the state's attorney's office, court reporters and clerks could be held in contempt of court if they violate the order, Moran said.

Moran said the muzzle on police and prosecutors was requested because of previous public statements that impair Miss Columbo's right to a fair and impartial trial.

The order bans them from public discussion of Miss Columbo's prior criminal record, opinions as to her guilt, confessions or evidence in the case, Moran said.

Miss Columbo is charged with murder and conspiracy to commit murder in the triple slayings of her father, Frank, mother, Mary, and brother, Michael, earlier this month.

THE BODIES OF the three were found tortured, shot, stabbed and beaten to death May 7 in their home, 55 E. Brantwood Ave., Elk Grove Village.

The order also bars grand jury members from making "extra-judicial," or out-of-court public statements on the identity and credibility of witnesses statements that could further prejudice the trial, Moran said.

"An abundance of unsupportive comment," has come from grand jury proceedings into the matter he said.

Public defenders representing Miss Columbo had requested a similar order earlier in the Niles branch of circuit court on which a decision was pending, but Moran said that request would probably be withdrawn.

Miss Columbo has been ordered to undergo psychiatric tests to determine if she is fit to stand trial and will appear June 4 in the Niles court branch.

Village employees, officials to receive pay hikes Aug. 1

The Elk Grove Village Board Tuesday approved 5 per cent higher paychecks for village employees, effective Aug. 1.

The action approving the raises, which Village Pres. Charles J. Zettek referred to as "Christmas in August," was quick and without discussion. The amount and effective date of the increase had been hammered out by the village board at budget sessions weeks ago.

The across-the-board salary hikes will cost the village an estimated $116,250 plus a small, undetermined amount for fringe benefits.

THE BOARD ALSO approved salary increases for administrative, supervisory and professional personnel that range from $500 to $2,100 and from 3 per cent to 16.67 per cent.

The village's top administrator, Village Mgr. Charles A. Willis, received a 5.3 per cent increase to $31,500.

Other top officials' salaries will be $26,000, up 5.4 per cent for Finance Director George C. Coney; $24,800, up 5 per cent, for Public Works Director Donald L. Ciaglia; $21,900, up 5.2 per cent, for Assistant Public Works Director Jack Andrews; $20,000, up 3 per cent for Walter Supt. James Clementi; $21,000, up 8.1 per cent, for Building Comr. Thomas F. Rettenbacher, and $15,435, up 5 per cent, for Health Coordinator Nancy Yiannias.

Fire Chief John Henrici received a 6.5 per cent raise to $24,500, and police Chief Harry P. Jenkins received a 5.2 per cent raise to $25,400. Newly appointed Deputy Police Chief William Kohnke will receive $23,250.

ALL NEW salaries, with the exception of Kohnke's will not take effect until Aug. 1, meaning each employee will not receive the full salary for this year.

The village board decided on the three-month delay in raises rather than granting a smaller raise or going to additional taxation. Coney has predicted the village will have a money-flow problem during June and July as expenses will outstrip income.

The board has said it will have to raise property taxes next year, however.

Unit district hearings set July 8

Public hearings on petitions seeking to form an Elk Grove Township unit school district will begin July 8 at 7 p.m. at the Elk Grove High School theater, 500 Elk Grove Blvd., Elk Grove Village.

The hearing will only cover the procedural issues related to the petition process. Procedural issues include the form of the petition, boundary lines and signatures on the petitions.

All evidence for or against the petition's filing requirements must be presented to Richard Martwick, county schools superintendent, at least seven days before the hearing date.

Following the hearing on the procedural issues, Martwick will set hearing dates for discussion of substantive issues, including the financial and educational considerations in the unit district consolidation.

THE PROPOSED UNIT district will include Forest View and Elk Grove high schools in addition to Elk Grove Township Dist. 59 schools. It will place the elementary and high schools under one school board and administration.

Currently, Dist. 59 is one of seven elementary districts in the High School Dist. 214 area.

Through the hearing process, anyone affected by the unit district consolidation can present evidence for or against the issue. Martwick will make a recommendation on the petitions to the state schools superintendent who will decide whether an election will be held.

If an election is held, only residents within Dist. 59 will be able to vote on the issue.

Schools

In general...

The Randhurst Council of PTA's will host information workshops at 7:30 p.m., today at River Trails Junior High School, 1000 W. Wolf Rd., Mount Prospect.

The workshops are offered to incoming officers and leaders of school PTA boards in Districts 57, 59, 21, 23 and 26 and are directed by the Randhurst Council officers and leaders.

St. James School

Construction of a paper city by third and fourth graders of St. James School, 821 N. Arlington Heights Rd., Arlington Heights, starts at 8:45 a.m. Friday. This art project coordinated by Sister Beata is the second city. Last year the children built the city of St. Louis complete with Arch.

Elk Grove Township Dist. 59

Third grade classes of Rupley School, 305 E. Oakton St., Elk Grove Village, will perform "My Brother Sam is Dead" in the school library at 12:30 p.m. today.

The performance is in observance of America's 200th birthday and will be directed by the third grade teachers, Carol Schechter, Bea Nissenson and Carol Wilson.

A Bicentennial luncheon sponsored by the children's parents and teachers will follow the play.

High School Dist. 214

Gretchen Helbig has been accepted for membership in the U.S. Collegiate Wind Band, a highly selective musical organization which will make a concert tour of seven European countries in July and August.

Gretchen plays first chair clarinet in the Elk Grove High School symphonic band.

Vehicle clinic's rezoning request to be considered

The Elk Grove Plan Commission will attempt to zone the Elk Grove Tire & Auto Clinic to permit sales of recreational vehicles.

The clinic's owner, Frank Del Medico, has asked the village for a rezoning so he can sell recreational vehicles at the clinic, 420 E. Higgins Rd. The requested zoning, however, would allow the operation of a car wash or other drive-in type facility, which the commission does not want, according to secretary Leah Cummins.

Del Medico previously asked if he could operate a car wash but never formally applied to do so.

CUMMINS SAID the commission will ask the village attorney how Del Medico could be permitted to sell recreational vehicles without the requested zoning.

In other hearings held Monday, the commission recommended approval of the Elk Grove Elks annual special use permit for lodge operations at 115 Gordon St. but took no action on a request by George Garullos for a special use permit to build a family-type restaurant at the corner of Elmhurst Road and Devon Avenue.

Cummins said the commission will ask the Federal Aviation Administration and the Airlines Pilots Assn. for comments on the 250-seat restaurant because it would be located close to O'Hare Airport's busiest runway. The edge of the airport will be across the intersection from the restaurant.

Developer asked to amend plans to appease residents

The Des Plaines Plan Commission, in an attempt to appease nearby residents, has asked builders of a 25-acre development at 850 Oakton St. to eliminate all commercial and mid-rise condominium buildings from their plans.

The builder, Fred Owens, of the O'Hare Development Co., Des Plaines, has been at odds with residents for more than a year over a request to rezone the property from single-family residential to commercial and multi-family use.

The developer has presented two revised plans for the project, but all have met opposition from about 60 residents, most of whom live in the Oakton Street-Webster Lane area.

THE LATEST PLAN calls for construction of a 50,000 square-foot shopping mall, a two-story office building, a four-story nursing home, 54 townhouses, 156 coach house condominiums (eight units per building) and two five-story condominium-

MSD pollution complaint submitted by Des Plaines

Des Plaines has filed a complaint with the Illinois Pollution Control Board in an attempt to require the Metropolitan Sanitary District to meet state environmental standards in construction of the O'Hare Water Reclamation Plant.

Ald. Alan Abrams, 8th, chairman of the city code and judiciary committee, said the complaint probably will not block construction of the controversial plant, but may force the MSD to meet higher pollution control standards than the district currently follows.

"It would be unlikely the complaint would hold up construction," he said. "What we hope the pollution control board will do is set standards on emissions and contaminants that can be released by the plant."

THE PLANT, proposed for 106 acres at the southwest corner of Elmhurst Road and Oakton Street, will treat 72 million gallons of sewage a day. It also is expected to relieve flooding in Des Plaines, Mount Prospect and Elk Grove Village.

Des Plaines officials have been fighting construction of the plant since 1966, saying it will pose a health hazard to nearby residents. The city objects to emission standards used by the MSD.

There still is a case pending before U. S. District Court in which the city is challenging the environmental impact study that gave federal approval for the plant's location. A ruling on the case is expected June 7.

Abrams said city officials were going to wait for the ruling before filing the complaint with the Illinois Pollution Control Board but decided it would be wise to take the action sooner.

"We thought it would be better to get our objections known now rather than to wait any longer," Abrams said.

THE MSD BOARD last week approved a $114.8 million construction contract for the plant. Forrest Neal, chief engineer for the MSD, said work on the plant probably will not begin until the end of June.

Des Plaines recently lost a battle before the Illinois Supreme Court over city contentions that the MSD should be required to follow strict local health ordinances governing sewage emissions from the plant. The high court ruled the city has no authority to regulate regional agencies.

Elk Grove Village officials have joined the MSD in opposing Des Plaines officials, saying the plant is needed to alleviate chronic flooding problems in the village.

Clavey knew of illegal wiretaps, aide tells court

Former Lake County Sheriff Orville S. (Pat) Clavey knew of illegal sheriff department wiretapping, a deputy testified Tuesday in U. S. District Court.

Clavey is on trial on four counts of perjury, three counts of income tax evasion and one count of extortion. One of the perjury charges alleges that Clavey lied when he said he didn't know of the 1971 illegal wiretapping.

Deputy Charles M. Iwan said that he and other deputies met in Clavey's office and listened to a tape recording of a wiretapped phone conversation. As a result of an informant's information and the tapped conversation, an alleged narcotics pusher was arrested in a Lake County apartment complex.

IWAN SAID CLAVEY and the other deputies listened to a tape of the wiretapped conversation in Clavey's office after the arrest. Iwan described Clavey as "emotional and excited" while listening to the recording. Iwan, who had taken part in the bugging operation with other deputies, said Clavey commended them saying, "good job."

Iwan has been granted immunity from prosecution in return for his testimony.

During much of Tuesday's trial, defense attorney George Collins attempted to discredit or downplay the testimony of prosecution witnesses.

Collins asked Iwan if he had ever heard Clavey approve the wiretaps. Iwan said he had not. Collins also asked Iwan if Clavey had told him to use the wiretapping equipment. Iwan again said no.

RELATED TESTIMONY given by Iwan and one of the prosecution's chief witnesses former Chief Deputy Jerome P. Schuetz, conflicted. Schuetz said he had observed the wiretapping device being removed from the phone circuit box in the basement of the apartment complex.

Iwan, who said he accompanied another deputy to the basement, testified that Schuetz was not present at that time.

Collins cited examples of conflicting testimony Schuetz had given Monday to the district court and to the grand jury in 1974. Schuetz described the conflicting testimony as errors on his part.

The trial continues today in Chicago.

Michael Richardson, city director of planning and zoning, said members of the plan commission Monday night asked the developer to eliminate the shopping mall, office building, nursing home and five-story condominium apartments from their plans, and replace them with coach house condominiums.

"Right now they are kind of negotiating to find some sort of compromise solution that everyone can live with," he said. "Some residents said they only want single-family homes built, but I got the impression some might be willing to compromise."

The plan commission will conduct another meeting on the proposed project at 8 p.m. June 14 in the Des Plaines Civic Center, 1420 Miner St.

WILLIAM J. MOORE, attorney for the developer, attended the Monday night meeting but said he was unable to comment on the plan commission's request without consulting Owens. Owens and Moore could not be reached for comment Tuesday.

Residents said they believe the commercial area, nursing home and mid-rise buildings will create traffic congestion and be a detriment to the single-family houses in the area.

The development, which is bounded by Oakton Street, Webster Lane, Forest Avenue and Fourth Avenue, is now the site of a greenhouse.

Moore said last month the latest plan proposed by the developer was a "meritorious compromise" from the previous plans, saying it would be compatible with the area and an asset to the community.

Richardson said, however, he believes the elimination of the commercial area and five-story buildings would make the development more compatible with the surrounding area.

"I think the development would be much better if it were all residential," he said. "I don't know whether that is economically feasible, but I think that would have a lot less impact on traffic congestion and problems in the area."

Walker for Carter announcement today

by STEVE BROWN

Gov. Daniel Walker will end his neutral role in the Democratic Presidential nomination race today by endorsing ex-Georgia Gov. Jimmy Carter at a pair of California press conferences.

Walker's endorsement plans were closely guarded by Walker aides in Illinois and Carter campaign officials on the West Coast.

In addition to the California appearances, Walker is expected to campaign for Carter in other states holding primary elections next week, including Ohio.

Walker was reared in San Diego. A number of California observers said the governor is highly respected in the state primarily for his maverick political style and his fights with Mayor Richard J. Daley's political organization.

JOHN ROBERTS, Carter's Northern California coordinator, said Walker will hold press conferences in Los Angeles and San Francisco to announce his support for Carter who is facing a tough fight in the June 8 primary there.

The Herald reported Tuesday Walker and several key aides were in California for a number of speaking engagements and newspaper interviews.

Walker aides in Illinois were evasive when questioned about the governor's unannounced trip. Mark Clark, a Walker press aide, said the governor had a speaking engagement and a reunion with old friends.

"We asked them to be vague because we wanted to make the announcement a surprise," Roberts said. He was unsure how much campaigning Walker will do for Carter before the primary there or in other states.

Walker offered no hint of his Carter announcement during several

by United Press International

President Ford scored an upset in Kentucky, won in Oregon, and neared victory in Tennessee Tuesday in his drive for the GOP nomination. But Ronald Reagan kept pace by sweeping Arkansas, Nevada and Idaho in a record-setting six primaries.

Jimmy Carter's campaign for the Democratic nomination suffered a jolt when he was shut out in Nevada, Oregon and Idaho. He won in Arkansas, Tennessee and Kentucky but faced no serious opposition in those three states.

Frank Church, who added home-state Idaho and Oregon to an earlier win in Nebraska, kept alive the unblemished record of his late-starting campaign. Gov. Edmund G. Brown of California trounced Carter in Nevada for his second primary win.

Carter also won more than half the 54 delegates selected in Missouri Tuesday.

At the Herald press time here's how it shaped up:

• Oregon — with 33 per cent counted, Ford won, and had 54 per cent. Reagan 46. Church was in the lead with 41 to Carter's 30, while Brown was running third with 13.

• Nevada — Reagan beat Ford, and was polling 67 to 28 per cent with 44 per cent of the precincts reporting. Brown won the Democratic primary, and was polling 52, Carter 24 and Church 10.

• Idaho — with 59 of the precincts counted, Reagan had beaten Ford and was running ahead 73 to 26 per cent. Church had a 81-12 per cent lead over Carter.

• Tennessee — Ford was leading Reagan 59-49 per cent with 93 per cent of the precincts voting. Carter polled 77 per cent of the vote.

• Arkansas — With 71 per cent of the precincts in, Reagan had won the election, holding a 64-35 per cent lead over Ford. Carter swept the field with 62 per cent.

• Kentucky — Ford and Carter won. With 99 per cent of the precincts counted, Ford led Reagan 51 to 47 per cent. Carter won in

Elizabeth Ray was my mistress: Hays

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. Wayne Hays confessed to a hushed House of Representatives Tuesday that he did have a mistress on the Congressional payroll and tried to cover up the affair to protect "the woman I love" — his bride of a few weeks.

"I have committed the grievous error of not telling all the facts," the 63-year-old Ohio Democrat, his voice catching with emotion, told some 300 stunned and silent colleagues only hours after he had branded his accuser — Elizabeth Ray — a liar.

Hays admitted he had an affair with Miss Ray, but he also said: "I stand by my previous denial of Miss Ray's allegation she was hired to be my mistress."

Before his speech, 28 House members asked the House Ethics Committee to investigate Miss Ray's claims that Hays got her a $14,000 a year Congressional staff job last year where, until April, her only duties were to have dinner and sex with him about once a week.

At the start of the day, Hays also demanded the Ethics panel "clear my name" and said, "her lies must be laid bare." Hours later, Wayne Hays — one of the toughest and most powerful men in Congress — went before the House to explain and apologize.

He said he was human. He said, "I have erred."

"Six weeks ago I married the woman I love more than anyone else," he said. "Prior to that time I had a relationship with Elizabeth Ray."

"I was then legally separated and single and it was voluntary on her part and on mine."

But Hays maintained he recommended Miss Ray for the Congressional job in 1975 — after their affair had begun — on the understanding she would perform useful secretarial duties. He said he broke off the affair before his mid-April marriage to Patricia Peak,

Businesses hurt: Pavey

Environmental program rapped

A slide program on environmental problems in Hoffman Estates has drawn sharp criticism from a village trustee charging the program unfairly portrays local businesses.

The program, prepared by the village's environmental commission four years ago, was presented Monday to the public information committee by environmental chairman Dan Lurey.

Trustee Jeanne Pavey attacked the presentation for "implying" that local businesses were causing most of the village's pollution problems.

"IF I WERE a businessman, I would sue you for libel," she said. "It is terrible."

The presentation, shown to school and community groups, featured a music and voice sound track as pictures of cluttered commercial signs in the village were shown. Also included were photographs of empty parking lots which Lurey termed "seas of asphalt."

"We have been trying our best to attract sound businesses to our community," Mrs. Pavey said. "If an arm of our own village government is going to do things like this, I don't think they (businesses) will come."

SHE TOLD Lurey he "should consider dropping" the portion of the presentation dealing with community businesses.

She said the current village board had no control over early zoning practices which led to many of the environmental problems shown in the program.

"It's there and we have to live with it," she said.

Lurey told the committee "Things have changed in the village in the past few years," but added, "it is not true we have to live with it. We can try to make it better."

Trustee William Cowin, a local businessman and former vice president of the Hoffman Estates-Schaumburg Chamber of Commerce, criticized the program as being too vague in meaning and inaccurate in its depiction of local business efforts to curb environmental problems.

25 horses feared dead in stable fire near Elgin

by DAVE IBATA

A flash fire at the Maywood Park training stables east of Elgin killed as many as 25 race horses Tuesday night.

A blaze fueled by hay, straw and feed destroyed the 20-year-old, 200-stall stable on U.S. Rte. 20 two miles east of Elgin. One of the trotters feared killed was Rock Raider, a 1975 champion valued at $75,000.

Smoke from the blaze, which broke out at 7:30 p.m., was visible from the Northwest suburbs of Rolling Meadows, Hoffman Estates, Schaumburg, Palatine and Arlington Heights.

Firemen from Elgin and five suburban and rural departments brought the fire under control within an hour after it started.

A FIREMAN suffered a cut wrist while fighting the blaze. No other injuries were reported.

Even before firemen arrived, about 100 grooms, trainers, owners and passersby rescued most of the 142 standard-breed horses stabled in the building, which one fire official described as "extremely flammable."

About a dozen persons housed in the building lost most of their personal belongings.

The building had no sprinkler system, and firemen were forced to bring in water from Elgin hydrants a half-mile west of the stable.

Fire reportedly broke out in an empty stall on the south side of the building. Investigators today will seek to determine the cause of the blaze.

One owner said he first noticed smoke pouring out of the stall. "And before you could get a hose down, the whole stall was in flames," he said.

ANOTHER OWNER said that within three minutes, "smoke was so thick in the barn you couldn't see a horse in its stall." After seven minutes, flames broke through the roof, he said.

"It just seemed to practically explode," he said. "With all that hay and straw in there, it was just like an inferno."

A wind out of the north initially confined fire and smoke to the southern end of the stable, and trotters were led out to three paddocks surrounding the barn. The horses today will be moved to other stables.

An estimated $100,000 in equipment also was lost in the fire.

William Dillon, operator of the stable, said only 10 horses were lost in the blaze. Owners and grooms, however, put the loss at 25 or higher.

Town Square owners want Abe too

Owners of the Schaumburg Town Square Shopping Center, Roselle and Schaumburg roads, have endorsed a proposal to acquire a 64-foot statue of Abraham Lincoln.

Lewis Shapiro, attorney for the owners, said a further investigation must be made before commitments can be made, but added the merchants believe "it would benefit the area tremendously."

Shapiro said financing the purchase is not a problem for the owners, who met Monday to consider obtaining the monument.

Reinhardt Luebbers, Schaumburg Historical Society president, is collecting funds to buy the statue in downtown Charleston and to place it in Town Square.

Schaumburg Village Pres. Raymond Kessell said the statue "is entirely Mr. Luebbers' idea. He's broached it on his own initiative."

Kessell said he felt it was the merchants' right to consider acquiring the statue "as long as what they are doing is in keeping with the surrounding character of the village."

The statue is owned by a group of Charleston businessmen who no longer want it. A spokesman has said no bids have been received for the statue. He added it may be given to comedian Pat Paulsen, who has asked to use it on a Bicentennial "Lincoln Goes West" tour.

High School Dist. 211

The bands at Fremd High School, 1000 S. Quentin Rd., Palatine, will present their last concert of the year at 8 p.m. today in the school cafeteria.

The jazz and concert bands, directed by Robert Klassy and the symphonic band, directed by Rick Peterson, will perform. Tickets are $1 for adults and 50 cents for children. Refreshments will be available.

The choirs and madrigals of Fremd High School will present a concert at 8 p.m. Thursday in the cafeteria at the school, 1000 S. Quentin Rd., Palatine.

The concert is directed by Carlisle Chidester. Tickets are $1 for adults and 50 cents for children.

The junior class of Hoffman Estates High School, 1000 W. Higgins Rd., Hoffman Estates, will sponsor a bottle drive Saturday to pay off a debt resulting from the recent prom.

Policy forbids the students to collect bottles door to door, so they are asking residents who have any returnable bottles at all to call the school Friday from 7:30 a.m. to 3 p.m., 882-8000, and leave their address so the bottles can be picked up Saturday. The students will begin to pick up the bottles at 10 a.m. Saturday.

20-year-old land-use study

Citizens to participate in update of master plan

Schaumburg citizens will be given an opportunity to participate in updating the village's nearly 20-year-old master plan for development.

Village board members Tuesday commissioned consultants Nathan Barnes and Associates to complete the $34,000 review which will include several public hearings.

The work will be paid for by a grant from the U. S. Dept. of Housing and Urban Development under the Community Development Act of 1975.

"Schaumburg has had a master plan from its inception but the plan has been segmented and we have decided it's time for an update," Village Pres. Raymond Kessell said Tuesday.

Kessell said the consultants' review is expected to "either reaffirm the existing plan or present concrete reasons for change."

THE ORIGINAL PLAN was prepared by former Village Pres. Robert O. Atcher and a number of persons who owned land in the village at the time of its incorporation.

The master plan consists of a series of maps which recommend land use in each area of the community.

Kessell said the consultants were chosen on recommendation of village planner Alan Saunders "because it was the only firm who provided for citizen participation."

An additional community development grant has been approved for Schaumburg, Palatine and Inverness in which the towns will be allowed a total of $70,000 for cooperative planning.

Village to open Nu-Earth center

A Nu-Earth center is expected to open in Hoffman Estates next week.

Nu-Earth, or sludge, is a soil builder and fertilizer distributed by the Chicago Metropolitan Sanitary District. It will be available free to the public, said Dan Lurey, chairman of the village environmental commission.

Residents must make arrangements to acquire the sludge from the center, to be located in an area near the Northwest Tollway, north of the Barrington Lakes Apartments.

"We'll accept our first load of 22 cubic yards on a trial basis to see if the public is interested in it," Lurey said. "By the end of summer we'll evaluate its use and see if we'll keep the center operating."

Members of the Hoffman Estates Garden Club have agreed to oversee the center's initial operation, but actual operation of the site will be handled by public works employees, Lurey said.

The environmental commission has been working toward the formation of the center for more than a year, he said.

Before suspect's trial

Court gags Columbo investigators

A Cook County Circuit Court judge Tuesday issued an order prohibiting prosecutors and police from making out-of-court statements that might prejudice the murder trial of Patricia Ann Columbo.

Presiding Judge Richard J. Fitzgerald of the criminal court issued the order at the request of the Cook County Public Defender's office which is representing Miss Columbo, charged with the murders of her parents and 13-year-old brother in their Elk Grove Village home.

John Moran, chief of the appeals division for the public defender's office, said however, the order does not restrict the news media from reporting on the case.

BUT ELK GROVE Village and other police agencies, along with the state's attorney's office, court reporters and clerks could be held in contempt of court if they violate the order, Moran said.

Moran said the muzzle on police and prosecutors was requested because of previous public statements that impair Miss Columbo's right to a fair and impartial trial.

The order bans them from public discussion of Miss Columbo's prior criminal record, opinions as to her guilt, confessions or evidence in the case, Moran said.

Miss Columbo is charged with murder and conspiracy to commit murder in the triple slayings of her father, Frank, mother, Mary, and brother, Michael, earlier this month.

THE BODIES OF the three were found tortured, shot, stabbed and beaten to death May 7 in their home, 55 E. Brantwood Ave., Elk Grove Village.

The order also bars grand jury members from making "extra-judicial" or out-of-court public statements on the identity and credibility of witnesses statements that could further prejudice the trial, Moran said.

"An abundance of unsupportive comment," has come from grand jury proceedings into the matter he said.

Public defenders representing Miss Columbo had requested a similar order earlier in the Niles branch of circuit court on which a decision was pending, but Moran said that request would probably be withdrawn.

Miss Columbo has been ordered to undergo psychiatric tests to determine if she is fit to stand trial and will appear June 4 in the Niles court branch.

Scouting news

Twenty-two members of Schaumburg Cub Scout Pack 392 received awards at a recent pack meeting.

New Scout Jimmy Jones received a Bobcat pin; Wolf badges went to Richard Anderson, Derek Ali and Mark Mroczkowski, who also earned a gold arrow.

Bear badges went to Stanton Oliver and Brian Schwarz, who also earned a gold arrow.

Webelos Scouts who earned activity awards include Tim Carisson, craftsman; Tim Postelnik, craftsman; Brian Campbell, naturalist, scholar; Mark Peifer, outdoorsman; Scott Gustafson, citizen, outdoorsman; Andy Dimdik, aquanaut, citizen, forester, geologist, scholar; Al Kunisch, artist, citizen, craftsman, engineer, naturalist.

Arrow of Light awards went to Brian Campbell, Mark Peifer, Scott Gustafson, Andy Dimdik, Al Kunisch, Brian Mukomela, Tom Pearson, Bill Erban and Jeff Havranek.

Mark Peifer and Scott Gustafson became Boy Scouts.

by STEVE BROWN

Gov. Daniel Walker will end his neutral role in the Democratic Presidential nomination race today by endorsing ex-Georgia Gov. Jimmy Carter at a pair of California press conferences.

Walker's endorsement plans were closely guarded by Walker aides in Illinois and Carter campaign officials on the West Coast.

In addition to the California appearances, Walker is expected to campaign for Carter in other states holding primary elections next week, including Ohio.

Walker was reared in San Diego. A number of California observers said the governor is highly respected in the state primarily for his maverick political style and his fights with Mayor Richard J. Daley's political organization.

JOHN ROBERTS, Carter's Northern California coordinator, said Walker will hold press conferences in Los Angeles and San Francisco to announce his support for Carter who is facing a tough fight in the June 8 primary there.

The Herald reported Tuesday Walker and several key aides were in California for a number of speaking engagements and newspaper interviews.

Walker aides in Illinois were evasive when questioned about the governor's unannounced trip. Mark Clark, a Walker press aide, said the governor had a speaking engagement and a reunion with old friends.

"We asked them to be vague because we wanted to make the announcement a surprise," Roberts said. He was unsure how much campaigning Walker will do for Carter before the primary there or in other states.

Walker offered no hint of his Carter announcement during several

by United Press International

President Ford scored an upset in Kentucky, won in Oregon, and neared victory in Tennessee Tuesday in his drive for the GOP nomination. But Ronald Reagan kept pace by sweeping Arkansas, Nevada and Idaho in a record-setting six primaries.

Jimmy Carter's campaign for the Democratic nomination suffered a jolt when he was shut out in Nevada, Oregon and Idaho. He won in Arkansas, Tennessee and Kentucky but faced no serious opposition in those three states.

Frank Church, who added home-state Idaho and Oregon to an earlier win in Nebraska, kept alive the unblemished record of his late-starting campaign. Gov. Edmund G. Brown of California trounced Carter in Nevada for his second primary win.

Carter also won more than half the 54 delegates selected in Missouri Tuesday.

At the Herald press time here's how it shaped up:

• Oregon — with 33 per cent counted, Ford won, and had 54 per cent. Reagan 46. Church was in the lead with 41 to Carter's 30, while Brown was running third with 13.

• Nevada — Reagan beat Ford, and was polling 67 to 28 per cent with 44 per cent of the precincts reporting. Brown won the Democratic primary, and was polling 52, Carter 24 and Church 10.

• Idaho — with 59 of the precincts counted, Reagan had beaten Ford and was running ahead 73 to 26 per cent. Church had a 81-12 per cent lead over Carter.

• Tennessee — Ford was leading Reagan 59-49 per cent with 93 per cent of the precincts voting. Carter polled 77 per cent of the vote.

• Arkansas — With 71 per cent of the precincts in, Reagan had won the election, holding a 64-35 per cent lead over Ford. Carter swept the field with 62 per cent.

• Kentucky — Ford and Carter won. With 99 per cent of the precincts counted, Ford led Reagan 51 to 47 per cent. Carter won in

Elizabeth Ray was my mistress: Hays

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. Wayne Hays confessed to a hushed House of Representatives Tuesday that he did have a mistress on the Congressional payroll and tried to cover up the affair to protect "the woman I love" — his bride of a few weeks.

"I have committed the grievous error of not telling all the facts," the 65-year-old Ohio Democrat, his voice catching with emotion, told some 300 stunned and silent colleagues only hours after he had branded his accuser — Elizabeth Ray — a liar.

Hays admitted he had an affair with Miss Ray, but he also said: "I stand by my previous denial of Miss Ray's allegation she was hired to be my mistress."

Before his speech, 28 House members asked the House Ethics Committee to investigate Miss Ray's claims that Hays got her a $14,000 a year Congressional staff job last year where, until April, her only duties were to have dinner and sex with him about once a week.

At the start of the day, Hays also demanded the Ethics panel "clear my name" and said, "her lies must be laid bare." Hours later, Wayne Hays — one of the toughest and most powerful men in Congress — went before the House to explain and apologize.

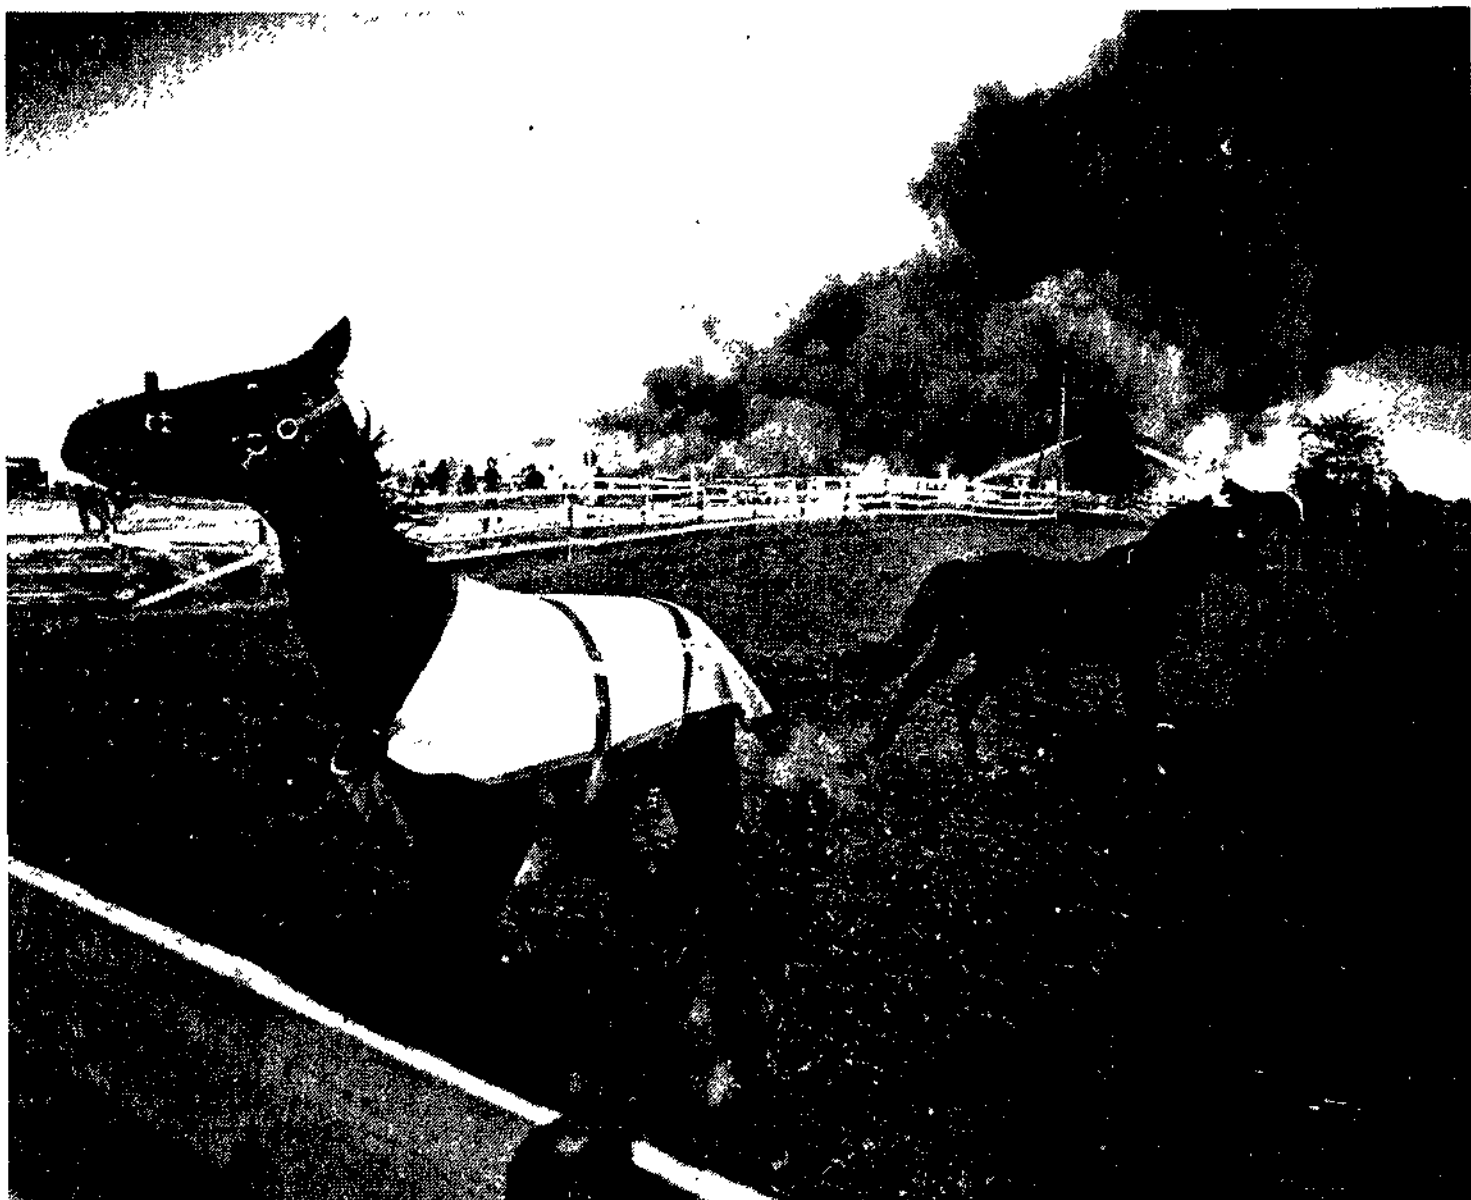

He said he was human. He said, "I have erred."

"Six weeks ago I married the woman I love more than anyone else," he said. "Prior to that time I had a relationship with Elizabeth Ray."

"I was then legally separated and single and it was voluntary on her part and on mine."

But Hays maintained he recommended Miss Ray for the Congressional job in 1975 — after their affair had begun — on the understanding she would perform useful secretarial duties. He said he broke off the affair before his mid-April marriage to Patricia Peak,

Council takes special action

3 hired to fill staff vacancies

The Rolling Meadows City Council Tuesday, by special resolution, hired three replacement employees for vacancies in the street and janitorial departments.

The council action came after several minutes of heated debate over whether the council's hiring restriction should be removed. The restriction calls for the hiring of all employees to be approved by special city council action.

An attempt by Ald. Thomas Waldron, 2nd, to remove the restriction failed before the vote.

Waldron tried to convince the council that the restriction it adopted earlier this year, was detrimental to city government. Waldron said, "department heads" hands should not be tied when it comes to hiring replacement employees."

"IT'S NOT THE function of this council to be a personnel agency," said Ald. Daniel Weber, 4th. He urged other council members to give Acting City Mgr. Charles Green "the latitude given him by ordinance to hire replacement employees."

"We've allowed how many people should work in the city by ordinance. Let's not act as a personnel agency. Let the manager do that job," Weber said.

The Waldron-Weber proposal was defeated by a 5-4 vote.

Ald. Kenneth Retzke, 5th, who voted against repealing the hiring restriction, said no justification was provided for hiring the new employees.

"Are we merely replacing an employee because someone left, or are they necessary," Retzke said.

Houldsworth named city clerk

Elizabeth Houldsworth was appointed new city clerk Tuesday by Rolling Meadows Mayor Roland J. Meyer.

Mrs. Houldsworth was one of three candidates reviewed for the position. Her appointment is until April 30, 1979.

The appointment was unanimously approved by the city council.

Mrs. Houldsworth, 54, of 2802 Hawk Ln., has been county clerk since 1961 and held the title of city clerk from 1969 until 1971.

She chose not to run for the city clerk's position in the 1971 election and instead again accepted the job as deputy clerk.

"I'm pleased with the appointment. I like my job. Throughout the years I have been at city hall, the job has been a continuing interest and challenge," she said.

Mrs. Houldsworth will replace Elizabeth Brissenden who resigned April 15 citing a lack of time to devote to the job.

City Atty. Donald Rose and Acting City Mgr. Charles Green will review Mrs. Houldsworth's salary which has not been determined because she will be a full-time city employee as city clerk, a part-time position.

Court gags investigators in Columbo murder case

A Cook County Circuit Court judge Tuesday issued an order prohibiting prosecutors and police from making out-of-court statements that might prejudice the murder trial of Patricia Ann Columbo.

Presiding Judge Richard J. Fitzgerald of the criminal court issued the order at the request of the Cook County Public Defender's office which is representing Miss Columbo, charged with the murders of her parents and 13-year-old brother in their Elk Grove Village home.

John Moran, chief of the appeals division for the public defender's office, said however, the order does not restrict the news media from reporting on the case.

BUT ELK GROVE Village and other police agencies, along with the state's attorney's office, court reporters and clerks could be held in contempt of court if they violate the order, Moran said.

Moran said the muzzle on police and prosecutors was requested because of previous public statements that impair Miss Columbo's right to a fair and impartial trial.

The order bans them from public discussion of Miss Columbo's prior criminal record, opinions as to her guilt, confessions or evidence in the case, Moran said.

Miss Columbo is charged with murder and conspiracy to commit murder in the triple slayings of her father, Frank, mother, Mary, and brother, Michael, earlier this month.

THE BODIES OF the three were found tortured, shot, stabbed and beaten to death May 7 in their home, 55 E. Brantwood Ave., Elk Grove Village.

The order also bars grand jury members from making "extra-judicial," or out-of-court public statements on the identity and credibility of witnesses statements that could further prejudice the trial, Moran said.

"An abundance of unsupportive comment," has come from grand jury proceedings into the matter he said.

Public defenders representing Miss Columbo had requested a similar order earlier in the Niles branch of circuit court on which a decision was pending, but Moran said that request would probably be withdrawn.

Miss Columbo has been ordered to undergo psychiatric tests to determine if she is fit to stand trial and will appear June 4 in the Niles court branch.

Fire-plug painting contest to highlight patriotic theme

Five-color paint kits are available at the city fire department, 31111 Meadow Dr.

Residents who are interested in participating in the hydrant-painting contest must obtain a permit from the department. Only paint obtained at the department may be used to decorate the hydrants.

There is a $1 fee for the kit. The fire department will assign a hydrant or residents may select their own location and submit the location request for the department's approval.

Residents who wish to participate in the contest are asked to submit a sketch that shows what the hydrant will look like after painting. Designs must be approved by the fire department.

A patriotic theme is suggested, and hydrants may be painted as characters, or with designs and patterns. Colors in the kit are red, white, blue, green and tan.

Judging will be done by a panel of firefighters shortly before July 4th.

High School Dist. 211

The bands at Fremd High School, 1000 S. Quentin Rd., Palatine, will present their last concert of the year at 8 p.m. today in the school cafeteria.

The jazz and concert bands, directed by Robert Klassy and the symphonic band, directed by Rick Peterson, will perform. Tickets are $1 for adults and 50 cents for children. Refreshments will be available.

The choir and madrigals of Fremd High School will present a concert at 8 p.m. Thursday in the cafeteria at the school, 1000 S. Quentin Rd., Palatine.

The concert is directed by Carlisle Chidester. Tickets are $1 for adults and 50 cents for children.

The junior class of Hoffman Estates High School, 1000 W. Higgins Rd., Hoffman Estates, will sponsor a bottle drive Saturday to pay off a debt resulting from the recent prom.

Policy forbids the students to collect bottles door to door, so they are asking residents who have any returnable bottles at all to call the school Friday from 7:30 a.m. to 3 p.m., 882-8000, and leave their address so the bottles can be picked up Saturday. The students will begin to pick up the bottles at 10 a.m. Saturday.

Township wrapup

Auditors to oppose rezoning request

Palatine Township Clerk Ruth Ellen Blowney Friday will read at a zoning hearing a letter written by Township Supervisor Howard Olsen outlining the board's objection to a proposed rezoning of 103 acres on the east side of I-90 south of Lake-Cook Road.

The Cook County Zoning Board of Appeals will hold the hearing at 3 p.m. at the Palatine Public Library, 500 N. Benton St. The proposed zoning changes would rezone the now single-family area to higher density and special use.

Funding request delayed

A request for $15,000 from Alcoholism and Drug Dependence for fiscal 1976-77 will be decided at the auditors' meeting June 28. A $21,000 request from Clearbrook Center also was delayed.

The board maintains a policy of not granting any funding requests at the first appearance of an organization's representative.

Congratulatory letter OK'd

A congratulatory letter from the auditors will be sent to Kathy Lundgren, a member of the township youth committee, who recently was made a life member of the Jaycee Women's Auxiliary.

Wheeling ends pay talks with village employees

by LINDA PUNCH

The Wheeling Village board has ended salary negotiations with village employees, saying there is no money available to grant pay raises in 1976-77.

In making the announcement Monday board members reaffirmed an earlier decision not to recognize the Combined Counties Police Assn. or the Assn. of Independent Municipal Employees as bargaining agents for the employees.

Acting Village Mgr. Thomas Markus said Tuesday negotiations are still open for "discussing employee work conditions, excluding increases in pay and fringe benefits and union recognition."

VILLAGE PRES. Ted C. Scanlon Tuesday said the board decided against pay increases "because of economy. You can't squeeze blood from a turnip."

He said the board agreed unanimously not to recognize the unions as bargaining agents for employees because "we felt the employees have been getting along very well without a union."

"We'll talk to the employees anytime," he said.

TAD LEACH, chairman of the employes' wage and salary committee, Tuesday said the board's action is "continuing indication they have no intention of negotiating in good faith."

"They're telling us to form a committee of employees and then when we say something they don't like, they ignore us," he said.

Leach also denied an earlier statement by Scanlon that the employees broke off negotiations.

"The village said they would only deal with the wage and salary committee, and we went to them as a committee. How is that breaking off negotiations?" he asked.

LEACH SAID HE could not comment on further actions of the employees until the wage and salary committee meets. He said the Wheeling chapters of the CCPA and AIM will also discuss the board's action.

The Wheeling village board earlier this month refused to recognize the CCPA as the bargaining agent for police department employees. John Flood, police association president, made the request for union representation on behalf of the employees.

Representatives of the police and fire departments have said they will seek union representation in salary negotiations before discussing pay increases.

Union officials said that more than 80 per cent of the police department personnel are members of the CCPA and about 90 per cent of the firefighters are AIM members.

Town Square owners want Abe too

Owners of the Schaumburg Town Square Shopping Center, Roselle and Schaumburg roads, have endorsed a proposal to acquire a 64-foot statue of Abraham Lincoln.

Lewis Shapiro, attorney for the owners, said a further investigation must be made before commitments can be made, but added the merchants believe "it would benefit the area tremendously."

Shapiro said financing the purchase is not a problem for the owners, who met Monday to consider obtaining the monument.

Reinhardt Luebbers, Schaumburg Historical Society president, is collecting funds to buy the statue in downstate Charleston and to place it in Town Square.

Schaumburg's Assistant Village Planner Glenn Trager said that a public hearing for a special-use zoning permit will be necessary before the statue can be placed in the village.

Schaumburg Village Pres. Raymond Kessell said the statue "is entirely Mr. Luebbers' idea. He's broached it on his own initiative."

Kessell said he felt it was the merchants' right to consider acquiring the statue "as long as what they are doing is in keeping with the surrounding character of the village."

The statue is owned by a group of Charleston businessmen who no longer want it. A spokesman has said no bids have been received for the statue. He added it may be given to co-

Unit district hearings set July 8

Public hearings on petitions seeking to form an Elk Grove Township unit school district will begin July 8 at 7 p.m. at the Elk Grove High School theater, 500 Elk Grove Blvd., Elk Grove Village.

The hearing will only cover the procedural issues related to the petition process. Procedural issues include the form of the petition, boundary lines and signatures on the petitions.

All evidence for or against the petition's filing requirements must be presented to Richard Martwick, county schools superintendent, at least seven days before the hearing date.

Following the hearing on the procedural issues, Martwick will set hearing dates for discussion of substantive issues, including the financial and educational considerations in the unit district consolidation.

THE PROPOSED UNIT district will include Forest View and Elk Grove high schools in addition to Elk Grove Township Dist. 59 schools. It will place the elementary and high schools under one school board and administration.

Currently, Dist. 59 is one of seven elementary districts in the High School Dist. 214 area.

Through the hearing process, anyone affected by the unit district consolidation can present evidence for or against the issue. Martwick will make a recommendation on the petitions to the state schools superintendent who will decide whether an election will be held.

If an election is held, only residents within Dist. 59 will be able to vote on the issue.

Clavey knew about illegal wiretaps, aide tells court

Former Lake County Sheriff Orville S. (Pat) Clavey knew of illegal sheriff department wiretapping, a deputy testified Tuesday in U.S. District Court.

Clavey is on trial on four counts of perjury, three counts of income tax evasion and one count of extortion. One of the perjury charges alleges that Clavey lied when he said he didn't know of the 1971 illegal wiretapping.

Deputy Charles M. Iwan said that he and other deputies met in Clavey's office and listened to a tape recording of a wiretapped phone conversation. As a result of an informant's information and the tapped conversation, an alleged narcotics pusher was arrested in a Lake County apartment complex.

IWAN SAID CLAVEY and the other deputies listened to a tape of the wiretapped conversation in Clavey's office after the arrest. Iwan described Clavey as "emotional and excited" while listening to the recording. Iwan, who had taken part in the bugging operation with other deputies, said Clavey commended them saying, "good job."

Iwan has been granted immunity from prosecution in return for his testimony.

During much of Tuesday's trial, defense attorney George Collins attempted to discredit or downplay the testimony of prosecution witnesses.

Collins asked Iwan if he had ever heard Clavey approve the wiretaps. Iwan said he had not. Collins also asked Iwan if Clavey had told him to use the wiretapping equipment. Iwan again said no.

RELATED TESTIMONY given by Iwan and one of the prosecution's chief witnesses former Chief Deputy Jerome P. Schuetz, conflicted. Schuetz said he had observed the wiretapping device being removed from the phone circuit box in the basement of the apartment complex.

Iwan, who said he accompanied another deputy to the basement, testified that Schuetz was not present at that time.

Collins cited examples of conflicting testimony Schuetz had given Monday to the district court and to the grand jury in 1974. Schuetz described the conflicting testimony as errors on his part.

The trial continues today in Chicago.

25 horses feared dead in stable fire near Elgin

by DAVE IBATA

A flash fire at the Maywood Park training stables east of Elgin killed as many as 25 race horses Tuesday night.

A blaze fueled by hay, straw and feed destroyed the 20-year-old, 200-stall stable on U.S. Rte. 20 two miles east of Elgin. One of the trotters feared killed was Rock Raider, a 1975 champion valued at $75,000.

Smoke from the blaze, which broke out at 7:30 p.m. was visible from the Northwest suburbs of Rolling Meadows, Hoffman Estates, Schaumburg, Palatine and Arlington Heights.

Firemen from Elgin and five suburban and rural departments brought the fire under control within an hour after it started.

A FIREMAN suffered a cut wrist while fighting the blaze. No other injuries were reported.

Even before firemen arrived, about 100 grooms, trainers, owners and passersby rescued most of the 142 standard-bred horses stabled in the building, which one fire official described as "extremely flammable."

About a dozen persons housed in the building lost most of their personal belongings.

The building had no sprinkler system, and firemen were forced to bring in water from Elgin hydrants a half-mile west of the stable.

Fire reportedly broke out in an empty stall on the south side of the building. Investigators today will seek to determine the cause of the blaze.

One owner said he first noticed smoke pouring out of the stall. "And before you could get a hose down, the whole stall was in flames," he said.

ANOTHER OWNER said that within three minutes, "smoke was so thick in the barn you couldn't see a horse in its stall." After seven minutes, flames broke through the roof, he said.

"It just seemed to practically explode," he said. "With all that hay and straw in there, it was just like an inferno."

A wind out of the north initially confined fire and smoke to the southern end of the stable, and trotters were led out to three paddocks surrounding the barn. The horses today will be moved to other stables.

An estimated $100,000 in equipment also was lost in the fire.

Chamber schedules dinner-dance June 19

The Rolling Meadows Chamber of Commerce is planning a June 19 dinner dance at the new Chez Paul Restaurant, 111 Rte. 53 and Euclid Avenue, Rolling Meadows.

Reservations are being accepted by Harry O'Brien, executive director of the chamber, 398-3730. Tickets are $15 per person.

The dinner price includes a cocktail hour with complimentary appetizers.

Musical May 30 at Baptist Church

A musical will be presented at 6:30 p.m. May 30 at Meadows Baptist Church, 2401 Kirchoff Rd., Rolling Meadows.

In addition to the program entitled "Western Dead Experience," Sandy Schellenberg, a Slavic Gospel Assn. college student, will talk about her experiences in Europe.

The evening service and program are free and open to the public.

Walker for Carter announcement today

by STEVE BROWN

Gov. Daniel Walker will end his neutral role in the Democratic Presidential nomination race today by endorsing ex-Georgia Gov. Jimmy Carter at a pair of California press conferences.

Walker's endorsement plans were closely guarded by Walker aides in Illinois and Carter campaign officials on the West Coast.

In addition to the California appearances, Walker is expected to campaign for Carter in other states holding primary elections next week, including Ohio.

Walker was reared in San Diego. A number of California observers said the governor is highly respected in the state primarily for his maverick political style and his fights with Mayor Richard J. Daley's political organization.

JOHN ROBERTS, Carter's Northern California coordinator, said Walker will hold press conferences in Los Angeles and San Francisco to announce his support for Carter who is facing a tough fight in the June 8 primary there.

The Herald reported Tuesday Walker and several key aides were in California for a number of speaking engagements and newspaper interviews.

Walker aides in Illinois were evasive when questioned about the governor's unannounced trip. Mark Clark, a Walker press aide, said the governor had a speaking engagement and a reunion with old friends.

"We asked them to be vague because we wanted to make the announcement a surprise," Roberts said. He was unsure how much campaigning Walker will do for Carter before the primary there or in other states.

Walker offered no hint of his Carter announcement during several

by United Press International

President Ford scored an upset in Kentucky, won in Oregon, and neared victory in Tennessee Tuesday in his drive for the GOP nomination. But Ronald Reagan kept pace by sweeping Arkansas, Nevada and Idaho in a record-setting six primaries.

Jimmy Carter's campaign for the Democratic nomination suffered a jolt when he was shut out in Nevada, Oregon and Idaho. He won in Arkansas, Tennessee and Kentucky but faced no serious opposition in those three states.

Frank Church, who added home-state Idaho and Oregon to an earlier win in Nebraska, kept alive the unblemished record of his late-starting campaign. Gov. Edmund G. Brown of California trounced Carter in Nevada for his second primary win.

Carter also won more than half the 54 delegates selected in Missouri Tuesday.

At the Herald press time here's how it shaped up:

- Oregon — with 33 per cent counted, Ford won, and had 54 per cent. Reagan 46. Church was in the lead with 41 to Carter's 30, while Brown was running third with 13.

- Nevada — Reagan beat Ford, and was polling 67 to 28 per cent with 44 per cent of the precincts reporting. Brown won the Democratic primary, and was polling 52, Carter 24 and Church 10.

- Idaho — with 59 of the precincts counted, Reagan had beaten Ford and was running ahead 73 to 26 per cent. Church had a 81-12 per cent lead over Carter.

- Tennessee — Ford was leading Reagan 59-49 per cent with 93 per cent of the precincts voting. Carter polled 77 per cent of the vote.

- Arkansas — With 71 per cent of the precincts in, Reagan had won the election, holding a 64-35 per cent lead over Ford. Carter swept the field with 62 per cent.

- Kentucky — Ford and Carter won. With 99 per cent of the precincts counted, Ford led Reagan 51 to 47 per cent. Carter won in

Elizabeth Ray was my mistress: Hays

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. Wayne Hays confessed to a hushed House of Representatives Tuesday that he did have a mistress on the Congressional payroll and tried to cover up the affair to protect "the woman I love" — his bride of a few weeks.

"I have committed the grievous error of not telling all the facts," the 65-year-old Ohio Democrat, his voice catching with emotion, told some 300 stunned and silent colleagues only hours after he had branded his accuser — Elizabeth Ray — a liar.

Hays admitted he had an affair with Miss Ray, but he also said: "I stand by my previous denial of Miss Ray's allegation she was hired to be my mistress."

Before his speech, 28 House members asked the House Ethics Committee to investigate Miss Ray's claims that Hays got her a $14,000 a year Congressional staff job last year where, until April, her only duties were to have dinner and sex with him about once a week.

At the start of the day, Hays also demanded the Ethics panel "clear my name" and said, "her lies must be laid bare." Hours later, Wayne Hays — one of the toughest and most powerful men in Congress — went before the House to explain and apologize.

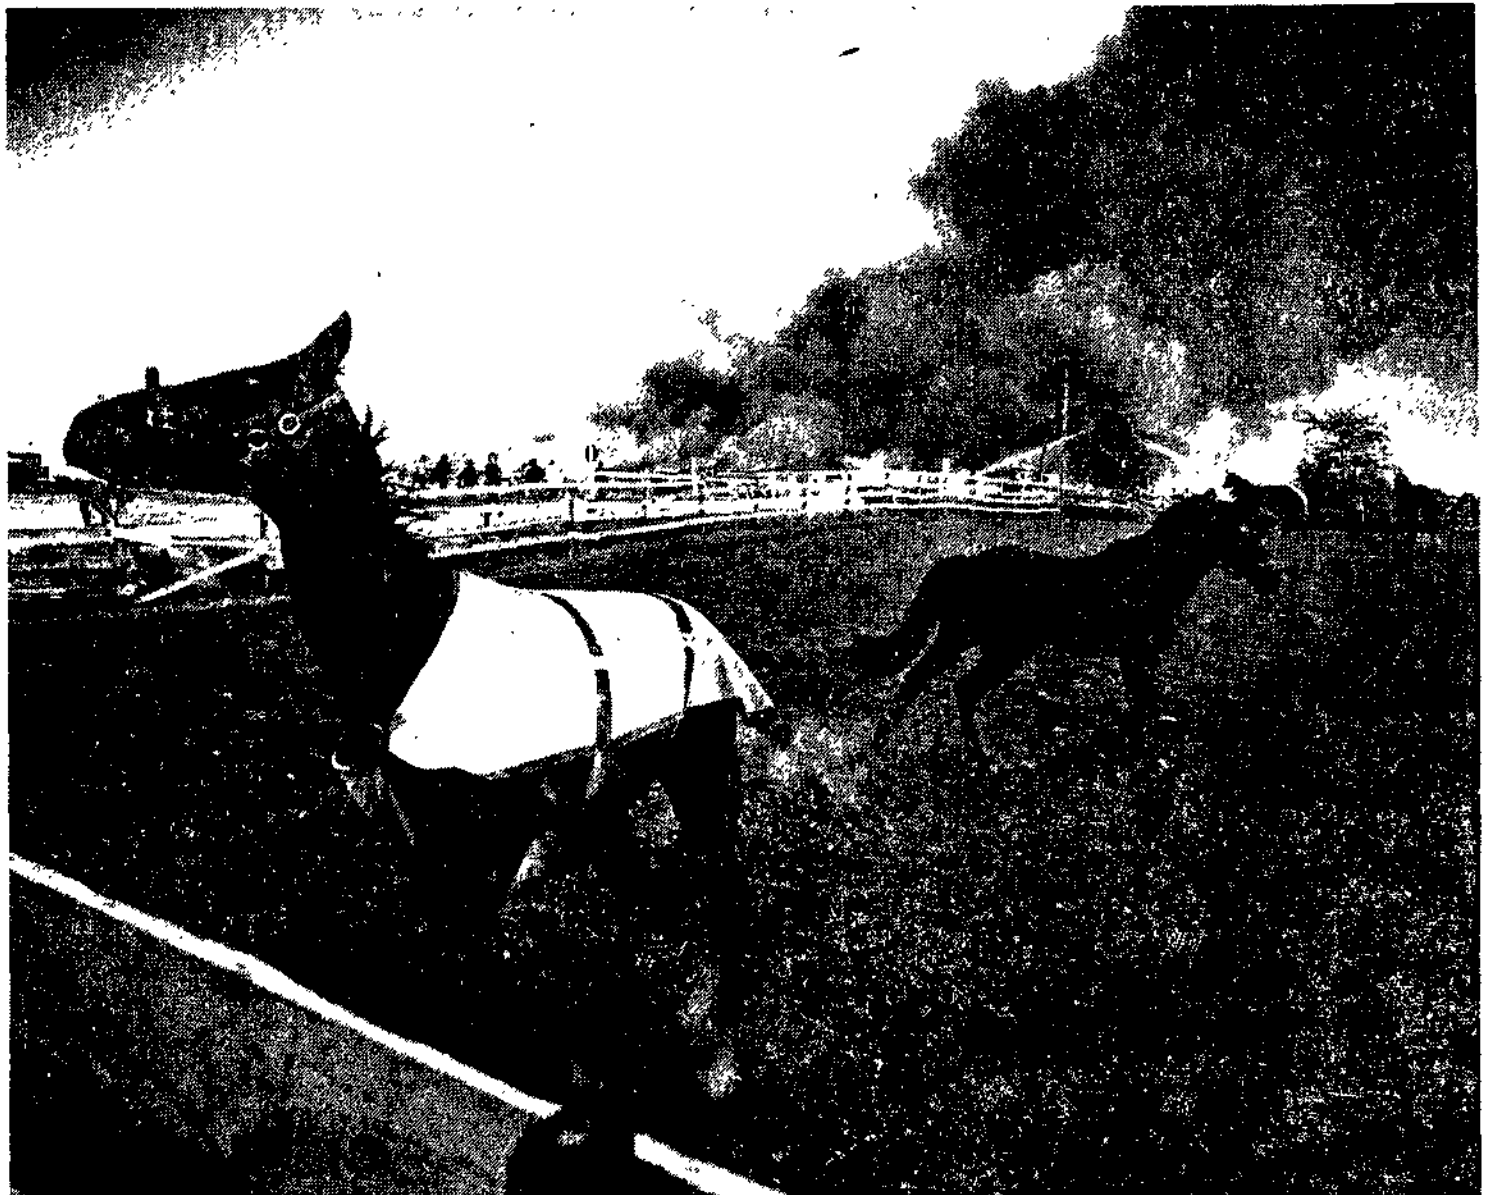

He said he was human. He said, "I have erred."

"Six weeks ago I married the woman I love more than anyone else," he said. "Prior to that time I had a relationship with Elizabeth Ray."

"I was then legally separated and single and it was voluntary on her part and on mine."

But Hays maintained he recommended Miss Ray for the Congressional job in 1975 — after their affair had begun — on the understanding she would perform useful secretarial duties. He said he broke off the affair before his mid-April marriage to Patricia Peak,

Despite construction delay

Eagle Park to open June 12

The outdoor swimming pool at Eagle Park, Home Avenue and Oak Street, will be ready for the scheduled June 12 opening despite delays which have set back the completion date.

William Blake, an official with Bergen Construction Co., Palatine, general contractor for Eagle Park, told the Palatine Park District Board Tuesday night the pool can be ready for use June 12 even though it will not be finished by May 28 as originally planned.

Blake cited a labor dispute which delayed installation of aluminum piping as the reason for the setback. He said the dispute delayed the project two months.

FRED HALL, park district director, expressed irritation with the contractor that the park district was not notified about the delay. Park officials were continually told the project was on schedule and as late as last week were still under the impression the pool would be done by Friday.

"I'm upset and concerned as to why I and the park board were not notified that you would not be done," Hall said.

Blake said he was aware the completion date would be affected until last Wednesday.

The contractor at first was reluctant to commit himself to a completion date but when Hall pointed out that park district summer program brochures have announced a June 12 opening, Blake said he "cannot foresee any strong reason why it can't be opened."

Blake said a total of 10 days will be needed to paint and fill the pool after concrete work is done this week. The pool could thus be ready at the earliest on June 10, he said.

THE BOARD also voted to proceed with the installation this year of four lighted tennis courts at the park, a project which last November was deleted from this year's work schedule at the park because of financial problems caused by construction delays.

Blake presented the board with a proposal to construct the tennis courts for $39,316, including adjustments based on cost increases from the original $25,000 estimate of last year.

The board, however, determined after analysis of the figures that Bergen Co.'s offer should be $30,600. Blake agreed to lower several cost items to bring the price down.

The board voted to ask Bergen to do the work for $23,824, minus an estimated $7,500 for color coating the courts, which the board said it would contract for separately. Hall said the color coating could be done for less by other contractors.

Village officials OK 15 appointments to panels

The appointment of 15 persons to several Palatine boards and commissions has been approved by the village board.

The boards and their respective appointments are:

- Police pension board: Fred Bickel, 1053 E. Paddock Dr., reappointed for a one-year term which expires May 1, 1977.

- Zoning board of appeals: Louis Richter, 357 N. MacArthur Dr., reappointed to a six-year term which expires May 1, 1982; Alan Stefaniak, 222 Russet Way, an attorney, appointed to a six-year term ending May 1, 1982.

- Plan commission: Conrad Hanson, 105 W. Palatine Rd., reappointed to a three-year term ending May 1, 1979; Jeannine Liataud, 446 Balsam Ln., appointed to fill an unexpired vacancy which runs through May 1, 1977; Terry Lynch, 1454 Lake Louise Dr., a planner, appointed to a three-year term ending May 1, 1979.

- Environmental control board: all four members reappointed to two-year terms ending May 1, 1978. The members are Bruce Black, 1417 Anderson Dr.; Robert Kingsley, 1125 Ty-more Ct.; William Reitz, 706 E. Baldwin Rd.; Chris Payton, 235 N. Bothwell St.

- Electrical commission: all five members reappointed to one-year terms ending May 1, 1977. The members are Jerry C. Chang, 2615 Salceda Dr.; Fire Marshal Orville Helms, 103 N. Benton St.; James Medok, 117 Imperial Ct.; Jerry Salemi, 453 S. Vermont Ave.; Building Director Henry Apida, 105 E. Daniels St.

Several other vacancies remain to be filled and Village Pres. Wendell E. Jones said he will present more names for board confirmation June 14.

Persons interested in serving on village boards and commissions should contact the village hall, 358-7500, for more information. Village Mgr. Anton H. Harwig said the village is always looking for interested persons who wish to serve on boards and commissions.

The boards include the plan commission, zoning board, board of health, environmental control board, police pension board, police and fire commission and D.A.M.P., a regional water study group which includes the municipalities of Arlington Heights, Mount Prospect and Palatine.

You now have legal way to get those street signs

Do you have a favorite street intersection in Palatine, maybe a street corner where you used to catch a school bus for many years, or an intersection in the neighborhood where you grew up?

Well, if you act fast, you just might be able to get the old black and white intersection sign which marked that favorite corner — and get it with the village's blessings.

The old intersection signs are being taken down and replaced with new green and white reflector signs in accordance with new state laws.

AND AS THE NEW signs go up, the old ones are being taken down and stored in the village public works garage, 435 W. Illinois Ave., and are being made available to residents.

Signs in the area bounded by Quentin Road on the west, Hicks Road on the east, Illinois Avenue on the south and the Chicago and North Western Ry. tracks on the north have already been replaced and many already have been taken by residents.

The village will be replacing street signs in the rest of the village in about a month. Robert Miller, public works director, said intersection signs which have not been taken yet may be reserved by calling the village garage, 358-7500, ext. 270.

Miller warns against vandals taking down old signs which are still up because this is illegal and violators will be prosecuted.

New parking signs for the village commuter lots also will be installed in the next few weeks, Miller said. Money for the sign replacements was budgeted this year to bring the village in accordance with the new state code.

Village board wrapup

Palatine Park annexation OKd

The unincorporated Palatine Park subdivision, east of Quentin Road and south of Northwest Highway, was annexed to Palatine this week by the village board.

Residents in the subdivision sought annexation to take advantage of lower sewer and water rates. The area is served by L and K Utilities, purchased last year by the village. Residents in the subdivision will now pay 17 times the village water rate to help offset the purchase costs. Before the annexation, water rates were up to five times the village rate.

The board also authorized the administration to prepare an ordinance to involuntarily annex three small parcels along Northwest Highway. The parcels each are less than 60 acres and are surrounded by the village, thus meeting the legal requirements for involuntary annexation.

7.5 acres annexed

The board approved the annexation of 7.5 acres south of Dorset Avenue between Elm Street and Quentin Road. The area will be developed by Meister-Neiberg Co. with 29 single-family homes.

Rezoning for 74 acres at the southeast corner of Illinois Avenue and Quentin Road from manufacturing use to residential use also was approved. The land will be developed for single-family homes by Lew Draper of LaSalle Development Corp.

Draper presented the plans after abandoning a larger project to build the commercial-residential Plum Grove Hills development on 365 acres at the site.

Restaurant request denied

James Hauser was denied permission for a special-use permit to open a restaurant in the Oasis Shopping Center, 323 W. Northwest Hwy.

Hauser needed board approval for a variance from the parking requirements in order to come up with the 30 spaces needed to meet the parking rules. He has 21 spaces at the shopping center parking lot and needed approval for joint-use of nine other spaces.

The board said if the joint-use parking were allowed, there would not be enough parking spaces in the lot.

Trustee Bryan P. Coughlin said he also was opposed to increasing the number of liquor licenses in the village, which would have been needed if Hauser's special-use request had been approved.

Landscaping plan approved

The board approved a revised plan from Seilergren Inc. for landscape planting along a buffer zone at the Seilergren development, Northwest Highway and Hicks Road.

The plan calls for a different type of vine planting on the western buffer slope because the original plant proposed is unavailable.

The work will begin June 1 and is scheduled to be completed Aug. 1. The board requested progress reports on the work every two weeks. The progress reports were required at the suggestion of Trustee Robert Guss.

"We have gone through almost two years of this and we are into our third year of planting," Guss said.

The buffer will be on the western end of the development between the project and the North View subdivision.

Singing group honored

The board passed a resolution honoring the "Sing Out Palatine" group. The singing group is composed of young people in the village who perform for various local and regional events. The group is sponsored by the Boy Scouts of America and is part of Explorer Post 422.

Parks granted liquor license

The Palatine Park District was granted a Class F liquor license providing for the sale of beer at the Palatine Hills Golf Course. The $200 fee for the license was waived.

Gas pump price plea studied

The board referred to the administration, finance and legislation committee a proposal from Rolling Meadows that Palatine adopt an ordinance requiring gas stations to post pump prices.

Rolling Meadows recently approved such an ordinance and agreed to request surrounding communities to consider the issue at the request of local gas station owners.

Township wrapup

Auditors to oppose rezoning request

Palatine Township Clerk Ruth Ellen Blowney Friday will read at a zoning hearing a letter written by Township Supervisor Howard Olsen outlining the board's objection to a proposed rezoning of 103 acres on the east side of I-90 south of Lake-Cook Road.

The Cook County Zoning Board of Appeals will hold the hearing at 3 p.m. at the Palatine Public Library, 500 N. Benton St. The proposed zoning changes would rezone the now single-family area to higher density and special use.

The auditors voted unanimously to oppose the rezoning.

Funding request delayed

A request for $15,000 from Alcoholism and Drug Dependence for fiscal 1976-77 will be decided at the auditors' meeting June 28. A $21,000 request from Clearbrook Center also was delayed.

The board maintains a policy of not granting any funding requests at the first appearance of an organization's representative.

Congratulatory letter OKd

A congratulatory letter from the auditors will be sent to Kathy Lundgren, a member of the township youth committee, who recently was made a life member of the Jaycee Women's Auxiliary.

Clavey knew of illegal wiretaps, aide tells court

Former Lake County Sheriff Orville S. (Pat) Clavey knew of illegal sheriff department wiretapping, a deputy testified Tuesday in U. S. District Court.

Clavey is on trial on four counts of perjury, three counts of income tax evasion and one count of extortion. One of the perjury charges alleges that Clavey lied when he said he didn't know of the 1971 illegal wiretapping.

Deputy Charles M. Iwan said that he and other deputies met in Clavey's office and listened to a tape recording of a wiretapped phone conversation. As a result of an informant's information and the tapped conversation, an alleged narcotics pusher was arrested in a Lake County apartment complex.

IWAN SAID CLAVEY and the other deputies listened to a tape of the wiretapped conversation in Clavey's office after the arrest. Iwan described Clavey as "emotional and excited" while listening to the recording. Iwan, who had taken part in the bugging operation with other deputies, said Clavey commended them saying, "good job."

Iwan has been granted immunity from prosecution in return for his testimony.

During much of Tuesday's trial, defense attorney George Collins attempted to discredit or downplay the testimony of prosecution witnesses.

Collins asked Iwan if he had ever heard Clavey approve the wiretaps. Iwan said he had not. Collins also asked Iwan if Clavey had told him to use the wiretapping equipment. Iwan again said no.

RELATED TESTIMONY given by Iwan and one of the prosecution's chief witnesses former Chief Deputy Jerome P. Schuetz, conflicted. Schuetz said he had observed the wiretapping device being removed from the phone circuit box in the basement of the apartment complex.

Iwan, who said he accompanied another deputy to the basement, testified that Schuetz was not present at that time.

Collins cited examples of conflicting testimony Schuetz had given Monday to the district court and to the grand jury in 1974. Schuetz described the conflicting testimony as errors on his part.

The trial continues today in Chicago.

Town Square owners want Abe too

Owners of the Schaumburg Town Square Shopping Center, Roselle and Schaumburg roads, have endorsed a proposal to acquire a 64-foot statue of Abraham Lincoln.

Lewis Shapiro, attorney for the owners, said a further investigation must be made before commitments can be made, but added the merchants believe "it would benefit the area tremendously."

Shapiro said financing the purchase is not a problem for the owners, who met Monday to consider obtaining the monument.

Reinhardt Luebbers, Schaumburg Historical Society president, is collecting funds to buy the statue in downstate Charleston and to place it in Town Square.

Schaumburg's Assistant Village Planner Glenn Trager said that a public hearing for a special-use zoning permit will be necessary before the statue can be placed in the village.

Schaumburg Village Pres. Raymond Kessell said the statue "is entirely Mr. Luebbers' idea. He's broached it on his own initiative."

Kessell said he felt it was the merchants' right to consider acquiring the statue "as long as what they are doing is in keeping with the surrounding character of the village."

The statue is owned by a group of Charleston businessmen who no longer want it. A spokesman has said no bids have been received for the statue. He added it may be given to comedian Pat Paulsen, who has asked to use it on a Bicentennial "Lincoln Goes West" tour.

25 horses feared dead in stable fire near Elgin

by DAVE IBATA

A flash fire at the Maywood Park training stables east of Elgin killed as many as 25 race horses Tuesday night.

A blaze fueled by hay, straw and feed destroyed the 20-year-old, 200-stall stable on U.S. Rte. 20 two miles east of Elgin. One of the trotters feared killed was Rock Raider, a 1975 champion valued at $75,000.

Smoke from the blaze, which broke out at 7:30 p.m. was visible from the Northwest suburbs of Rolling Meadows, Hoffman Estates, Schaumburg, Palatine and Arlington Heights.

Firemen from Elgin and five suburban and rural departments brought the fire under control within an hour after it started.

A FIREMAN suffered a cut wrist while fighting the blaze. No other injuries were reported.

Even before firemen arrived, about 100 groomers, trainers, owners and passersby rescued most of the 142 standard-breed horses stabled in the building, which one fire official described as "extremely flammable."

About a dozen persons housed in the building lost most of their personal belongings.

The building had no sprinkler system, and firemen were forced to bring in water from Elgin hydrants a half-mile west of the stable.

Fire reportedly broke out in an empty stall on the south side of the building. Investigators today will seek to determine the cause of the blaze.

Thieves drain tanks of 500 gallons of oil

Even thieves know you have to go underground to find oil, as employees at Tom's Union '76 station, Palatine, learned Tuesday.

Thieves sometime last week drained underground tanks of 500 gallons of motor oil at the service station, 315 W. Northwest Hwy., police reported. An employee discovered the theft shortly before 9 a.m. Tuesday, police said.

Officials to tour sewer repairs

Representatives from the Lake Park Estates Homeowners Board, Palatine Township and Ariola Construction Co. will conduct a walking tour of the subdivision to agree on repairs prompted by the recent sewer installation.

The repairs will be made before Ariola, of Melrose Park, receives the final $7,000 payment for the more than $140,000 project from the township.

Homeowners can file their repair requests with the board until June 1. The tour will be held June 5.

Township Auditor Don Bellm, who lives in the subdivision, and Township Highway Comr. Robert Bergman will represent the township board.

A list of eight repair requests has already been compiled by the homeowners' board. Requests include grading large amounts of dirt piled on vacant lots, seeding portions of the subdivision park, resurfacing two driveway entrances and repairing two damaged mail boxes.

The sewers are now operating for those homes hooked up to the main line.

The bands at Fremd High School, 1000 S. Quentin Rd., Palatine, will present their last concert of the year at 8 p.m. today in the school cafeteria.

The jazz and concert bands, directed by Robert Klassy and the symphonic band, directed by Rick Peterson, will perform. Tickets are $1 for adults and 50 cents for children. Refreshments will be available.

The choirs and madrigals of Fremd High School will present a concert at 8 p.m. Thursday in the cafeteria at the school, 1000 S. Quentin Rd., Palatine.

The concert is directed by Carlisle Chiddester. Tickets are $1 for adults and 50 cents for children.

The junior class of Hoffman Estates High School, 1000 W. Higgins Rd., Hoffman Estates, will sponsor a bottle drive Saturday to pay off a debt resulting from the recent prom.

Policy forbids the students to collect bottles door to door, so they are asking residents who have any returnable bottles at all to call the school Friday from 7:30 a.m. to 3 p.m., 882-8000, and leave their address so the bottles can be picked up Saturday. The students will begin to pick up the bottles at 10 a.m. Saturday.

Elizabeth Ray was my mistress: Hays

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. Wayne Hays confessed to a hushed House of Representatives Tuesday that he did have a mistress on the Congressional payroll and tried to cover up the affair to protect "the woman I love" — his bride of a few weeks.

"I have committed the grievous error of not telling all the facts," the 63-year-old Ohio Democrat, his voice catching with emotion, told some 300 stunned and silent colleagues only hours after he had branded his accuser — Elizabeth Ray — a liar.

Hays admitted he had an affair with Miss Ray, but he also said: "I stand by my previous denial of Miss Ray's allegation she was hired to be my mistress."

Before his speech, 28 House members asked the House Ethics Committee to investigate Miss Ray's claims that Hays got her a $14,000 a year Congressional staff job last year where, until April, her only duties were to have dinner and sex with him about once a week.

At the start of the day, Hays also demanded the Ethics panel "clear my name" and said, "her lies must be laid bare." Hours later, Wayne Hays — one of the toughest and most powerful men in Congress — went before the House to explain and apologize.

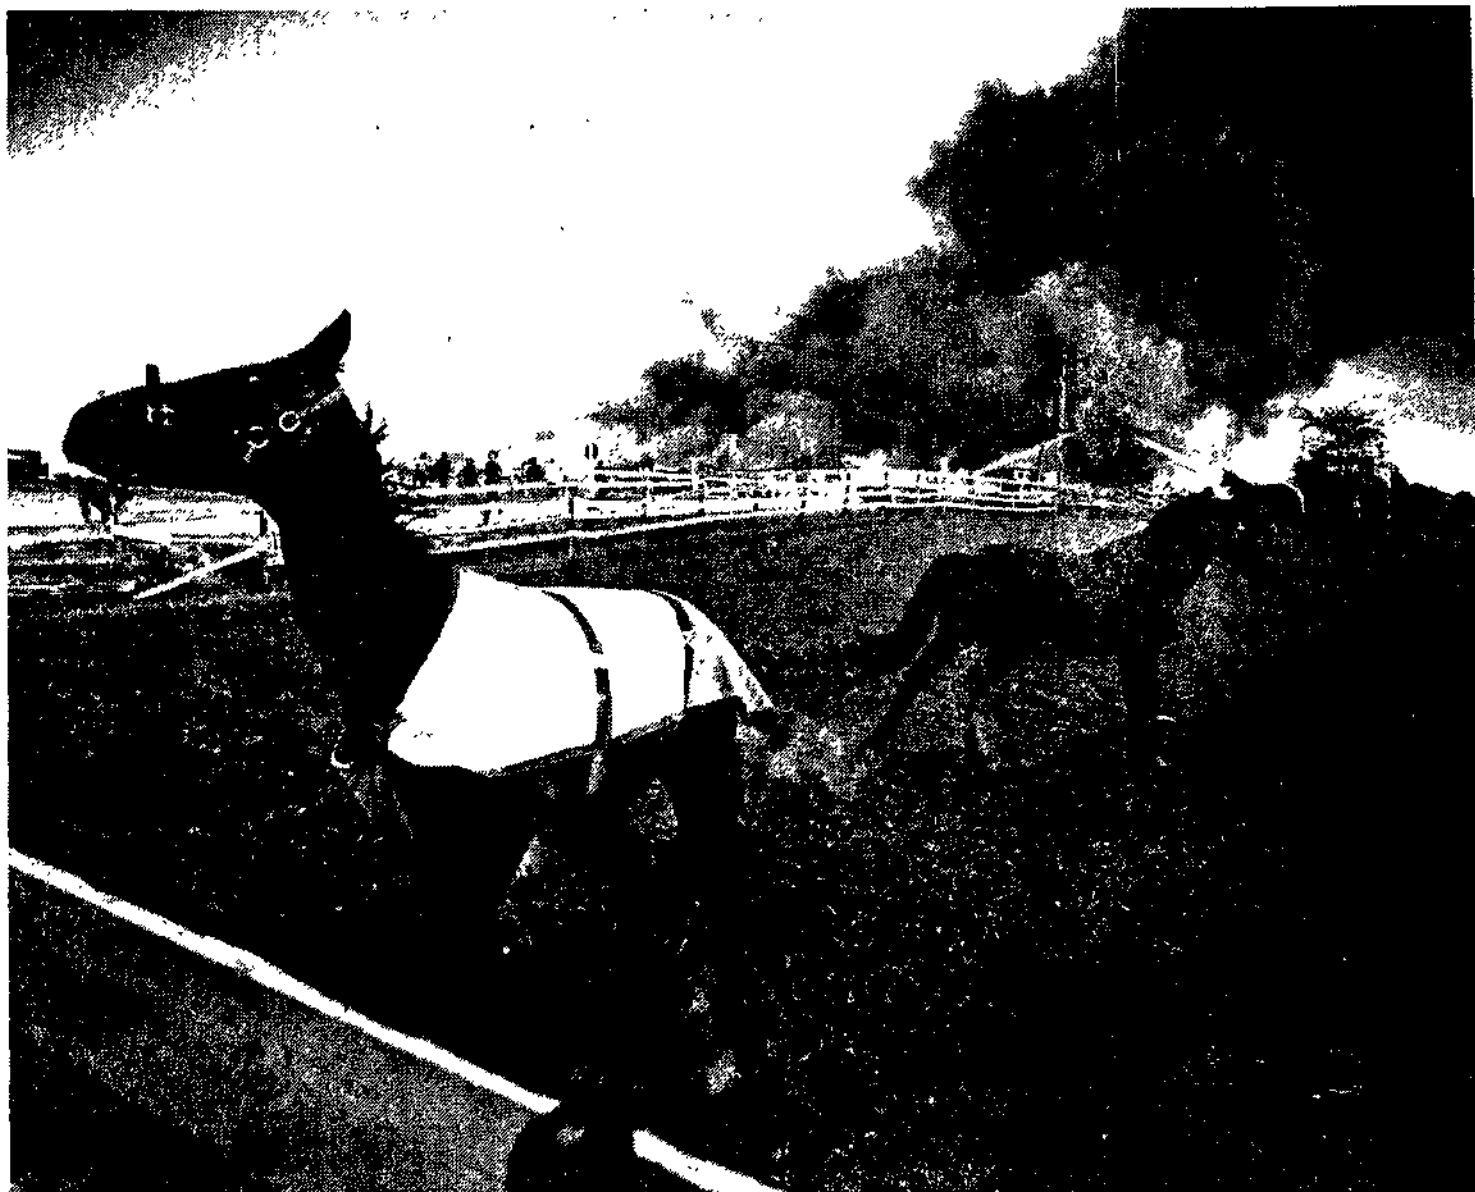

He said he was human. He said, "I have erred."

"Six weeks ago I married the woman I love more than anyone else," he said. "Prior to that time I had a relationship with Elizabeth Ray."

"I was then legally separated and single and it was voluntary on her part and on mine."

But Hays maintained he recommended Miss Ray for the Congressional job in 1975 — after their affair had begun — on the understanding she would perform useful secretarial duties. He said he broke off the affair before his mid-April marriage to Patricia Peak,

Direct trash charge postponed

by MARSHA S. BOSLEY

A direct charge for residential garbage collection has been abandoned by Mount Prospect officials — at least until tax levy time in September.

The village board Tuesday night agreed the village will continue to pay Browning-Ferris Industries of Barrington for scavenger service from a property tax levy of $4.30 per month per housing unit. The decision was made after Village Finance Director Richard Jesse estimated there will be sufficient tax revenues from last year to pay the garbage bill, still leaving the village with an anticipated $38,000 cash balance on April 30, 1977, the end of the 1976-77 fiscal year.

Based on the apparent availability of funds to compensate for garbage collection, Trustee Theodore J. Wattenberg said, "Let's go on as we are and see what happens in September come levy time."

MEANWHILE, the public health and safety committee will be responsible for renegotiating the current five-year scavenger contract with Browning-Ferris. The village is in the third year of a contract with the firm.

The question of reviewing the contract recently arose after Browning-Ferris encountered problems in billing apartment and condominium dwellers for scavenger service. As a result, an ordinance that imposed a direct $4 monthly garbage charge on residents was repealed last week by the board. The direct charge was intended to raise immediate revenue without increasing taxes.

Citing the availability of adequate funds for garbage collection, Mayor Robert D. Teichert has called the direct garbage charge "a burden to the taxpayers of Mount Prospect" and said he will fight efforts to reinstate it. Teichert also has said he will resist all other attempts by the village board to raise revenues without cutting expenditures.

Village Mgr. Robert J. Eppley said 1963 was the last year Mount Prospect residents paid a direct garbage charge. "One good thing about it is that it would heal us financially," Eppley said. "But I strongly recommend we finish the five-year contract on a taxable basis." Eppley further suggested in the interim the village examine the alternatives for compensating for garbage collection.

CONTRACT RENEGOTIATION talks partially will be based on a village-wide survey soon scheduled to be mailed to all scavenger customers. The surveys will poll the community on what type of scavenger service it prefers — bags vs. cans, weekly collection vs. once every two weeks and a direct charge vs. a possible real estate tax levy increase.

An accurate count of scavenger customers throughout the village also will be needed to renegotiate the contract. "It is important to confirm the count (for billing purposes)," Teichert said.

Parks service center to be Prospect Hts. city hall?

Prospect Heights city officials and members of the Prospect Heights Park Board Tuesday night agreed to negotiate the use of the district's service center as a city hall.

The use of the park district facility for regular city council meetings and city hall offices was informally discussed during a park board meeting at the Gary Morava Recreation Center, 110 W. Camp McDonald Rd.

Both groups proposed setting up city hall in the service center, located behind the Prospect Heights public library, Elm Street and Camp McDonald Road.

THE PARK DISTRICT recently moved its offices from the service center into the Gary Morava Recreation Center, leaving the building vacant and "ready for immediate occupancy" once a written agreement is reached with the city, said Joseph Lesniak, acting park board president.

Park board officials said monthly rent for use of the service center could range from $300 to $350, but added they are contacting area real estate agents to determine what the proper rent should be.

Several park board and city council members will meet again within a week to negotiate a cost and lease agreement.

The park board has already agreed to let the city council use the Gary Morava Recreation Center for its weekly council and committee meetings.

THE CITY COUNCIL will set the day, time and frequency of its regular meetings during a special session at 7:30 p.m. Thursday at the recreation center.

The council also is expected to begin drafting revenue ordinances and to discuss the formation of commissions and the hiring of legal counsel.

Under state law, however, the council will be unable to take any action on these matters until its first regularly scheduled meeting.

Mock convention a practice in politics

If students at Hersey and Buffalo Grove high schools had their way, U.S. Rep. Morris Udall, D-Arizona, would be leading the Democratic ticket in Presidential elections this fall and U.S. Sen. Edmund Muskie, D-Maine, would be his running-mate.

The ticket was the result of balloting Tuesday by about 500 students from the two schools who acted as delegates in a mock Democratic convention.

Udall was chosen on the third ballot with 1,694 votes. To win the Presidential nomination, a candidate had to receive 1,509 of the 3,020 votes.

Muskie was nominated for vice president with 1,326 votes. Former Georgia Gov. Jimmy Carter, now leading the race for delegates in state primaries, was the runner-up in both categories in the mock convention.

THE CONVENTION was held to give students an understanding of how the nominating process works, said Hersey teacher Charles Birch. The students spent several days researching the primary results in the states they represented.

Students were told to vote according to the primary results on the convention's first ballot. When no candidate received the nomination, campaign strategy took over and student delegates began to change their votes.

The delegates caucused before the convention and attempted to make political deals with other state delegations. Speeches were prepared extolling the virtues of candidates.

"The kids are really into politics," said Birch, who designed the convention along with teachers Robert Hannon, Jerry Cushing, Len Bending, Walt Jasinski and Pam Hertel. "I tell them you're going to have fun and along the way you'll learn something about the democratic process."

WATCHING THE students' political maneuvers "we're seeing some things that make some political sense," Birch said. One student tried to combine a liberal candidate with a conservative for a ticket. Another, representing New York, came up with a "Save Our Cities" ticket.

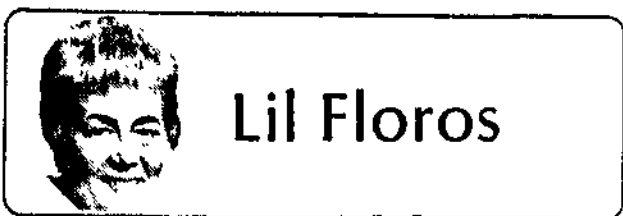

Birch said the Democratic race was chosen for the convention because the "out of office party" seems to have the most exciting race.

Four years ago, students also staged a mock Democratic convention and George McGovern won the nomination. In July, teachers and students will know if they have picked the winner again this year.

Accident paralyzes Endre

Three years ago, John Endre walked across the Prospect High School stage to receive his diploma. Today, he isn't able to take a single step. John is in Hines Veterans Hospital, paralyzed from his neck down as a result of an accident while stationed in the Army in Germany.

"John was happy about going to Germany," his mother reports, "because he had hoped to be in the ski patrol there. He was an enthusiastic skier."

However, instead of on the slopes, John was placed in the 93rd Engineers Division near Stuttgart doing automotive work.

LAST MONTH, while on detail painting a building John fell and broke his neck and severed his spinal cord.

He was taken immediately to an Army hospital in Germany, then to Walter Reed Hospital in Washington, D.C. for surgery and to Hines May 5.

John is well known in the community through active participation in many areas. He was in Mount Prospect Midget Football, Little League baseball and he was a Cub Scout. He played two years of basketball at Central Junior High School and three years of baseball and four years of football at Prospect High School.

John's parents, Ray and Tracy Endre, 414 N. Elm St., went to Washington where surgery was performed to fuse vertebrae. Then John was transferred to Hines where he is now, in a room with five other men who also have spinal cord problems. He lies in a special frame designed so that he can be turned every two hours to help circulation. He is hopeful he will be able to be placed and strapped in a wheelchair sometime in the future.

"HE WAS ALWAYS such an active person," his mother relates. "He never did anything sedentary."

"He isn't bitter," his mother continued. "Just so frustrated. He bemoans the fact that he is paralyzed for life through an asinine accident. He would have felt better if it had been through an heroic deed, but not this way."

Right now, Mrs. Endre said, John needs to be visited by some young people his own age and to be remembered with cards and letters. Visiting hours at Hines are 1 to 9 p.m. every day. The address is: S.P. 4 John Endre, Hines Hospital, Ward 2B Room 237, Hines, Ill., 60141.

Hearings on unit district slated to start July 8

Public hearings on petitions seeking to form an Elk Grove Township unit school district will begin July 8 at 7 p.m. at the Elk Grove High School theater, 500 Elk Grove Blvd., Elk Grove Village.

The hearing will only cover the procedural issues related to the petition process. Procedural issues include the form of the petition, boundary lines and signatures on the petitions.

All evidence for or against the petition's filing requirements must be presented to Richard Martwick, county schools superintendent, at least seven days before the hearing date.

Following the hearing on the procedural issues, Martwick will set hearing dates for discussion of substantive issues, including the financial and educational considerations in the unit district consolidation.

THE PROPOSED UNIT district will include Forest View and Elk Grove high schools in addition to Elk Grove Township Dist. 59 schools. It will place the elementary and high schools under one school board and administration.

Currently, Dist. 59 is one of seven elementary districts in the High School Dist. 214 area.

Through the hearing process, anyone affected by the unit district consolidation can present evidence for or against the issue. Martwick will make a recommendation on the petitions to the state schools superintendent who will decide whether an election will be held.

If an election is held, only residents within Dist. 59 will be able to vote on the issue.

PHIA officials expected to stall vote

The Prospect Heights Improvement Assn. will conduct its annual town meeting at 7:30 p.m. today at the Gary Morava Recreation Center, 110 W. Camp McDonald Rd.

However, PHIA officials are expected to approve a motion to delay the election of new officers until August. The action will allow candidates who were not elected to the city council in Saturday's election and other residents more time to consider serving on the association's board of directors.

"We feel it is too soon after the election and we want to give people enough time to think about serving on the PHIA board," said Edward Bryant, vice president of the association and newly elected alderman.

Many seats on the PHIA board will be vacated by officials who were elected to the Prospect Heights City Council, he said.

"I hope that citizens will continue to support the PHIA and keep it a viable organization, one that can serve as a watchdog over the city of Prospect Heights and act on behalf of the residents in instances when the new city council won't be able to," Bryant said.

The PHIA has been the community's representative group in the past and had been the driving force behind the city's incorporation.

$30,000 sidewalk plan urged by village panel

A $30,000 sidewalk program for northeast Mount Prospect has been recommended by the village public works committee.

If approved by the village board, 2,500 feet of sidewalks will be built along the west side of Wolf Road between Foundry Road and Euclid Avenue. Trustees have suggested the construction funds be allocated from federal revenue-sharing monies the village has received.

Joel Reznick, a member of the village board of local improvements and resident of Mount Prospect's New Town area, earlier this month asked the board to approve $261,390 for new sidewalks.

"I AND MY neighbors feel these sidewalks are really quite essential," he said the lack of sidewalks in his neighborhood is dangerous, particularly for children walking along the street.

Trustees have said funds are not available to build all of the sidewalks Reznick requested. Instead, small amounts will be budgeted each year for sidewalks in areas within the village where they are needed.

The new sidewalks will be for the safety of school children, said Natalie P. Karney, deputy village engineer.

"A good place to start would be on Wolf Road where the speed limit is 50 m.p.h.," she said. Sidewalks would be built along a stretch where 12 single-family homes, River Trails Junior High School and the Northwest Assembly of God Church are located.

Schools

In general...

The Randhurst Council of PTA's will host information workshops at 7:30 p.m., today at River Trails Junior High School, 1000 W. Wolf Rd., Mount Prospect.

The workshops are offered to incoming officers and leaders of school PTA boards in Districts 57, 59, 21, 23 and 26 and are directed by the Randhurst Council officers and leaders.

St. James School

Construction of a paper city by third and fourth graders of St. James School, 821 N. Arlington Heights Rd., Arlington Heights, starts at 8:45 a.m. Friday. This art project coordinated by Sister Beata is the second city. Last year the children built the city of St. Louis complete with Arch.

Elk Grove Township Dist. 59

Third grade classes of Rupley School, 305 E. Oakton St., Elk Grove Village, will perform "My Brother Sam is Dead" in the school library at 12:30 p.m. today.

The performance is in observance of America's 200th birthday and will be directed by the third grade teachers, Carol Schechter, Bea Nissenson and Carol Wilson.

High School Dist. 214

Gretchen Helbig has been accepted for membership in the U.S. Collegiate Wind Band, a highly selective musical organization which will make a concert tour of seven European countries in July and August.

Gretchen plays first chair clarinet in the Elk Grove High School symphonic band.

Randhurst in Bicentennial

In commemoration of the nation's Bicentennial, there will be a flag raising ceremony on the Randhurst Shopping Center June 12 at 11 a.m. The event is in conjunction with a national program entitled "A Bicentennial 21-Day Flag Salute."

Randhurst, also is sponsoring a Bicentennial scroll signing. The historical scrolls will be sent to the National Archives in Washington, D.C.
